IRATE SENATORS FIGHT BACK ON COURT PACKING

Democrats Aroused by Roosevelt.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Enraged by President Roosevelt's speech on the proposal to pack the Supreme court, which they interpreted as reading them out of their own party, senate Democrats opposed to the scheme today planned to go to the country and fight back.

While deploring the "demagogic" character of the speech, the opposition Democrats in the senate more bitterly resented the President's implication that support of his judiciary program will determine the political fortune of Democratic senators and representatives in the 1938 campaign. They denounced also the President's assertion that opposition to his program comes from the same elements who opposed him in 1936.

1936 Supporters Opposed.

"The most bitter opposition comes from people who wholeheartedly supported him in 1936," said Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.].

Senator Burke was asked whether he still belonged to the Democratic party and he replied:

"I do not belong to that wing of the party—if there is such a wing—which supports the President's proposal to pack the Supreme court. We who are opposing this proposal have never looked upon it as a partisan matter and the American people will not be influenced by the propaganda that it is a partisan matter. All that is necessary is to lay the facts before the people and they will see the innate wickedness of this proposal."

The opposition Democrats at first considered replying to the President "in kind," but this plan was abandoned because, as Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] said, the opposition "has sought to keep the arguments on a high plane."

Call It "Demagogy."

Privately some of the Democrats opposed to packing the court said the President's speech, blaming the Supreme court for the flood disasters on the Ohio, the depredations in "dust bowl" and the plight of blind and crippled children, was "the most astonishing exhibition of Pharisaic demagogy" ever heard in this country. They did not except such rabble-rousers as former Senator Tom Heflin of Alabama and the late Senator Huey Long of Louisiana.

There was much speculation among such opposition Democratic senators as Josiah W. Bailey of North Carolina, Walter F. George of Georgia, and Mr. Burke as to the effect of the President's stand on the future of the Democratic party.

"If the plan should succeed," said Senator Burke, "it would be followed by the introduction, passage and sustainment by the Supreme court of a legislative program that would inevitably split the Democratic party."

Predicts 1938 Split.

Another Democratic senator, speaking privately, said the Supreme court question would split the Democrats in 1938 whether the President won or lost. If the President should lose on the court issue, he would seek to unseat those who opposed him in congress, as he threatened to do last night, and if he should win, Democratic opponents of the scheme, particularly the state rights Democrats of the south, would "have to go somewhere else," this senator declared.

After informal conferences of the opposition leaders today it was agreed that Senator Wheeler should make the official opening reply to the President at Chicago next Wednesday night, when he speaks before the fourth annual Woman Congress sponsored by THE TRIBUNE. The other side of the court question will be argued by Chairman James M. Landis of the Securities and Exchange commission.

Burke Speaks Tonight.

Senator Burke will make a short radio address tomorrow night, but his speech had been planned and prepared before the President spoke last night. He said he undoubtedly would make "some additions" to his speech as a result of the President's address.

Next Friday night four Democratic senators will speak in reply to the President at a meeting in Carnegie hall in New York. This occasion will bring out for the first time Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts in opposition to the President. The other speakers will be Senators

DENOUNCES U. S. CIVILIZATION FOR 'SLUR' AT HITLER

German Press Keeps After La Guardia.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 5.—The United States temporarily has replaced soviet Russia as the target for denunciations by Der Angriff and other German newspapers. They have waxed indignant over the "spineless action of the American state department" in dealing with the "slur" cast at Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York City.

After bitterly denouncing La Guardia yesterday, the German press today began attacking Washington officials and American civilization in general.

Headlines in Nazi newspapers cite the threat of the German-American Chamber of Commerce and the German chargé d'affaires that Germany will not participate in New York City's projected 1939 world fair.

Calls Hitler "Fanatic."

Mayor La Guardia's suggestion of a "hall of horrors" for the fair, to include a figure of "that brownshirted fanatic," was the "insult" which caused the storm of protest in the German press. La Guardia made the reference to Hitler in a speech to a group of Jewish women.

Replies made by La Guardia and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York to interviewers about the German protest referring to "endangered civilization" aroused Der Angriff to white fury. "Which civilization?" it asked. "It may be the civilization adopted by a country of unlimited possibilities—America." The paper contrasts American culture to the "weltanschauung" [world view] of the German nation and the "culture of Goethe, Kant, Beethoven, Mozart, and other outstanding contributors to the philosophy and art of the nation."

Touches on U. S. Civilization.

It then proceeds to give its version of American civilization as that of "gangster kidnapers, the culture of 'Judge Lynch,' and nauseating public executions."

"Or do New Yorkers, when speaking of civilization, refer to shameless slavery of numbered taxi girls costing 50 cents?" the newspaper asks. "Or is it civilization when those boasting of mammoth fortunes drive past twelve million unemployed who are without state relief and die in the ditches along the roadside, the victims of starvation and cold?"

American governmental administration is described as a "civilization of blackmail and corruption." "Or," the newspaper asks, "does civilization mean rubber truncheons, tear gas, and heavily armed detectives in all factories of the United States, as well as the brutal exploitation on one side and limitless terror of labor unions on the other?"

Sees Attack on World Peace.

The Berliner Nachtausgabe, which usually is more conservative than Der Angriff, described the La Guardia utterances as an "attack on world peace."

Some German papers report with a slight tinge of regret that American Secretary of State Cordell Hull referred to Germany as a "country with which America entertains official relations," instead of the customary "friendly relations."

The Nachtausgabe echoes the official view of the propaganda ministry when it states that "the German people cannot accept apologies referring to alleged inner political or constitutional difficulties" as was the case when Germany demanded an apology for statements which a New York judge once made against Germany in court."

Tomorrow morning's papers will print a dispatch distributed by a national news agency. The dispatch said:

"Friday the American Foreign Minister Hull, after ascertaining the

GOES ON STRIKE DOWN IN LAKE; PAY IS UP, HE'S UP

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 5.—(AP)—The story of Tony Dino's "sitdown" strike on the bottom of icy Lake Superior was told tonight.

The intake pipe of the Port Arthur water works system, thirty feet below the surface of the lake, had not been examined for twenty-three years. Authorities hired Tony, a diver, to look it over.

He donned his diving outfit yesterday and sank down through a hole chopped in the ice. When he got down he informed those above, through his speaking tube, that he wouldn't come up until the city engineer's department agreed to his wage demands.

The department finally capitulated, and Tony ascended.

The pipe and its covering still were in good condition, he said.

Relief Official Dies at Time Set in Threat

Poplar Bluff, Mo., March 5.—(AP)—Delois F. Teed, 40 year old federal relief administrator for Butler county, died suddenly in his office here late today—the day he was marked for death in an abusive letter received a week ago.

The note warned Teed to get out of town within seven days "or it will be judgment day for you." Today was the "seventh day."

G Men Save Letter.

Department of justice agents revealed Teed had turned a copy of the letter over to them. Coroner Grover Greer, who said "it is possible that worry over the warning may have induced a sudden heart attack, stated a copy of the note was found in Teed's pocket following his death."

The letter which the coroner said Teed had copied in his own handwriting follows:

"Leave town for good in seven days or it will be judgment day for you. Police cannot help you. If you stay we will get you or the boy, if it takes a year.

"There won't be no more warning if you mix the police or other people in this, we will get you here or where you go. Leave and save your dirty hide or stay and we get you."

Leaves Boy 10 Years Old.

The boy referred to is believed to be Teed's 10 year old son, Jackie.

Employés at the relief offices here said that a few days ago Teed received a petition signed by six men who had been cut off the relief rolls. The petition, according to the employés, condemned the relief official for his method in handling affairs.

"There is a possibility," Coroner Greer added, "that a post-mortem will be ordered to clear up any doubt about the cause of his death."

Ambition Realized, He Becomes Father at 79

Tampa, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Alfred O. Knapp, retired printer who waited 79 years to become a father, realized his ambition today. A six and one-half pound daughter was born to Mrs. Knapp, "much younger," at a Tampa hospital. The parents met and were married here two years ago. Both had been married before, but there were no children.

NINE DOGS SMARTER THAN NINE HUSBANDS, A SPINSTER'S VIEW

Miss Fredericka J. Hoy, 233 South Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, who has been on relief since 1935, appeared yesterday before Justice of the Peace Martin H. McGrath for violating the village dog ordinance. Before her case was continued until next Friday to allow her to dispose of seven of her nine pet dogs, Miss Hoy, who is 70 years old, discoursed on dogs, love, wives, and husbands.

"I've had a thousand chances to marry," remarked Miss Hoy as she fondled two terriers, "but men are no good. Ninety-nine per cent of all dogs are smarter than any man. I love my dogs and I can't give them to a stranger. You wouldn't want to give your wife to a stranger. My dogs are just as dear to me if not dearer."

EMPRESS NAGAKO OF JAPAN IS 34; ARISES AT DAWN

TOKIO, March 6 [Saturday].—(AP)—Japan's modern-minded Empress Nagako arose at dawn today, her 34th birthday, for worship before the imperial sanctuaries within the palace grounds.

The empress, who enjoys little of the fictionlike leisure sometimes attributed to queens, had with her for the day 3 year old Crown Prince Akihito Tsugu. He was returned from the seaside palace at Hayama to be with the family for the occasion.

High school girls throughout the empire were granted a special holiday. Born into a branch of the imperial family and trained according to the precepts of the Meiji era in Japan, the empress has accustomed herself to an active routine since she was a child.

COUPLE IN AUTO PLUNGE IN LAKE; GO TO HOSPITAL

Wade Greeves, 34 years old, 56 East Chicago avenue, a treasury employé, and Miss Esther O'Donnell, 35, of 1015 North Clark street, received an icy bath early today when their automobile plunged into the lake at the foot of Randolph street. They were rescued by Anton Greenwood and Eric Anderson, attendants at the Chicago Yacht club.

Greeves and Miss O'Donnell were backing out of a parking space near the club. The car slipped over the pier and into the water. Both managed to open the car doors, and grab ropes hanging from the pier. Their cries for help brought Anderson and Greenwood, who used a skiff to effect the rescue. They were taken to St. Luke's hospital.

Green, Lewis Lay Plan for Finish Fight

Demand Higher Wages

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Civil war between the pacific American Federation of Labor and its arch foe, the forceful Committee of Industrial Organization, was fanned to new heights tonight as both sides prepared for a showdown fight.

Battle plans were laid by both sides in the impending titanic struggle. Genial William Green, president of the A. F. of L., and the snorting John L. Lewis, founder of the C. I. O., notified lieutenants to begin mobilizing loyal supporters that their enemies might be segregated.

Lewis called a meeting of his growing C. I. O. for next Tuesday to plan a sweeping organization drive in the huge textile industry. He indicated campaigns in other industries might be considered at the meeting.

Union Open to All.

The United Automobile Workers of America, Lewis' club in the recent automobile strikes and ever ready to take up the gage of battle, announced it would throw open its membership to employés in any craft or industry not covered by the present program of the C. I. O.

Green's preparations for war opened with a directness uncharacteristic of him. He ordered all A. F. of L. groups to purge themselves of the Lewis influence and obtained an immediate response in several important quarters.

From the shoe making industry in New England came the word of John J. Mara, president of the International Boot and Shoe Workers' union, that he would meet "fire with fire" in the battle with the C. I. O. and that his unions would take whatever steps necessary "to keep those outlaw unions from encroaching on our territory."

Declines to Aid Steel Men.

Green rejected an invitation of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation employés' representative group to advise them on strengthening the so-called "company union" in opposition to Lewis, but he suggested help probably would be forthcoming if they organized an entirely new steel union, wholly free of company influence.

The invitation was extended to Green by a four man grievance committee which had been empowered to reorganize the employé representative setup by members of the Pittsburgh district employés' council. They claimed to represent a majority of

UNIONS FORMED; STRIKERS SHAPE THEIR DEMANDS

Act After Surprise Taxi Walkout.

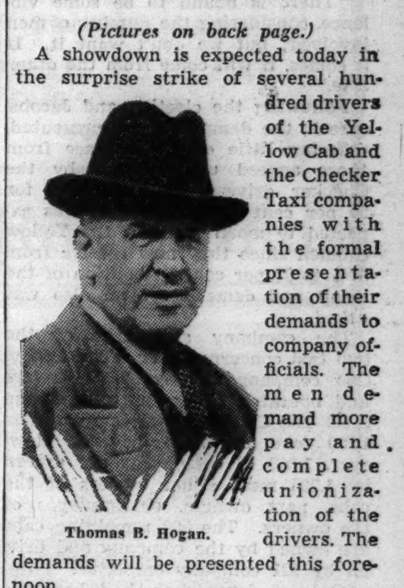
A showdown is expected today in the surprise strike of several hundred drivers of the Yellow Cab and the Checker Taxi companies with the formal presentation of their demands to company officials. The men demand more pay and complete unionization of the drivers. The demands will be presented this forenoon.



Thomas B. Hogan.

Company officials, headed by Thomas B. Hogan, president of the Yellow Cab, and Michael M. Sokoll, head of the Checker company, waited in their offices until after midnight this morning, ready to receive their employés' specific demands. Without them they could not indicate, they said, their own attitudes. Both expressed a willingness to negotiate with their men.

"Outside" Negotiators Barred.

Hogan, however, said he would not negotiate with "outsiders." In an indirect way there was an intimation that the Yellow company, at least, did not feel unfriendly toward demands for pay increases.

The strike began with an unorganized walkout yesterday morning, followed by a combined massmeeting of drivers of both companies in the afternoon. At this meeting it was voted to unionize employés of both companies at separate meetings last night. The evening meetings, attended by a total of about 1,000 drivers, resulted in the organization of a local of the new Midwest Taxicab Drivers' union for each company and the drawing up of united demands in contractual form.

CIO Advice Is Denied.

Both meetings were addressed by Joseph M. Jacobs, a Chicago labor lawyer, who has been identified with the John L. Lewis Committee for Industrial Organization but who denied he was representing the CIO in advising the cabmen. It was expected he would be the legal spokesman for both groups, although each elected temporary union officers.

So far as the average Chicagoan could see last night the strike did not appear to be very effective. Plenty of taxicabs were available downtown, although several loop spots reported fewer than usual. There was no violence of consequence.

Both Checker and Yellow drivers were cautioned at their meetings to avoid violence, but at the same time were urged to "stop any further roaming of nonstriking cabs." It was predicted that these efforts might lead to trouble.

Figures in Strike Conflict.

Just how many men were out on strike was problematical. Yellow Cab officials estimated 230 of their drivers were out and Checker officers put their number at only 75. Against this figure of 305 were last night's two meetings attended by the estimated 1,000 men.

The strike started surprisingly, even casually. Early yesterday morning a handful of Yellow Cab drivers, led by Oscar Kofkin, 3727 Pine Grove avenue, and Arthur Cole, 3500 Rokeby street, made a round of north side cab stands and passed the word along to fellow drivers. By dawn the news was general. A few hours later, groups of Checker Cab men joined the move.

At the afternoon meeting Jacobs told the men that their strike could be made just as effective as the strikes in any other industry. His listeners cried out: "We want the C. I. O."

Question Drivers' Eligibility.

Jacobs intimated there was some uncertainty at this time whether taxi unions were eligible to the C. I. O., and advised formation of the Midwest Taxicab Drivers.

The first formal meeting of this union was held by the Checker men in Walsh's hall, Noble street and Milwaukee avenue. About 300 men attended. Mr. Jacobs spoke. After electing officers—Victor Hirsch, president; Domonic Abata, board director;

Ed McDermott, secretary, and Robert Gibson, treasurer—the drivers ratified a set of demands. In the main these were identical with those drawn up later in the evening by the Yellow drivers. They were:

The men to receive the present percentage of receipts, 50 per cent, but the company to supply free all gasoline, oil, repairs, car washings, and other services. The company to pay city and state licenses.

Ask for Paid Vacations.

The men to receive one week's vacation with pay after a year's service, and two weeks' vacation after three years' service. The company to recognize the right of collective bargaining and to agree to a closed shop, with certain stipulations as to dismissals and arbitrations.

The Yellow Cab meeting, attended by an estimated 700 men, was livelier than the Checker assembly. It was held at 3205 North Clark street, where both groups had met in the afternoon. Considerable time was spent in organizing. Kofkin was elected chairman, Cole treasurer, and Joseph Thorne secretary. Attorney Jacobs spoke. Noting yesterday was pay day and some of the men appeared hilarious, he cautioned against drunkenness and violence.

"There must be no violence," he said. "This strike can be won without violence."

Keep Roaming Cabs Off.

In the next breath, however, he sounded a cue that might lead to violence, in the opinion of a number of drivers present. This was his remark to the men:

"Keep the roaming cabs off the streets tonight."

A roar of approval greeted this. "You bet we will," cried out dozens of his listeners. Treasurer Cole later said:

"There is bound to be some violence, considering the number of men involved; but we don't want it. If it comes, it will come from the other side."

Following the election and Jacobs' speech, the demands were presented, differing little on the surface from those agreed upon earlier by the Checker drivers. The demand for 50 per cent of the receipts was expected to mean more to the Yellow cabmen since they now receive from 37½ to 39 per cent. Abolition of the merit and demerit system also was asked.

The company structures of the two taxi concerns differ. The Yellow Cab company employs 2,800 drivers and operates 2,166 company owned cabs. The Checker Taxi company has 1,500 cabs and 2,686 drivers. However, 1,000 of these cabs are driven by 1,765 men, either owners of the cabs, part owners, or employés of the owners. The 500 remaining cabs are owned by the company and driven by 921 company employés.

Only a dozen men had been arrested in the strike up to 3 o'clock this morning.

"NO PARKING AT ANY TIME"

PARKING'S GOOD BY SIGNS THAT SAY YOU MUSTN'T

"No parking at any time, by council order." Thus read the yellow and black signs on both sides of Wabash avenue from the river north to Grand avenue.

At 1 p. m. yesterday a citizen walked that distance and found more than 100 automobiles parked on both sides of the thoroughfare in direct defiance of the orders. Many, in fact, had been left directly beneath the prohibitive lettering.

Most of the machines were parked end to end, the bumpers of each almost touching those of its neighbors. Rarely was there a space of more than two or three feet and there was no space large enough to accommodate another vehicle.

Trafic was not heavy on the street at that hour, save for Surface Line cars. Near the north end of the Wabash avenue bridge a mounted policeman sat his horse and waved on those motorists who slowed as they sought parking space.

The order was necessary, for there was no space. Lieut. David Flynn, chief of the trafic division, was asked why the motorists were allowed to flout the city council's order.

"There is no trafic congestion in that section," the lieutenant replied briefly. "There's plenty of room. We have no trouble there at all."

ENGINEER TELLS 5 WAYS TO CUT TRAFIC DEATHS

Better Headlights Among His Suggestions.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Urbana, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Five suggestions to automobile manufacturers for reducing the accident toll were made here today by Harry H. Harrison, trafic and safety engineer of the Illinois highway department. He spoke before a closing session of the University of Illinois' twenty-fourth annual conference on highway engineering.

Mr. Harrison's duties require him to compile and to analyze all personal injury and fatal street and highway accidents in Illinois.

List of Safety Proposals.

He made the following proposals to the motor industry:

1. Improve headlights, perhaps to the extent of polarization.
2. As standard equipment, install signal devices operated from within the car for a driver to indicate intention to turn right or left.
3. Eliminate body colors and combinations of colors that make cars less visible to other drivers under various light conditions.
4. Retail dealers in delivering a car to a customer should offer a complete course of training in safe driving.
5. More careful inspection of the vehicle after assembly.

Tells Highway Improvements.

"Tests made in inspection stations throughout Illinois," said the speaker, "disclose that many new cars are delivered with wheel balance and alignment out of adjustment and with head lamps out of focus."

H. E. Surman, design engineer of the Illinois highway department, told the conference of advancements being made in specifications for slab. Much mileage now in use, built under 1919 specifications, contemplated a maximum speed of 25 miles an hour, he said, while multiple lane pavements today are designed in anticipation of top speeds of 80 and 100 miles an hour.

WESTERN UNION GRANTS STRIKING BOYS 50 PCT. RAISE

A wage increase of about 50 per cent was won yesterday by Western Union Telegraph boys who called off their "run around" strike when J. N. Armstrong, Chicago superintendent, raised their commission rates so that the average boy will be able to earn at least 30 cents an hour.

Mr. Armstrong announced voluntarily that the 300 boys who made a holiday of their strike Thursday would lose neither their jobs nor pay for the day. Another concession was that the boys can wear their uniforms home if their last delivery is far from the office.

The Postal Telegraph messengers' strike committee will meet with Supt. John Nearing in his office at 166 West Van Buren street this morning to hear the company's decision on the boys' demand for $12.50 weekly salary. The boys threaten to renew their strike unless they get a favorable reply.

WAITRESS SEEKS VACATION IN CITY; GETS IT—IN JAIL

Girl, 22, from Indianapolis, Passes Trafic Light.

Miss Iva Mae Cornthwaite, 22 years old, a waitress from Indianapolis, who said she was spending her vacation in Chicago, was sentenced yesterday by Judge George B. Weiss in Safety court to serve five days in the county jail for reckless driving.

Drives a Wabbly Course.

The young woman was arrested early Thursday morning after she had driven past a stop light in South Michigan avenue at 39th street and continued in a wabbly course until stopped by Park Policeman Joseph Flood. She was alone in the car.

Questioned by Judge Weiss, she admitted she had taken several drinks. "You'll have to spend part of your vacation in jail," the judge said, "to learn that we don't tolerate that sort of driving in Chicago."

Others Jailed.

Other motorists jailed by Judge Weiss are:

ANTHONY KRUGAN, 46 years old, 443 West 63d street, 30 days for reckless driving after testimony was given he struck three parked cars last Tuesday before he was stopped at 37th street and Western avenue.

JOSEPH BRUZAS, 43 years old, 5525 South Halsted street, ten days for driving while intoxicated. His car and another collided Thursday at 33d street and Damen avenue.

JOSEPH LENIOR, 42 years old, of Palatine, five days for reckless driving. Evidence showed he drove through a stop light at Touhy and Western avenues on Jan. 10 and collided with another car.

In Boys' court Judge J. M. Braude sentenced James McGrawn, 20 years old, 4160 Drexel avenue, a clerk, to five days in the Bridewell for reckless driving. A motion to vacate the sentence will be heard today, pending arrangements by McGrawn to pay $118 damages to David C. Ford, 4516 Ellis avenue, as the result of an automobile collision.

BAKER'S SUICIDE LAID TO INSANITY.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane yesterday in the death of Henry Cohn, 24 years old, 4874 Winthrop avenue, a baker. He hanged himself Thursday in the washroom of a gasoline station at 4325 Broadway.

ARTILLERY DUEL SHAKES MADRID; AWAIT NEW DRIVE

Rebels Hunt Weak Spots in Capital's Defense.

MADRID, March 5.—(AP)—Government barricades were reinforced today amid the thunder of an artillery duel on the Madrid front as defense commanders braced their forces for an expected attack in force.

The government high command reported that the besieging Fascist rebel forces were preparing for another attempt to pierce the capital's defenses. They said scattered attacks against defense garrisons, particularly in the northwest, probably signalled an insurgent search for weak spots at which to aim.

Bread Rations in Embassy.

In face of possible new food restrictions, the handful of refugees in the United States embassy building were put on bread rations for the first time. Each was given half a large roll for the day.

Government forces, seeking to stem a rebel advance on Almeria, southern coastal city, were reported to have gained heights dominating Orgiva, 50 miles west of Almeria on the Motril front, and to have cut a road.

They were trying to cut the main highway between Motril, also on the coast, and Granada, an insurgent stronghold, 30 miles north of the Mediterranean.

Government militiamen, penetrating to the heart of Oviedo, have isolated rebel defenders in the provincial capital's cathedral and destroyed their barracks after desperate hand-to-hand fighting, reports from Gijon said.

France Denies War Plan.

PARIS, March 5.—(AP)—The French foreign office tonight termed "ridiculous" a charge by the Spanish rebel régime that France is fomenting trouble in Spanish Morocco as a pretext for an invasion.

The diplomatic staf of Gen. Francisco Franco, whose Fascist armies hold the territory, accused the French of secretly concentrating arms on the border.

The French foreign office said a protest note from the rebels had not been received, adding "there would be no reply to it," anyway.

"We do not recognize Franco. He has no diplomatic representative in Paris," foreign office officials said. "If we receive his note, presumably by mail, it will be considered merely as that of a private individual."

POLICEMAN GETS REBUKE FOR AUTO DEATH OF WOMAN

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death at an inquest into the death of Mrs. Susan Van Allen, 58 years old, 9040 South Oakley avenue, but criticized Policeman Joseph Connelly, 42 years old, of the detective bureau, for negligence.

Mrs. Allen was fatally injured Saturday when a car, driven by Policeman Connelly, crashed over the curb at 1242 West 74th street and struck her. The jury stated that Connelly "did not use proper care and caution in driving and that he was negligent." It added that the negligence did not appear to be of a criminal nature.

Three witnesses, produced by Martin McNally, attorney for the estate of Mrs. Van Allen, testified that they smelled liquor on Connelly's breath. He testified, however, that he had not touched liquor in five years.

Woman Crashes Into Auto to Avoid Black Cat; Held

Mrs. Helen Morrison, 610 Rosewood avenue, Winnetka, was arrested by Evanston police yesterday when she drove her automobile into a parked car in Orrington avenue near Library place, in Evanston. Mrs. Morrison said she swerved her car to avoid hitting a black cat. Police investigation disclosed that on last Nov. 7 Mrs. Morrison was arrested for driving 40 miles an hour in Evanston, and that later she forfeited a $10 bond by failing to appear in court. She will be arraigned March 10 on two charges.

Rebels Enlarge Hold on Spain Slowly in 8 Months of War

SPAIN'S WAR FRONTS

1. Fascist rebels besieging Madrid continue efforts to encircle capital, thus cutting off supplies and starving city in submission.
2. Rebels battle way eastward along Mediterranean after capturing Malaga and Motril.
3. Loyalists besiege rebels in Oviedo (A), while rebels push slowly toward Barcelona, capital of Catalonia (B).
4. Loyalists feint toward Toledo in effort to draw rebel forces to that sector from Madrid.

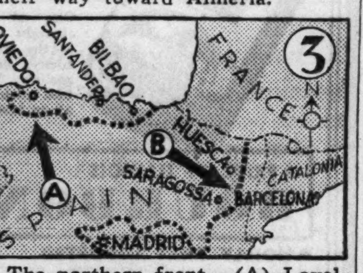
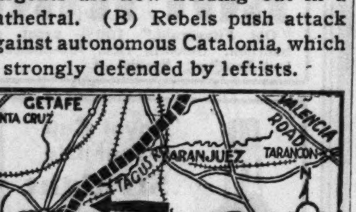
The Mediterranean front. Here the rebels have captured the important seaport of Malaga, pushed through Motril and are now fighting their way toward Almeria.



The northern front. (A) Loyalists, controlling territory between dotted line and the sea, except for the city of Oviedo, push attack against that rebel stronghold. The loyalists have fought their way into the center of the city, where the insurgents are now holding out in a cathedral. (B) Rebels push attack against autonomous Catalonia, which is strongly defended by leftists.



Dotted line is rebel front. Here the loyalists have feinted with a drive toward Toledo, famous for the siege of the Alcazar in the earlier days of the war.

With the powers of Europe pushing plans to isolate the civil war in Spain and to bring about the withdrawal of all foreign troops or volunteers, the strife, almost eight months old, may soon again become a struggle of the two Spanish factions.

The Madrid-Valencia government has already accepted the proposal for a withdrawal of all foreign volunteers, declaring such actions will make victory for the loyalists certain. No word on the proposal has yet come from the rebels.

Rebels Extend Territory.

The civil war has seethed with bloody persistence in many areas of Spain without decision. Never veering from their original abortive attempt to seize the capital, Madrid, the rebels have varied their strategy, carrying the conflict to many fronts. They have also gradually extended the territory in their hands.

Gen. Francisco Franco, commander of the rebels, began the uprising last July 17, placing himself at the head of the Spanish foreign legion in Morocco and establishing a rebel stronghold in Africa which still is maintained.

Likewise the rebels dominated the Balearic and Canary Islands and gained a foothold near Cadiz and Seville on the south Spanish coast. The rebellious army men and their followers also seized and held at the start Saragossa, Navarra, Burgos, Valladolid, and Guipuzcoa.

Meanwhile, however, loyalists at Madrid and Barcelona suppressed the planned uprising of army men and their sympathizers and nabbed the leaders.

Rebels Take Area in North.

With their assaults on Madrid from the north through the Guadarrama mountains frustrated, the rebels turned their efforts in other directions. Irun, on the north coast near the French border, was captured from the loyalists on Sept. 4. The rebels took San Sebastian on Sept. 12.

South of Madrid, at Toledo, loyalists besieged rebels in the Alcazar for sixty-eight days. Rebel forces captured Toledo on Sept. 27, relieving their beleaguered sympathizers and pushing the rebel lines to a point south of Madrid.

In October the rebels began their push on Madrid from the west and south which has since carried them to its outskirts but never has given them possession of the city.

Since the turn of the year the rebels have extended their lines along the Mediterranean coast, to the Madrid-Valencia highway, southeast of Madrid, and to Aragon.

Malaga Falls to Fascists.

Driving eastward toward Valencia the rebels captured Malaga, the loyalists' principal south Mediterranean seaport, of 200,000 people, on Feb. 8, after previously taking Estepona and Marbella. Pushing on eastward, they took Motril, and now have halted short of Almeria.

The rebel offensive which started on Feb. 21 on the Aragon front in the northeast has failed of decisive results.

For their part the loyalists have begun two new actions. An attempt, begun Feb. 21, to recapture Oviedo, provincial capital in Asturias, in the north, carried them to the outskirts of the city. Now they are inside the city, contending with its rebel defenders for control.

In an effort to relieve pressure on their many fronts, the loyalists recently made a feint to recapture Toledo. Gen. José Miaja, loyalist commander, now denies, however, that his troops have entered the city. They do hold Los Cigarrale, less than two miles away, he said.

EX-JENNIE DOLLY ENTERS HOSPITAL; HUNT ASSAILANT

Mrs. Bernard W. Vinissky, the former Jennie Dolly of the Dolly sisters, famous dancing team, was taken to Augustana hospital yesterday to treat her eyes, injured by pepper.

Dr. Nelson M. Percy, her physician, said her condition was improving and that the effect on her eyes was "unfortunate, but not serious." Police were searching for the well dressed man who rang the back doorbell at the Vinissky apartment, 1540 Lake Shore drive, said he had a package to deliver, and, when Mrs. Vinissky opened the door, flung the pepper in her face.

ILLINOIS FIRST IN TRAFIC SAFETY ROLL OF STATES

New York Leads Cities; Wilmette Honored.

New York City was named winner yesterday of the 1936 grand prize in the fifth annual national trafic safety contest sponsored by the National Safety council. Illinois won first place in the class A states, and Chicago received an honorable mention in the big city group.

In winning the grand prize, New York displaced Evanston, 1935 grand prize winner. The north shore received solace, however, as Wilmette won first place in the 10,000 to 25,000 population group of cities. Other first place cities in their respective population groups were Kansas City, Omaha, Jackson, Mich., and West New York, N. J.

838 Fatalities in Year.

New York City closed 1936 with 838 trafic fatalities, a reduction of 12.2 per cent from the 1935 figure of 954. It also showed a 17 per cent decrease from the average for three years previous to 1936. New York scored furthermore in effective operation of its police department's interprecinct contest for accident reduction. Philadelphia ran a close second in this direction. Chicago and San Francisco received honorable mention in that order.

The contest showed that 139 cities passed 1936 without a single motor death. West New York, N. J., with a population above 25,000, was first in this showing. The contest also showed a general reduction of 2 per cent in auto fatalities in all cities.

Two Held in Death.

Two men were in custody of Woodlawn police in Chicago yesterday after their car had killed Miss Kathryn Otto, 50 years old, 6335 Ingleside avenue, at 63d street and Blackstone avenue earlier in the day. Police said the men had been drinking.

The two men are Ben H. Geagan, 34 years old, 6533 Kimbark avenue, driver of the car, and his companion, John Curran, 6523 Minerva avenue.

John Golumbus, 73 years old, 4139 North Sacramento avenue, was fatally injured last night when he was struck by an automobile in Irving Park boulevard at Whipple street. He died several hours after being taken to the Martha Washington hospital by the driver of the car, Carl McNeil, 33 years old, 3142 Irving Park boulevard.

Crushed by Trailer.

Miss Elsie Hapke, 27 years old, 660 Barry avenue, was crushed to death yesterday when a truck trailer was backed against a loading platform at the Walter H. Johnson Candy company, 341 West Superior street. Walter Culliton, 47 years old, 2524 West Cortez street, driver, said he did not see her. Miss Hapke was on her way to work at the candy factory.

Bernard Pagin, 39 years old, of La Grange, and W. E. Perisho, 21 years old, of Streator, were killed early yesterday when their car, driven by Perisho, crashed into the side of a Santa Fé freight train near Dana in La Salle county.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 180 persons were killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 142 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 3,465 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

5 DIE IN CRASH ON ALTON TRACK NEAR LINCOLN

Lincoln, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Five persons, including two small babies, were killed late today when an automobile collided with a Chicago and Alton railroad car fifteen miles north of here. The five victims, and a sixth person critically injured, were occupants of the automobile.

The motorized railroad car was knocked off the track and skidded fifty yards down the right of way before coming to a stop. Ten passengers and two trainmen aboard were shaken, but were not injured.

The automobile caught fire immediately after the crash, but trainmen extinguished the flames and dragged four of the victims from the wreckage. The driver of the auto was C. W. Rasar, operator of a group of collection agencies in this section of the state. He was killed.

The other dead were Mrs. Ross O. Willard of Peoria; her daughter, Mrs. Lillian Hartman, 25; the latter's 3 month old baby girl, and seven weeks old George Veech Jr. Mrs. Veech, mother of the infant, was seriously injured. She was brought to the Deaconess hospital here. The bodies were taken to Delavan.

facts of the case, expressed his lively regrets over the impertinencies of the Jew La Guardia. He emphasized at the same time that the agitatory remarks of La Guardia in nowise reflect the feelings of the American government toward the German government."

BID FOR NEW YORK VOTES

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—A sly bid for votes in this city's mayoralty election this fall was discerned today behind Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia's sudden attack on Chancellor Adolf Hitler and his proposal to display the Nazi dictator in a "chamber of horrors" at New York's world fair in 1939. The outburst today resulted in a formal apology by the state department to Germany.

The mayor's reference to Hitler as "a brown shirted fanatic," made at a luncheon of the women's division of the American Jewish congress Wednesday, stirred up a violent undercurrent of racial prejudice in the city. An estimated 2,250,000 Jews live in the five boroughs that make up New York City, and only 600,000 Germans. The political value of an appeal to the Jewish vote, which eclipses the voting strength of all other racial segments, is readily apparent.

Indicates Campaign Tactics.

The incident at the luncheon gave the first indication of the level upon which the mayoralty race will be run. La Guardia's tactics recalled the "punch King George in the snoot" campaign of another politician for the mayor's seat in Chicago a decade ago. The method is the same but in the latter case the appeal was to a large German vote.

Mayor La Guardia's racial antecedents have often stood him in good stead in his political battles for congress and other posts. His father came from Foggia, Italy, and there are 1,100,000 persons of Italian extraction in New York. La Guardia's mother was of Jewish blood.

In his office at the city hall today the mayor was confronted with the mounting storm of protest against his Hitler utterances. He declared that he would "stand" by what he had said.

Signal for Bitter Battle.

"I referred to a brown shirted fanatic menacing the peace of Europe," La Guardia said. "Mr. Hitler's government was quick to recognize that I meant him. I don't know whether it's his guilty conscience or my power of description."

It was apparent La Guardia had given the signal for a boiling over of deep seated racial feelings and the pot was expected to boil until after the election. Battle lines were already forming.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, one of the most influential Jewish leaders in the country, defended the mayor, saying that the American people would "rejoice in the mood of a man who has spoken the truth."

On the other hand, the Board of Trade for German-American Commerce, Inc., sent a telegram of protest to Grover A. Whalen, president of the world fair, pointing out that the words of the mayor were slightly at variance with the invitation to Germany to participate in the exposition.

Three Chicago Hijackers Get Prison in Waukegan

Three Chicagoans, convicted of hijacking, were sentenced to penitentiary terms yesterday by Judge Ralph J. Dady of the Lake county Circuit court in Waukegan. They are Jack Stillwagon, 23 years old, sentenced to 1 to 20 years for robbery, and Anton Stieb, 19 years old, and Peter Schirmang, 35 years old, 1 to 10 years each for larceny. They were convicted by a jury on Feb. 13 of hijacking a truckload of poultry, valued at $2,000, from Felix Veth, near Volo. Judge Dady overruled yesterday their motions for new trials.

BATTERED BODY OF GIRL, 4, LEFT IN MILL BROOK

Windsor, Vt., March 5.—(AP)—Searchers tonight found the battered body of four year old Beverly Ann Page, of Claremont, N. H., a victim, State's Attorney Albion Parker said, "of death by violence and attempted rape."

Found in a foot of water in Mill brook, the tiny body, Parker said, bore deep cuts on the face and head and marks of violence on the arms, legs and upper body. The lower jaw was broken.

The child, who had been visiting relatives here while her mother is confined in a Claremont hospital, disappeared today from in front of her aunt's home.

Boy scouts and volunteers joined in the hunt after the aunt, Mrs. Louis Thibault, reported the child missing. After much of the town had been searched a party found her body in the water.

U. S. APOLOGIZES TO GERMANY FOR SLUR ON HITLER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—The state department this afternoon officially apologized to the German government through its embassy here for the attack on Adolph Hitler by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York.

The apology was not made by Secretary of State Cordell Hull because the German protest was not lodged by Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador, but by Dr. Hans Thomsen, counselor of the embassy. It was made orally on behalf of the secretary by James Clement Dunn, chief of the western European affairs division of the state department.

Statement Made in Speech.

Hull's statement expressed regret that La Guardia's assertion that Hitler would be a proper inmate for a chamber of horrors had given offense to Germany. La Guardia made the statement in a speech before a Jewish women's organization Wednesday.

At the same time the secretary pointed out that "the right of freedom of speech is guaranteed by the constitution to every citizen," but added that this fact did not lessen the regret of this government.

"The German government, through its embassy here, makes complaint against certain utterances of the Hon. Fiorello La Guardia in a public address at the Hotel Astor in New York on March 3, stating that such utterances seriously and severely reflect upon the head of the German state and the German government," Mr. Dunn said in substance in behalf of Secretary Hull to Dr. Thomsen.

Voices Government's Regret.

"In this country the right of freedom of speech is guaranteed by the constitution to every citizen and is cherished as a part of the national heritage.

"This, however, does not lessen the regret of the government when utterances, either brought by private citizens or public officials speaking in an individual capacity, do offense to a government with which we have official relations."

HORNER GOES TO ASK PRESIDENT FOR WPA MONEY

Gov. Horner was to arrive in Washington today for relief conferences with President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins, Works Progress administrator. Before leaving yesterday he said he would ask the President to see that WPA allotments for Illinois are not reduced.

The governor said he would present statements showing expected expenditures of $20,000,000 more than all estimated revenue now in sight during the next two years.

HITLER REDUCES POPULATION OF JEWS BY 90,000

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, March 5.—Germany's Jewish population has been reduced by 90,000 in the four years of the Hitler régime, leaving a total of 409,000 professing Jews in the reich, according to the annual report of the Jewish Central Committee for Aid and Reconstruction.

The report states that emigration has now become the main problem of all Jewish aid and the question for the average Jew no longer is whether emigration is advisable, but when it will become possible.

The most notable development in 1936 has been the concentration of German Jewish emigration to overseas countries and the rapid decline in the number of German Jews finding homes in other European lands.

The report indicates that 9,500 German Jews have gone to the United States since 1933.

JEWS STIRRED BY VERDICT FREEING 6 KIDNAP KILLERS

Manchukuan White Russians Draw Resentment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HARBIN, Manchukuo, Feb. 10.—[By Mail].—A wave of resentment among local Jews has flared here following a verdict of the higher court which freed six men who were convicted in the kidnap killing of S. Kaspe, son of one of the city's richest merchants, three years ago.

Russian Fascists, on the other hand, feel deep satisfaction over the court's decision, which ends a long and bitter controversy in the courts.

Kaspe was kidnaped in August, 1933, and held for 300,000 yen ransom. His father offered 50,000 yen. While negotiations were progressing it was learned the young man had been killed. Allegedly one of the kidnapers, infuriated by the father's offer, had slain the hostage.

Gang Leaders Widely Known.

Most of the gang of alleged kidnapers were arrested soon after, and the community was stunned to learn that the gang leaders were well known among Harbin's White Russians, the chief being head of the secret police, Martinoff.

During preliminary investigation the prisoners admitted being Russian counter-revolutionists. For years, they said, they had sent representatives to soviet Russia to work among their enemies, the communists, financing these agents with their own funds. These resources at last gave out, the prisoners said, and they decided to extort money from rich Jews.

The elder Kaspe was singled out, they asserted, because he was credited with making much money as broker for the soviet union in the sale of jewelry which had belonged to the royal house of Romanoff, many of whose members were liquidated in the Russian revolution.

Open Attacks on Jews.

When this information became known part of the local Russian press took the view that the kidnaping was purely a political act of Russian patriots. The Fascist press opened bitter attacks on the Jews.

Believing authorities were inclined to accept this view, the enraged Jewish colony made a vigorous counter-campaign against the prisoners, asserting they were criminals hiding behind high principles.

After two years of investigation, a sensational trial was held and the six prisoners were convicted last year. The verdict, pronounced in May, condemned Martinoff and three others, named Shandar, Kirichenko, and Komissarenko, to death. Two others, Zaitceff and Bezroochko, were given life imprisonment at hard labor.

They appealed. The higher court deliberated for many months. In its ruling, which was just handed down, the court conceded that the defendants were guilty of kidnaping. But, the court asserted, it had taken into consideration their high patriotic motives and their natural feelings toward those whom they hold responsible for the Russian revolution.

It held, therefore, that the prisoners should not be treated as ordinary criminals, and it made them eligible to an amnesty recently proclaimed by Emperor Kang Teh of Manchukuo. Under Manchukuan law they were entitled to discharge within ten days after the verdict.

ASKS CITIZENSHIP

MARLENE DIETRICH.
[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 5.—(AP)—Marlene Dietrich, German film actress, asked today to become a citizen of the United States.

Appearing unexpectedly in the naturalization department of the federal court, she made out her first papers and was administered the oath of allegiance by Deputy George E. Ruperich.

She is eligible for citizenship in two years.

In her application Miss Dietrich gave her legal name as Maria Magdalene Sieber and said she was born Dec. 27, 1904, in Berlin. She has one child, Maria, who was born Dec. 13, 1924.

Miss Dietrich arrived in the United States Sept. 26, 1933.

Youth's Charge Against Preacher Is Dismissed

A charge of disorderly conduct against the Rev. Albert B. Rutt, 57 years old, acting pastor of a Chicago branch of Aimee Semple McPherson's Four Square Gospel church at 6636 Normal boulevard, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Domestic Relations court for insufficient evidence. The Rev. Mr. Rutt was arrested on complaint of Clifton J. Ryding, 22 years old, 1520 West 64th street, an elevator operator. He denied the young man's accusations.

DOWDELL JURY IS DISCHARGED AFTER 21 HOURS

Hopelessly Deadlocked in Mistreatment Case.

After 21 hours of deliberation a jury in Judge John J. Lupe's Criminal court was discharged last evening when it informed the judge that it was hopelessly deadlocked in the case of Maxwell Dowdell, 49 years old, 6906 Lakewood avenue, suspended park foreman. He was on trial on a charge of mistreating a 10 year old girl. The jurors fluctuated from 7 to 5 to 9 to 3 for acquittal during the deliberations.

Judge Lupe immediately sent the case to Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley for reassignment and retrial by another judge. The reassignment probably will be made Monday and the case will come up for trial in the next two weeks in the ordinary routine.

Transcripts Sought.

During the deliberations the jurors from time to time asked the judge to send them transcripts of the testimony given by playmates of the moron victim. These children had identified Dowdell as a man they saw with the victim prior to the attack. The last request of the jurors and the one which they said could have settled the dispute among them, was for the testimony of the victim.

Judge Lupe granted none of the requests, explaining that under the law he was forbidden to repeat testimony given from the witness stand.

Confession Ruled Out.

Dowdell confessed the crime after his arrest, but later repudiated his confession, charging it was obtained by the police under duress. The judge ruled out the confession after hearing evidence on how it was obtained. Dowdell denied the attack story and produced alibi witnesses to corroborate his testimony.

Boy Burned as He Throws Can of Gasoline on Bonfire

Robert Garibay, 12 years old, 1136 Bryn Mawr avenue, was seriously burned about the hands and face yesterday when he threw a canful of gasoline upon a bonfire in an alley near his home. He was taken to the Children's Memorial hospital.

PUT CORNMEAL IN WHEAT BREAD, IS NAZI ORDER

BERLIN, March 5.—(AP)—Striving to preserve all available breadstuffs, Germany today ordered bakers to put a 7 per cent admixture of cornmeal in all wheat bread.

The order, effective March 15, says the quality of bread does not suffer even with an admixture of 10 per cent of cornmeal.

Although cornmeal is not widely regarded in the reich as suitable for human consumption, the order reminds the people it was often used for mixing bread flour in Germany before the world war.

The government last month appealed to farmers who already had delivered their quotas of rye to turn over to the government any surplus they possessed. Barley, corn, and cornmeal were promised in return, the government hoping to discourage feeding bread grains to live stock.

MOTHER IN JAIL ON CHARGE OF BEATING TWO GIRLS TO DEATH

Clearfield, Pa., March 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Jennie Galley, wife of a coal miner, was held tonight on a charge of having beaten her two daughters to death with a hammer because the neighbors said they were dumb in school.

District Attorney Carl Belin said the 41 year old mother attacked her daughters, Virginia, 17, and Marie, 5, after her husband and son had left for work this morning. The prosecutor said he was convinced the woman is a mental case.

After hitting the girls with the hammer about fifteen or twenty times, the woman watched them die and then told a neighbor what she had done, Belin said.

She explained to him, he related, that she didn't want the "neighbors talking about the girls being dumb in school," and that she loved her daughters very much and was "afraid some one would get them."

ATTACK CRIPPLE; PUNISHED.

Bloomington, Ind., March 5.—[Special.]—Wainer Mercer, 26 years old; Robert Seay, 23, and Basil Wade, 22, received today terms of 60 days on the state farm for robbery and assault of Erle Robert Schneider of Logansport, crippled student at Indiana university.

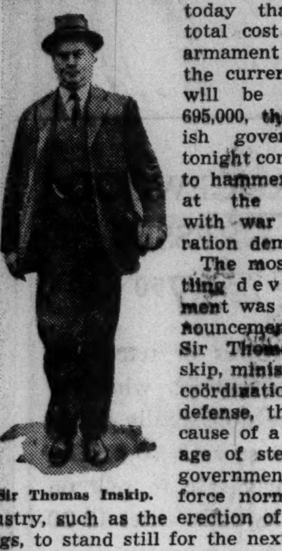
BRITAIN MAY HALT INDUSTRY TO PUSH ARMS PROGRAM

Steel Shortage May Force Three Year Stoppage.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Sir Thomas Inskip.

LONDON, March 5.—Close on the heels of its revelation in parliament today that the total cost of rearmament for the current year will be $1,348,695,000, the British government tonight continued to hammer away at the public with war preparation demands.

The most startling development was an announcement by Sir Thomas Inskip, minister for coördination of defense, that because of a shortage of steel the government may force normal industry, such as the erection of buildings, to stand still for the next three years, giving the rearmament program a clear track.

"It would not be a bad thing," he said in a speech, "if some orders were postponed two or three years while contractors are busy on the government program. I hope other nations will not be unmindful of the determination of this proud old nation to defend itself, even to the very end.'

Warns of Tax Increase.

Another development was a warning to Scotland that it may have to pay extra taxes for the rearmament program. Referring to the government's plan to divert treasury surpluses to rearmament, Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, declared in a speech at Edinburgh:

"Nothing but stark necessity would have made me confess to such a negation of common sense and common humanity. I cannot dismiss the hope that we and the other nations of Europe may presently find some less suicidal way of ending our fears and suspicions of one another before we are all ruined by our own efforts to defend ourselves."

The revelation that the cost in 1937 alone of the five year, seven and one-half billion dollar program will exceed one and one-third billion dollars was made by Lord Swinton, secretary of state for air.

$412,500,000 for Air Force.

The air force estimate for the year, Lord Swinton told the house of commons, is $412,500,000, or $159,000,000 more than last year. For the first time in Britain's peacetime history the air estimate exceeds the army's expenditures, which have been set at $410,870,000. The estimate for the navy is $525,325,000. The total arms bill is about 75 per cent higher than last year, and amounts to about $29 for every person in the British Isles.

Lord Swinton blamed deficiency in the air force expansion on overoptimistic forecasts by private concerns as to the time necessary to turn out airplanes and weapons.

55,850 Officers and Men.

The air program is gaining momentum, he said.

The air force will have a total of 100 squadrons at home, twenty with the fleet, and twenty-six overseas by April 1, Swinton said. The air secretary said the strength of the royal air force will be 4,850 officers and 51,000 men.

The original April 1 quota of 1,500 planes will not be reached until some time this summer, Swinton admitted. Each of the 124 squadrons which will then form the home air fleet will be increased in size until a total of 1,750 first line craft will be included.

Part of the increase in the air program is for equipment being turned out for ten special "balloon barrage units." They will form a fence of steel wires to be hung from balloons moored around London to clip the wings of air invaders.

RECONCILED

VERSAILLES, France, March 5.—(AP)—Mme. Marie Schmeder and the man she shot in the back as they flew together at 1,300 feet, were reconciled in a tearful scene tonight in the district attorney's office.

Pierre L'Allemant, almost recovered from the bullet wound, faced Mme. Schmeder for the first time since the aerial drama last Dec. 20, when she left him wounded in the field where he landed the plane in which she fled to England.

Weeping unrestrainedly, Mme. Schmeder asked L'Allemant's pardon and he gave it. He said he had no desire to press civil action against her. Lawyers, however, said the woman flyer and co-owner of the plane with L'Allemant, still would have to answer criminal charges.

HALF A BILLION VOTED FOR NAVY; BILL TO SENATE

Washington, D. C., March 5.—(AP)—The house passed and sent to the senate today a bill appropriating $526,555,428 for the navy for the next fiscal year. All efforts to amend the measure were defeated.

The main national defense item in the bill is 130 million dollars to continue construction of 81 fighting ships and to start a dozen more.

To permit naval aviation to keep pace with the ship building program, the house voted $14,186,000 in appropriations and $15,000,000 more in contract authorizations for procurement of 397 airplanes and two non-rigid airships.

In perhaps the most stirring bit of action in the chamber since congress convened, the house smashed by an 81 to 66 standing vote the proposal of Representative Umstead [D., N. C.] for an international arms parley.

ARMS PROGRAM AGGRAVATES JAP STEEL SHORTAGE

British Activity Causes Government to Act.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 5.—The British armaments program and the British decision to lower the duty on iron and steel is aggravating the already acute iron and steel shortage here.

Because of the distressing situation the government called a meeting of the Japan Iron and Steel federation. It met yesterday and discussed revision of the iron industry encouragement law and the drafting of a bill for presentation to the diet, which now is sitting.

The government ordered that work be halted on all new steel reinforced school buildings and that wood be substituted. Some industries and shipyards are suffering because importers are unable to deliver or are holding out.

Use of Scrap Iron Criticized.

The government was criticized severely in the diet for permitting use of a large percentage of American scrap iron in building warships and munitions instead of high quality steel.

Frantically striving to cope with the situation, the semi-governmental Japan Iron Manufacturing company, the largest in the country, has just constructed a blast furnace near Osaka, with a daily capacity of 700 tons and has launched on an expansion program to construct three blast furnaces and six open-hearth furnaces with an annual capacity of 700,000 tons of pig iron, 500,000 tons of steel cars and 400,000 tons of finished steel products.

Japan is suffering an acute shortage of iron and steel, due, first, to booms in munitions, shipping and heavy industry; second, to soaring prices; third, to the fact that Japanese civilization is based on wood and there is no scrap iron.

The price of steel rose 128 per cent yesterday. It is estimated that Japan will use 3,600,000 tons of iron and 4,500,000 tons of steel this year. Domestic production is 2,400,000 tons of iron and 4,000,000 tons of steel, of which, however, some is exported.

Japan is buying the bulk of the scrap iron from the United States. It is sought to check this by substituting pig iron.

CREW DEFIES DEATH TO BUILD AIRPORT ON PACIFIC ISLAND

HONOLULU, March 5.—(AP)—Daring workmen defied death amid pounding breakers and hidden coral reefs to carve out an airport on a tiny isle in mid-Pacific. That story was brought back here by members of a federal construction crew.

Two members of the crew had narrow escapes when a boat loaded with machinery overturned in the raging surf that always batters the shores of Howland island—1,560 miles south of here—first of two projected airports in the South Pacific.

The Howland airport will be used by Miss Amelia Earhart as a base point between Hawaii and New Guinea in her flight around the world sometime this month.

Richard C. Black, department of interior field representative, told of the hazards his men faced in landing four-ton tractors and heavy grading machines to build a mile long runway. The machines were loaded on pontoon rafts and swept ashore, bobbing like corks on the crests of breakers. During the operation one boat turned over, trapping the two men beneath it.

U. S. Will Build $250,000 Nicaragua Legation Edifice

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 5.—Construction soon will begin on the new United States legation building here. It is estimated the cost will be $250,000. H. T. Lindeberg of New York, consulting architect, arrived by plane today to prepare plans. Boaz W. Long, American minister, said the building would be erected on the present site, overlooking Managua and the avaition field.

FOUR PROPOSALS MADE TO TIGHTEN UP PAROLE LAWS

File Loesch Group's Bills at Springfield Monday.

Four measures intended to bolster the existing parole machinery of Illinois by filling in gaps in the statutes were approved yesterday by a committee of private citizens and officials under the chairmanship of Attorney Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission. The bills are to be introduced in both houses of the general assembly on Monday.

The committee, instead of waiting for the report of Gov. Horner's commission, which is studying state penal institutions, proposed immediate measures to tighten up administration of the parole system and to terminate the series of parole scandals which have shocked Chicagoans in recent months.

Four Specific Suggestions.

One proposed measure will permit a trial judge to fix a minimum and a maximum sentence upon conviction of crimes for which an indeterminate sentence is provided by law.

Another would prohibit the parole board from reviewing the findings of fact and the evidence offered in the trial court.

The third would require the sponsor and employer of a convict applying for parole, to answer questions about his qualifications under oath so that he would be liable for perjury action if he told an untruth.

The fourth would require the segregation of sex criminals.

The bills were drawn by Mr. Loesch and Judge Robert C. O'Connell of the Criminal court. The other members of the committee which approved them yesterday are State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Judge John Prystalski of the Criminal court, Ernest Monyhan, assistant to State's Attorney Courtney; State Senator Harold G. Ward, and Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, representative of Chief of Dectectives John L. Sullivan.

Result of Public Pressure.

"These bills do not attempt to change the parole law in any drastic sense," said Mr. Loesch after the meeting. "Their purpose is to render more effective the present structure, to make more uniform the treatment of prisoners, both with respect to sentence and to parole consideration and supervision, and to eliminate weaknesses of the law."

Demands for reform of the parole system followed a series of crimes by parole convicts—a series climaxed during the last eight months by the slaying of three Chicago policemen by parolees. The second of these murders resulted in a shakeup in the division of supervision of paroles and the replacement of George T. Scully, the superintendent, by T. P. Sullivan of Springfield. It was the third killing which brought together the Loesch committee.

RIGHT OF BOSS TO WORK UP TO U. S. HIGH COURT

Milwaukee, Wis., March 5.—[Special.]—The right of a labor union to prevent a contractor who is a skilled craftsman from working with his own hands and tools beside his employés is the crux of the appeal of Paul Senn, Milwaukee tile setter, against the Tile Layers' Protective association, which will be heard by the United States Supreme court the week of March 29.

Paul Senn.

Senn, an ambitious tile layer, became a small contractor, hiring one or sometimes two men. He was picketed a year ago by the union to keep him from working at the trade on his contracts.

Senn lost his suit in the Circuit court here to enjoin the union from picketing and the Wisconsin Supreme court upheld the decision by a 5-2 ruling.

Judge John J. Lupe in Criminal court yesterday began the hearing of evidence to determine what punishment he will fix for Joseph Schuster, 30 years old, paroled convict. On Thursday Schuster pleaded guilty to the murder last Jan. 14 of Policeman Arthur Sullivan.

Schuster has confessed he shot and killed the policeman on the steps of the Kedzie avenue station of the Douglas Park elevated line. Sullivan had stopped the parolee for questionconnection with a robbery.

Only when the policeman's widow, Mrs. Katherine Sullivan, 1953 South St. Louis avenue, was called to the stand did Schuster lose his composure. As the widow told of seeing her husband alive for the last time as he left for work on the day of the killing, Schuster stared at the floor and twisted nervously in his chair. Mrs. Ruth Besserer, sister of the slain policeman, attended the hearing with Mrs. Sullivan.

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan read to the court Schuster's detailed confession of the crime. The prosecutor has announced the state's intention of demanding the death penalty. After the reading of the confession court was adjourned until Monday, when Schuster is to take the stand in his own behalf.

Indict Parolee and His Pal in Wheaton for Robbery

Arthur Brettelle, 24 years old, of Aurora, who was paroled a year ago from Pontiac reformatory after serving a term for robbery, and Barnard Bailey, also of Aurora, were indicted yesterday by the Du Page county grand jury in Wheaton on charges of robbery with a gun. They are accused of holding up gasoline stations in Naperville and Joliet on Jan. 11.

IRATE SENATORS FIGHT BACK ON COURT PACKING

Democrats Are Aroused by Roosevelt's Speech.

"We shall go to the country with our fight and go as often as may be necessary to defeat the President's proposal," said Senator Wheeler.

"The Democratic platform dictated by the President provided the means by which reform needs could be met by constitutional processes. The conditions of today are identical with those which prevailed when that platform was adopted. The opposition in this fight has sought to keep the arguments on a high plane, and I regret that the President has seen fit to inflame the passions of the people with the contention that the Supreme court is responsible for the 'dust bowl' and the Ohio river floods."

Issue One of Packing.

The senate opposition leaders were pleased by the fact that Mr. Roosevelt last night stripped his judiciary program of what they termed "the camouflage" of procedural reforms and made the issue squarely one of packing the court. They had hoped that he would do this in his Victory day speech last night and, particularly, in his radio address to the nation next Tuesday night.

With the issue of packing the court joined they are anxiously awaiting an opportunity to cross-examine Attorney General Homer S. Cummings when the judiciary committee's hearing on the bill begin next Wednesday.

While even the bitterest opponents of the court packing scheme conceded the effectiveness of the President's speech from the standpoint of arousing popular support, there was a widespread difference of opinion as to whether it will change any votes in congress.

Administration leaders, who hailed the speech as the greatest in the President's career, predicted that it would result in certain victory for the program.

Robinson Praises Speech.

Senator majority leader, Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, declared:

"It was one of the best speeches the President has ever made and it will have a favorable reaction throughout the country."

Senator Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], another administration stalwart, said the President's "great speech" would "strengthen the support of the program in congress and throughout the nation."

Senator George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.], who prefers a constitutional amendment but will go along with the President, said: "It was the greatest speech in the President's career."

Speaker of the House William B. Bankhead declared: "I thought the speech was a crackerjack. I believe it definitly strengthens the chance of passage of the bill."

Senator Frederick Vannuys [D., Ind.], who opposes the President's plan, disagreed with the statements that it would change votes in congress.

Senator Bridges to Speak Here onCourt Packing Plan

United States Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, Republican, will discuss President Roosevelt's Supreme court packing plan Tuesday before the annual convention of the John Ericsson Republican league of Illinois at the Medinah club. Gotthard A. Dalberg, former speaker of the Illinois house of representatives, will preside.

EDITORIAL COMMENT ON ROOSEVELT COURT TALK

HERE is comment on the President's victory dinner speech on the Supreme court by representative newspapers of the country:

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION [D.]—Mr. Roosevelt's sincerity, which has never been doubted by right minded people, is now tinged with an evangelical zeal that avoids the logic of arguments urged against his reorganization plan. The result is that he may sway the public mind and bring over reluctant senators. . . . That is not democracy functioning rationally.

BALTIMORE SUN [Ind., D.]—It is only fair to recognize that Mr. Roosevelt has passed into a stage in his thinking in which a pledge of the character he gave the people in 1936 lacks the authority that it possesses for ordinary men and women. In his thinking Mr. Roosevelt himself is now the constitution. If that constitution within Mr. Roosevelt happens to be divided into three coördinate departments they could be called Mr. Roosevelt's supernal goodness, Mr. Roosevelt's infinite wisdom, and Mr. Roosevelt's sovereign will. He knows of the existence of the special constitution within himself and that is enough. The moral authority of a promise made yesterday is for lesser breeds.

BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD [Ind., D.]—Again Mr. Roosevelt seemed to put virtually all of the emphasis upon what government must do in order to solve our problems. We think the time and events now call for a more balanced emphasis, else this country stands sharply in danger of slipping into that fateful and exclusive reliance upon government that has resulted so disastrously in other lands.

BUTTE STANDARD [Ind., D.]—There is no mandate to tear down and destroy the Supreme court, no moral right to dissolve the respect and reverence in which that court has been universally held. The President, working through a court under his control, would make of our fundamental law a rubber constitution. The President's hands are not tied by the Supreme court. If they are tied at all, it is by the constitution. The people alone have the right to change the constitution, but the President wants to change it by changing the court that interprets it.

CHARLESTON NEWS AND COURIER [Ind. D.]—The President's promise is that it is right to blow up the court to make his prescriptions work. Were the congress and not the court the balking horse it would be equally logical to blow it into kingdom come, and if the senate, refusing to be bought, shall defend the constitution and the court, God save it from the White House.

CINCINNATI ENQUIRER [Ind., D.—The constitutional crisis in which this country finds itself is by far too grave to permit any citizen to be swayed by eloquent words. If the ideas they clothe will not stand the scrutiny of critical minds, it is Mr. Roosevelt's ambition, he tells us, to bequeath to his successor a government fully equipped for its task with the necessary constitutional power, but it is our task as citizens to bequeath to our children a government free from the domination of any individual, with courts of justice functioning independently of any party or party leader.

DALLAS NEWS [Ind., D.]—Mr. Roosevelt is a fighter whose courage commands admiration but whose methods are not equal to his mental stature. Today he is fighting not alone the court, his traditional party foes and men and women who question honestly his procedure, but men like Connally, Clark, and Wagner, and many another stalwart in the Democratic ranks who have given him loyal support so long as they believed him to be right.

DULUTH HERALD [Ind.]—In 1936 the country was told that the emergency was no more, but that Mr. Roosevelt's reëlection would insure continued recovery. Now we are told that the present crisis is fundamentally even more grave than that of 1933, that there is no time to change the system which is at fault, that the way to do it is to change the personnel by adding enough new justices to change the balance. Why not do it in an orderly way, by amendment, even if it takes a little time?

HARTFORD TIMES [Ind., D.]—The President's assault upon the court was severe, devastating in particulars, notably in his criticisms of the decision which denied to the states constitutional power to legislate minimum wages. Even were we to grant all that the President has so forcibly said of the urgency of the New Deal . . . we are opposed to blasting away the provision of the constitution's fathers that the Supreme court shall retain independence from temporary political pressure, however strong or however naturally provoked.

LITTLE ROCK GAZETTE [D.]—It is not enough to say the Supreme court is under no compulsion simply to pull with the President and congress—to declare valid all legislation the President wants and congress enacts. It must be said that the Supreme court would be recreant to its sworn and bounden duty; it would stultify itself and betray its country if it did not declare invalid acts of congress that it was conscientiously convinced were repugnant to the constitution.

NEW YORK TIMES [Ind., D.]—It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that, having decided too suddenly in favor of a plan which has encountered far greater opposition than he anticipated, it is now necessary for Mr. Roosevelt to overemphasize the element of "crisis" in an attempt to validate his unfortunate decision. Without a direct reference of the question to the public or a direct mandate from the country, the President has swerved from the course charted in the Democratic platform and proposes to force on the Supreme court a change which would shake the prestige of that institution and disturb the traditional American system of checks and balances. If the country now faces a crisis, it is a constitutional crisis and it is of the President's own making.

NEW YORK SUN [Ind.]—After Mr. Roosevelt's speech last night no supporter of the President need struggle and wrestle with the argument that the President's message of a month ago was concerned with reform of the judiciary and the relief of aged judges. The President himself discarded those pretenses at the Democratic victory dinner and put the issue in the very terms in which the correct instinct of the public put it when the message was first made public. . . . The independence of the judiciary is to be plowed under. The control of congress over the purse strings is to be plowed under. . . . The President has removed all the camouflage.

NEW YORK WORLD TELEGRAM [Ind.]—The President proposes to break the obstruction by taking over the third branch of our government and having it do as he sees fit. That, to us, is the rub. The very ardency of his emphasis on the "now" makes us fear the more for the future. We feel that the precedent he would set today as a short cut would rise to plague this nation in years to come should other Presidents with other aims seize upon it "in order to get things done."

OMAHA WORLD HERALD [Ind.]—If it was the desire of Mr. Roosevelt to arouse Americans to march against the Supreme court then admirably was his speech of Thursday night adapted to that end.

Its unsparing nature vividly recalls the warning sounded just a few days before by the chairman of the house judiciary committee. Mr. Sumners pleaded for a mutually respectful attitude of the legislative branch, the executive branch, and the judicial branch of the government for each other.

It is light rather than heat, thoughtfulness rather than passion, patriotism rather than partisanship and faction and ambition, that a great occasion calls for.

RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER [D.]—The President made a great speech, which should convince every person who is concerned for the present welfare of America both of the necessity of his program and the folly of the dangers which have been said to lie in it. But it was such a speech as depended for its greatness not merely upon the speaker but upon the shrewd, common sense concern with realities of the ordinary American who is less concerned about John Marshall's dicta than about his own and his neighbor's welfare in their own time.

RICHMOND TIMES-DISPATCH [Ind., D.]—If Mr. Roosevelt can add six justices to the court without a mandate from the people on this issue, we see nothing to prevent another Huey Long from using this as a precedent which would greatly facilitate the establishment of a dictatorship at Washington.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH [Ind.]—Demagogic in its appeal, intemperate and ill natured in its words and manner, the President's speech comported ill with the high dignity of his office.

The speech can bring only grief to the great numbers of those who supported Mr. Roosevelt in the last campaign. . . . He seeks by a coup to bend the Supreme court to his will. His speech of last night was a demagogic effort to that end. The issue is crystal clear. May those in congress who value constitutional government stand fast in their faith.

Favors Judicial Reform, but Not President's Kind

There is scarcely any controversy over the need for legal and judicial reforms proposed by President Roosevelt, but because the President's objective is not primarily reform, but to attain a political advantage, Dr. George Earle Raiguel, political economist, cannot support the President. He outlined his views on the President's proposal to pack the United States Supreme court at a meeting of the Executives' club in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

HOSTESS CLEARS POLICEMAN; HER CHARGES FALSE

$600 Extortion Plot Is Bared by Confession.

A young woman, employed as a tavern waitress, who caused the suspension of a policeman Tuesday on charges that he raped her, admitted yesterday that her accusation was a frameup in an attempt to extort $600 from him.

The girl, Miss Ruth Zetek, 21 years old, 5752 Elston avenue, was held at the state's attorney's office after making a written confession to First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley. Her statement exonerated Policeman Frank Castany, 31 years old, of the Irving Park station.

Given a Ride Home.

After finishing her work Monday night in the tavern at 5600 Milwaukee avenue, which is in the Irving Park district, Miss Zetek was given a ride to her home by Policeman Castany. Early the next morning she went to the police station and told Acting Captain Herbert Burns that Policeman Castany drove her to Belmont avenue and River road where he attacked her.

Miss Ruth Zetek, who told prosecutor she charged policeman with rape as groundwork for $600 extortion.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Capt. Burns immediately stripped Castany of his star and suspended him. Miss Zetek then repeated her charges in the police commissioner's office. She was advised to get a warant.

Gets Misdemeanor Warant.

In the Court of Domestic Relations, however, Miss Zetek obtained the warant—for disorderly conduct only. Castany was arrested and turned over to the sex offense bureau. There he vigorously denied the accusation.

Assistant State's Attorney Sam Papanek, who handles all cases of this kind, became suspicious of the girl's story partially because the warant she asked was for a misdemeanor. Papanek discussed his suspicions with Mr. Crowley. After conducting a personal investigation Mr. Crowley yesterday announced what had happened.

"This was purely a rank frameup on her part," declared Mr. Crowley, "for the purpose of extorting money. She admits the charges were untrue.

"Her purpose was to lay the groundwork for extorting $600, a price she fixed in her mind as the amount she could get from Castany. She had read of the recent wave of sex crimes. She thought that if such charges were made against a policeman it would be hard for him to disprove them and probably easy for her to get him to pay to keep them quiet. Charges will be preferred against her."

Policeman Castany was present during the questioning of Miss Zetek. With him was his young wife, Florence. They live at 5117½ Montrose avenue.

JAILED FOR 6 MONTHS OVER ACCIDENT DEBT; WEDS FIRST DAY OUT

Roland Pflaum, 27 years old, of Dundee, spent six months in jail in Geneva because he failed to pay a $5,200 judgment to Irene Tonry, 12 years old, of Dundee, for injuries she suffered in an automobile accident. On Wednesday night Sherif Albert Kampmeyer notified the prisoner he was free. Pflaum telephoned his sweetheart, Miss Pearl Hutter, 25 years old, 16 Mallory avenue, Elgin, and they were married immediately by Justice of the Peace W. A. Keiser. Yesterday they were preparing to depart on a wedding trip in the south.

SNAP JUDGMENT

By CALEB

SOME years ago a Texas managing editor stood over a stone in a composing room chatting with a compositor. "I have a friend in town," the compositor said. "Just came from the North three weeks ago. Working for an oil company. Doesn't like it. Thinks he'd like the newspaper business. How about it?"

"What's he like?" asked the editor.

"Send him in tomorrow at four."

At four o'clock the next day the editor was feverishly handling copy. A young man approached him. "Brown is my name. Bolton told me to see you at four."

The editor shot a look at the boy. "That's your desk and typewriter in the corner. Go sit down and get used to them. I'm busy."

Thus was the boy hired for a police beat. He happened to make good. As a matter of fact, he did better than that. He married the boss's wife's sister.

SOMETHING of the snap and zip and gusto of the old days has gone out of business. Fortunately! In the day before deliberate judgment traced a sharp and accusing finger down the practices and policies of business, snap decisions came and went, and with them came and went new faces, new employes, new policies—and many shocking dollars and cents surprises for entrepreneurs.

Nowadays there are still businesses operated on snap judgments by men who have the skill and good luck to guess right a sufficient number of times to avoid—at least for a while—personal and commercial disaster. But all in all, business sickens and languishes when the fruits of snap judgments are its steady diet. A decision made on the basis of hunch on the morning the breakfast coffee is good is made differently on a morning when the coffee is bad. Facts had to come to replace fancy. And in well operated businesses, they have.

In the place of the errors resulting from snap judgment there has come to many a business a more even keel, a more consistent earnings record, a longer tenure of job for employes, and a stability of service to the public. More and more decisions are made on the basis of the essential facts. Certain people may not find jobs so easily, but when they do, they are more likely to remain in them.

STRIKE THREAT MADE BY 8,000 AT PITTSBURGH

Westinghouse Employes Ask 20% Raise.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 5.—[Special.]—The possibility of a strike of the 8,000 employés of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company plant here loomed tonight as workers made demands for a 20 per cent raise in wages.

While the concern employs a total of 45,000 workers in various parts of the country, it was understood the present action involves only those in the Pittsburgh plant.

It was reported that unless the wage demand is met a walkout or a sitdown strike will be called for Tuesday to enforce the demands submitted by employé representatives in conjunction with Local 601 of the United Electrical and Radio Workers of America.

Recognition Main Issue.

Detroit, Mich., March 5.—[Special.]—Tension in the automotive industry increased tonight as the belligerent United Automobile Workers of America issued an ultimatum for an immediate answer to the demand for recognition as the sole bargaining agent for the 67,000 employés of the Chrysler Motor company.

Status of the demand was uncertain, however, spokesmen for the motor concern asserting the ultimatum had not been presented and Homer Martin, U. A. W. A. president, declaring that recognition will be the first topic discussed Monday when the sessions are resumed.

"We have discussed recognition of the union as sole collective bargaining agency," Martin said. "We find ourselves much closer together on this matter. The subject of recognition will be ironed out first Monday. There has been no evasion or postponement of the issue and we do not expect one."

"We Have Answer."

Earlier Martin said the union would demand an immediate answer on the recognition question. Richard T. Frankensteen, union organizational director, said tonight, "We have received our answer," but refused to amplify his comment.

Meantime the sitdown strikes which closed two Woolworth stores here were settled late today, according to Louis Loenig, business manager of the Waiters and Waitresses' association. A wage adjustment of five cents an hour was granted. More than 100 strikers, mostly girls, held the stores for six days.

Out for Two Hours.

Two thousand employés of the Waterbury Clock company went on strike at Waterbury, Conn., but returned to work two hours later when the company announced a 10 per cent wage increase.

Four "10 cents to $1" stores in Kenosha, Wis., were kept closed after the Retail Clerks' union voted a strike when managers refused to meet with a collective bargaining committee. The clerks want their present average wage of $12 to $15 boosted to $18 to $20 a week.

Shoe Factory Crew Sits Pending Contract Renewal

Seventy-five men and women employés of the Gud-Fit Shoe Manufacturing company, 224 North Des Plaines street, began a sitdown strike yesterday pending the renewal of the contract between the company and the United Shoe and Leather Workers' union, local No. 48. Guy Arnold, organizing business agent for the union, said the old contract expired Thursday.

WISCONSIN AND ILLINOIS ROADS HIT BY FLOOD

Freeport, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Highways in parts of Illinois and Wisconsin were blocked today by waters overflowing from rain and ice burdened streams. Roads in the vicinity of Freeport, Oregon, and Dixon, Ill., were under water in several places and impassable.

Flood waters receded at Galena, Ill., after encroaching upon some of that town's streets. The Galena river was settling within its banks after a sharp rise yesterday to a 22.88 foot crest, which forced some persons from their homes.

Overflowing waters from the Pecatonica river slowly receded from Darlington, Wis., after covering the lower part of the business section when an ice jam broke. Highway No. 81 was under water in that area.

Several roads and railroad tracks were washed out in the vicinity of Monroe, Wis., from the second flood in two weeks. Highway No. 11 was being undermined near Broadhead, Wis., and 1,000 feet of Milwaukee road tracks were reported washed out at Albany, Wis.

Irish Girls' Sitdown Perils Shamrock Supply for U. S.

BELFAST, March 5.—(AP)—There may not be enough shamrocks to go around for the St. Patrick's day parade down New York City's Fifth avenue. Forty girls started a sitdown strike today in a factory which makes shamrocks for the United States. They demanded higher pay.

FIGHT TO FINISH BETWEEN GREEN AND LEWIS NEAR

Domination of Labor Is Goal of Each.

the 50,000 employés of Carnegie-Illinois.

The committee reasoned this would give Green another opportunity to oppose Lewis, whose adherents in his C. I. O. were suspended from the A. F. of L. because their industrial union program clashed with the federation's craft union principles.

Green Tells Policy.

Green declined the telegraphed invitation because, he replied, "of the traditional and consistent policy of the American Federation of Labor to oppose employé representation organizations and to refrain from giving support thereto."

"Their telegram indicated they are only taking steps to improve the system under which the plan operates," Green commented later. "If they are seeking to organize in a free, democratic trade union—that's different. If they were to break away from the company, that would put a completely different face on it."

Lewis, at a press conference, refused to comment on Green's rejection of the invitation to join independents in opposing him. He smugly remarked he had nothing to say. He was willing to talk, however, about his plans to organize the textile and other industries.

Lewis Claims Big Gains.

"There has been a tremendous surge among workers toward industrial organization," the militant labor leader said proudly. "Recent developments have accentuated that sweep.

"The old psychology of fear among the mass of workers has been dissipated. Detectives and espionage were responsible for some of that fear. Such apprehension has died out almost entirely in the last few weeks."

In announcing his plans to invade the textile industry Lewis estimated there are approximately 1,250,000 workers, of whom only 150,000 or less are organized. This number, he claims, has joined the C. I. O.

Call Appeal Desperation.

While Lewis declined to talk about the Carnegie-Illinois employés' open declaration of war against him, his aids were less reticent. Some officials of the C. I. O. charged the employés' invitation to Green was made in desperation, and one and all of the Lewis adherents rejoiced at Green's rejection.

Philip Murray, Lewis' field marshal in the steel drive which won an agreement with Carnegie-Illinois to cover C. I. O. members, denied that the employé organization represented a majority of the huge steel concern's workers.

"They don't represent a majority of the company's employés," Murray scoffed. "Why, they don't represent anybody. The compan union is as dead as the proverbial do-do bird."

Drop Bargaining Plan.

While there was no intimation that the Carnegie-Illinois employés' agency would let up in the least its fight against Lewis, it virtually had turned its back on the original plan for bargaining independently by giving Green the opportunity to become its guiding influence.

The agency had even discarded the term "company union," so distasteful to organized labor, and adopted the name of "American Union of Steel Workers" to compare with the steel workers' organizing committee, Lewis' wheelhorse in the steel campaign.

Some observers speculated that the Carnegie-Illinois agency's adoption of a new name and its direct request to Green for advice indicated it may cast off its company connections sufficiently to permit of A. F. of L. aid which would make it a formidable foe of Lewis.

Republic for Open Shop.

More trouble for Lewis was seen in the announcement of the Republic Steel corporation that it stands for "the open shop principle," and its calling of a meeting in Cleveland of employé representatives of all its plants. Although the meeting ostensibly was to discuss rate adjustments in recently announced wage increases, it was believed likely the conferees would touch upon the Lewis movement.

Still another pot that was brewing no good for the C. I. O. was the recently formed Steel Workers' Independent Labor organization in the Chicago area. Spokesmen for this union said they intended to keep a conference scheduled with Benjamin F. Fairless, president of Carnegie-Illinois, for next week and that a demand for another raise, in addition to last week's 10 cents an hour increase, would be made.

2 AIRLINES WITHOUT A PASSENGER DEATH WIN SAFETY AWARD

Eastern Airlines and Northwest Airlines yesterday were acclaimed winners of awards by the National Safety council here for "never having had a passenger accident-fatality throughout their entire operating history." Eastern has flown 141,794,894 passenger miles since its beginning in 1930, and Northwest has flown 48,768,411 since it began flying between Chicago and western cities in 1927.

The awards "in recognition of outstanding records in safe air transportation," will be made to officials of the two airlines in New York on April 14, it was announced by W. H. Cameron, managing director of the safety council.

C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines, Inc., announced here yesterday that his company carried 15,929 revenue passengers during February, an 81.4 per cent gain over February of last year, and a 23.3 per cent gain over January, 1937. The first two months of 1937 have been 55 per cent ahead of the trafic carried during the same period of 1936, which was a record year, he said.

GLASS WORKERS START A STRIKE; WHY IS MYSTERY

Glaziers employed by several large glass concerns failed to report for work yesterday on orders from officials of Local 27 of the Glaziers' union. Their employers were not told what the men were demanding, only being informed by telephone late Thursday that no work would be performed yesterday.

Considerable mystery clouded the cause of the strike. At union headquarters, 100 North La Salle street, the only information available was that the question of wages was not involved. The glaziers draw $1.80 an hour and work a seven hour day and a five day week. Their pay is among the highest in the building trades.

One of the largest concerns affected is the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, 451 North St. Clair street. L. B. Huguenor, general manager, said that between 50 and 75 glaziers are employed there daily, and that none of them appeared for work. The Tyler & Hippach Co., 400 West Ohio street, and the Cadillac Glass company, 900 West Cermak road, were among the others affected.

George H. Myers, business manager of Local 27, was reported on a vacation in Florida. Myers was fined $5,000 by Federal Judge Wilkerson on Feb. 20, 1929, after pleading guilty to exacting tribute from manufacturers of glazed cabinets.

SKILLED STEEL LABOR FEARS CUT IN TOTAL WAGES

Sees Short Week Aiding Common Worker Only.

Large amounts of overtime wages will be paid by steel employers during the period in which the industry works out the transition from the 48 hour to the 40 hour week, steel leaders here said yesterday. Skilled workers were expressing fears, however, that the shorter hours would cut their weekly wages.

The industry, under the new wage agreements announced by leading producers this week, will adopt the 40 hour week March 16. The agreement provides for a minimum wage rate of $5 a day with time and a half for overtime.

While the industry will try to cut overtime as much as possible, many employés, particularly the skilled workers, will be employed on the average for more than 40 hours a week during the transition period, said one steel official, who explained that there is no surplus of skilled labor.

$25 a Week Minimum Pay.

The new minimum pay for a common laborer for a 40 hour week will be $25. Under the old 48 hour week the pay envelope contained $25.20 at the $4.20 a day wage. Under the new scale, if the laborer puts in 48 hours in a week his overtime will bring his week's pay to $32.50.

Complaint has been made by skilled workers, however, that if they work only 40 hours in a given week their pay will be far below the present compensation.

While increases are being granted to skilled and semi-skilled workers, they will not be so large, proportionately, as those to the common laborers, steel officials say. Definite schedules of increases for higher paid workers have not been announced and in some cases have not yet been decided.

Parley Next Week.

According to Nicholas Fontecchio, assistant regional director in Chicago of the steel workers' organizing committee, union representatives are to meet next week with Carngie-Illinois Steel corporation officials in Pittsburgh to negotiate increases for the larger earners.

A ten cents an hour increase for the common laborer gives him about the same pay for 40 hours as the old scale did for 48. However, this does not hold true for those in the higher brackets. For instance, if only a ten cents an hour increase is given to a worker getting $7 a day his weekly pay will be $3 less for 40 hours' work than he now gets for 48 hours. At 87½ cents an hour he gets $42 for a 48 hour week. At 97½ cents an hour he would get only $39 for a 40 hour week.

Overtime compensation works sharply in favor of the higher paid worker, however. If the $7 a day man gets a 10 cent an hour increase and time and a half for overtime his pay check for a 48 hour week would amount to $50.70.

BROTHER KILLER GETS 1-14 YEARS; MERCY IS DENIED

CRIMINAL COURT.

George Hill, Ismael Emery, and Emmet Baugh, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Donald Jessup, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Charles Sumner, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Michael L. McKinley.

John Anastaplus, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Clarence Patterson, crime against nature, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge George F. Rush.

Tony Petras, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Benjamin P. Epstein.

Denying a plea for probation, Judge Robert J. Dunne in Criminal court yesterday sentenced Anthony Hanibal, 28 years old, to serve 1 to 14 years in Joliet penitentiary for slaying his brother, Rudolph, 37 years old, in a business quarrel last Nov. 23. Anthony was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury on Feb. 11. The killing climaxed a quarrel which divided the entire Hannibal family.

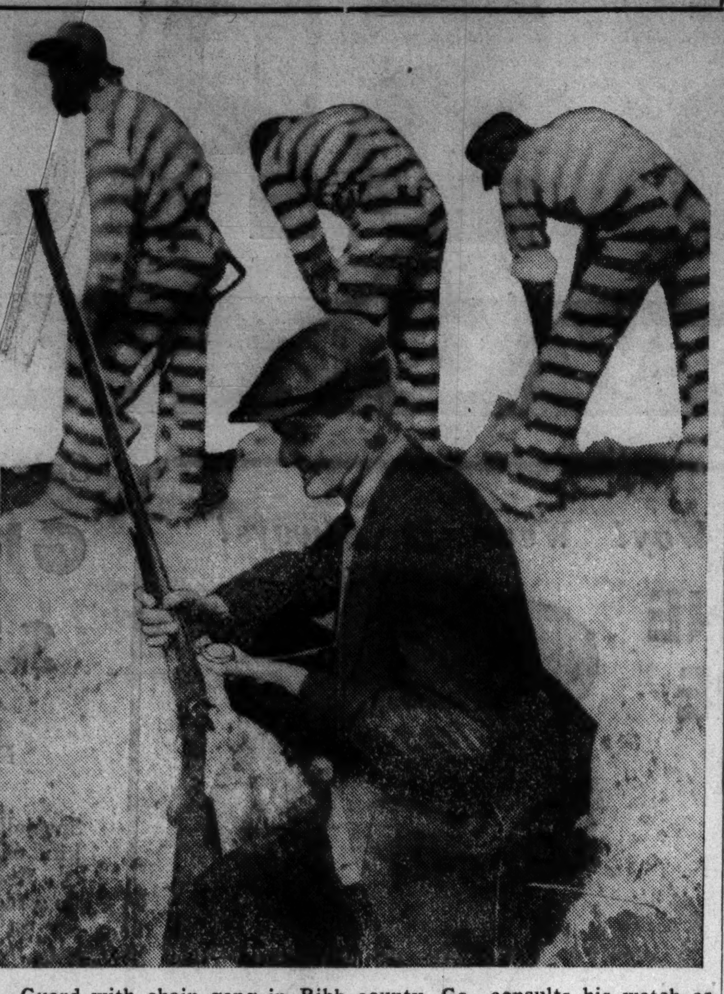
CONVICTS GET 44 HOUR WEEK



Guard with chain gang in Bibb county, Ga., consults his watch as prisoners end eight hour day under new system.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

4 Hours on Saturdays

Macon, Ga., March 5.—[Special.]—The 125 convicts on the chain gang of Bibb county, a unit of the Georgia system, worked only eight hours today instead of the old schedule of sunrise to sunset. The county officials have ordered a 44 hour work week into effect for the prisoners—five eight hour days and four hours on Saturdays.

RACKET HELPER FACED DEATH IF HE HAD RESIGNED

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Phillip Grossel, one of the defendants in the $2,000,000 a year restaurant racket trial today told of trying to hide $29,000 from Sam Krantz who took over the racket for Arthur [Dutch Schultz] Flegenheimer, five weeks after Jules Martin had been slain on an upstate visit to "the Dutchman" with $21,000.

The $29,000 item thereafter became a kind of suspense account in the testimony since Joseph Sterling, attorney for Grossel who was conducting the examination, made no effort to show its source and destination.

Grossel was secretary of the Metropolitan Restaurant and Cafeteria association. He testified that one day he told Martin he was going to resign. To this Martin said:

"Your wife just gave birth to a baby, didn't she? You'd like to see that baby again? You do as you're told or your body will be found in the river and something will happen to the rest of your family."

Grossel said that, thereafter, he did as he was told.

'MISS EUSTICE' CALLED IN COURT; 'BRIDE' ANSWERS

Arrives from Clinton, Ia., with Her Mother.

BY MARCIA WINN.

The bride [or is she?] of Quin O'Brien responded publicly yesterday to the name of Marguerite Eustice for the first time since her marriage [or was it?] to the assistant corporation counsel on Feb. 3.

Since that marriage, which she says was their second and O'Brien says was a kidnaping, she has refused to talk to any one who did not address her as "Mrs. O'Brien." But yesterday when she and her mother, Mrs. Blanche Eustice, were arraigned on kidnaping warants in Felony court, Miss Eustice nodded her head when the bailif called out her maiden name.

Earlier in the day Miss Eustice and her mother, Mrs. Blanche Eustice, were brought back from Clinton, Ia., on fugitive warants by Mae Fox and Kate Honic, Chicago policewomen.

She Insists on Being Carried.

Mrs. Eustice sat very straight and tossed her hennaed head in court. Her daughter cried and giggled and insisted on being carried in a chair before the judge. Her legs, she said, were rubbery.

Bond for the two women, formerly set for $5,000 apiece, was reduced to $2,500 for Miss Eustice and $1,000 for her mother at the request of Attorney Alfar M. Eberhardt. The bonds were signed, the hearing on the kidnaping was set for March 19, and the two women were freed.

Previously Miss Eustice had been questioned by Gordon Nash, assistant state's attorney. But all she would tell Mr. Nash was that she was pregnant, having first been treated by a physician on Dec. 23, and that she had been twice married to O'Brien—on May 2, 1936, in Louisville, Ky., and on Feb. 3 in Morrison, Ill.

Photographed and Finger Printed.

Mother and daughter were photographed and finger printed by the bureau of identification. Miss Eustice gave her age as 29, her weight as 119, her height as 5 feet 6, and laughed gayly when finger printed.

Miss Eustice's father, Dr. William M. Eustice of Elizabeth, Ill., and five other men have been accused of kidnaping or plotting to kidnap the unwilling [or was he?] bridegroom.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Judge J. M. Braude said that he was not on the bench in the Boys' court on Feb. 23 when John Ciezopka was arraigned on an armed robbery charge, nor on Dec. 28 when Robert Fennessy appeared on a charge of intoxication as was stated in THE TRIBUNE Friday. Judge Joseph B. Hermes heard Ciezopka's case and Judge Stephen Adamowski that of Fennessy, Judge Braude said.

SAVES EX-MATE FROM JAIL TERM ON FEE CHARGE

Mrs. Rose Pavoni, 27 years old, 1939 North Lincoln street, came to the defense of her ex-husband, Dominick, yesterday when her attorney, Kellam Foster, sought to have him jailed for failing to pay the lawyer $100. Pavoni had paid him $50 of the fee as well as $20 a week alimony to Mrs. Pavoni since she divorced him Feb. 16.

"I'm certainly disgusted," Mrs. Pavoni told Judge John C. Lewe of Superior court. "I didn't know my lawyer wanted to send him to jail. He isn't going there if I can help it. I was married to Pavoni nine years and when he says he will pay he means it. There is no sense kicking a man when he's down."

SIX NEW JUDGES TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION.

Three kinds of constitutional government have been recognized. In one the constitution is prepared and adopted by the people and the government is set up by them, it being responsible to them under a fundamental law that can be changed only by them. In another the constitution and charter of liberties have been extorted from the ruler by subordinate men of power or by the people themselves. Then, third, there is the constitution which is handed down from above and given to the people by the ruler himself.

What has been given may be taken away; what has been extorted by force may be destroyed by force; but what has been created by the people can be changed only by them. The American constitution came from the people. The history of English liberty is a long struggle, beginning, say, with Magna Charta, to extort constitutional liberties such as the bill of rights from reluctant rulers. Recently there has been an illustration of what purported to be a constitution handed down from the top. Stalin gave it to the Russians.

The American idea of constitutional government and the subordination of all officials to it goes back beyond the constitutional convention, beyond the revolution, and beyond any manifestation of a wish to break away from the mother country. Americans had been reading a work by Emeric de Vattel, translated into English shortly before the accession of George III. It was in the hands of some of the colonial lawyers, scholars, and political leaders before the British government put into effect its policy of taxation in America.

The English may not have known what the Americans were talking about when the colonists adopted and applied Vattel's doctrin that a constitution bound a government and that the rulers could not transcend its limits. The British had a constitution, said the Americans. It bound the king and parliament. Parliament could not pass laws which were outside its powers. It must submit to the constitution, the fundamental law, when, as Vattel said, the people had established it. Parliaments must obey if they themselves were to have any security. Parliament and ruler found their authority, their tenure, and their safety in the fundamental law. The Americans quoted Vattel in this early period on many occasions, even if the British did not know what they were talking about, and the doctrin has remained imbedded in the American system of government ever since.

Now Mr. Roosevelt, by means which are within the constitution, undertakes to accomplish a purpose which is outside of it. That the means may be valid does not justify the attempt or its object, the thing sought being the subordination of an independent and separate branch of government to the will of the administrative branch. It is within the power of congress to increase the number of judges. It is within the power of the President to appoint them, but if this is to be done in the manner proposed by Mr. Roosevelt the Supreme court will cease to be a branch of government independent of the other two.

The form may be there, but the substance will be lacking. The court will have become merely a subordinate agency for the judicial ratification of acts passed by congress upon the demand of the chief executive. The place of congress, in such a government, may be itself subordinate, but that is always open to correction when the people want to elect independent congressmen. If the court is once filled with men appointed to say yes, its independence may be lost for generations and the precedent for its control would be forever there.

In effect, Mr. Roosevelt proposes to appoint a commission of six justices to redraft and set up a changed constitution, without the consent of the people themselves, although with the approval of their present representatives, and no one knows what will be in that constitution or how long its provisions will be allowed to last.

BETTER SERVICE TO MEXICO.

Four years ago, when railways commenced planning the construction of streamlined trains to answer THE TRIBUNE'S demand for speedier passenger service, articles appeared in the news columns carrying full description of these modernistic efforts. Two years later the efforts of the railways were summarized in a single story accompanied by a grouped picture of the various types of locomotives that had caught the public fancy. The consolidated article was widely quoted in various newspapers and magazines, including a full length translation into Spanish, which appeared with its illustrations in the Mexican railway magazine, Ferronales.

President Antonio Madrazo of the National Railways of Mexico has now announced that he will purchase several streamlined trains for operation between Mexico City and Laredo, El Paso and Guadalajara. "About three months ago we reduced the time from Chicago to Mexico City by about ten hours and with the use of streamlined trains we hope to make further reductions," observed Mr. Madrazo. Another convenience sought is the operation of through cars from Chicago to Mexico City on improved schedules.

Despite torrents of political abuse, the public has never completely lost interest in its railways. It is, therefore, not surprising to find that the revival of railway passenger service that centered at Chicago is highly contagious.

IN DEFENSE OF GREAT-GRANDDAD.

Chicago these days is celebrating its hundredth birthday as an incorporated city. The papers are therefore full of stories about the amazing growth in wealth of this community in a single century. Probably a good many citizens of today wonder why great-grandfather, grandpa, and dad were asleep when all this was going on. Why didn't they cut in? It was there almost for the taking. State and Madison street was a cow pasture and could have been bought at cow pasture prices. A few thousand dollars invested in this or that enterprise thirty, forty, or fifty years ago would have the heirs on easy street today.

It is all true in a measure, but it is also unfair. Great-grandfather, odd as it may seem, did not know very much about his great-grandchildren and didn't keep them constantly in mind as perhaps he should have. He worked hard, supported his family, survived a depression or two, and through it all tried and generally succeeded in paying his bills as they came due. Possibly he bought himself a cottage in a pleasant neighborhood near Ashland avenue. Certainly he had taxes to pay and paid them [score one for the old gentleman] and children to bring up. When he had done all that he didn't seem to have much left with which to buy an easeful life for his heirs a generation or two removed.

Maybe he knew that opportunities for profit were lying all about him, but, for lack of the money to take advantage of them, the knowledge did him no good. Maybe he did step out only to lose his equity in a depression. Maybe he invested in something which didn't quite click. More likely he was the sort of fellow who didn't spend his days and nights scheming how to make a killing. He was more interested in other things.

We oughtn't to be too hard on the old gentleman or his son and grandson. What we have here today in Chicago we owe largely to them. They gave us most of what we think of when we think of the city. They paid for most of our parks and boulevards, they gave us most of our museums and galleries, they built most of our public services and the vast majority of our buildings. They gave us our libraries and most of the books in them. We are still riding in the street cars our fathers bought, on the roadbed they laid. The gas we cook with comes through the mains they put down.

We have widened a few streets and built some new ones, added a few hundred acres of park [the forest preserve is probably our largest contribution to the future] and we have built a museum or two and some handsome public buildings. It it just possible that our descendants will have quite as much reason to marvel at our neglect of them as we have to marvel at the way our forefathers overlooked us.

Granddad had no better opportunity to lay the foundation for a fortune than was presented to us a year or so ago wher prices were at rock bottom. Those of us who failed to take advantage of that golden moment—and the reasons were probably pretty much like granddad's—have no reason to complain of his lack of foresight. We are heavily indebted to him as matters stand; more heavily, in all probability, than our descendants will be to us.

LEXINGTON AND CONCORD.

A Concord, Mass., town meeting has voted against an appropriation of $1,000 to light up the spot where the embattled farmers turned back the British expedition from Boston, which was hunting their military stores to destroy them. Allen French, New England historian, objected because the flood lighting of the battle scenes would destroy the feeling one could have for them at night and the townspeople, considering also that $1,000 is $1,000, agreed with him and not with Edward L. McKenna, who said Concord had allowed Lexington to steal the whole show. All the world had heard of Lexington as the place where the first shot heard around the world was fired, whereas that was Concord's glory and not Lexington's.

Lexington might be thought to have stumbled into its fame. Capt. Parker's company, hurried out of their homes by the report that the red coats were coming and later drawn up in lines on the village commons, had an uncertain idea of what they were there to do when the Britishers did come. If Maj. Pitcairn, in command of the first outfit to arrive, had had his way, no shots would have been fired at the line on the green. An inadvertence brought on a volley and some patriots were killed. Pitcairn regretted it then and he had more cause a few hours later, because the sacrifice of the men at Lexington was what enraged the musketmen who swarmed on the British detachment at Concord and precipitated the running fight back into Boston. The revolution was then on its way and the British never again got further out of Boston than Breed's Hill and Charlestown until they sailed away in their transports, evacuating the city to their triumphant besiegers.

Lexington is more the magic word in the American patriotic vocabulary than Concord, although Concord saw the fighting and Lexington barely more than the lighting of the fuse. The townsfolk of Concord no doubt reflected that $1,000 worth of flood lights would not enable them to catch up with the legend of Lexington and $1,000 not spent was $1,000 saved.

Editorial of the Day

EASY MONEY.

[Washington Post.]

Nowadays it pays to have a jaundiced eye. Time was when inanities spotted in the public print would net a man no more than the somewhat twisted and altogether unnegotiable satisfaction of seeing them reprinted in a smart magazine. But today, when they can be reached behind their barricades, the editors of the New Republic will pay a dollar apiece for such items. Here is a sample of what they like, and entertaining it is, too:

> Most of the debutantes and sub-debs, our so-called "play-boys," are hard working women and men in the business world. Some are clerks in department stores, some do secretarial work, some even do menial labor.—From a letter signed "Polly" in the New York Times.

A footnote in the Bandwagon column in which this appears advises that "readers are invited to contribute." No stipulation is made concerning sources of contributions. That being so, some one should be able to pick up some easy money by clipping a sentence from the current issue of the New Republic itself. But it ought to be worth two dollars instead of one. It's a natural. Here it is, from an article entitled "Unpacking the Supreme Court," by Leon Green:

"Had the President's message on the judiciary not come at a time when an inpasse existed between the New Deal and the Supreme court it would have been hailed by lawyers and the press as statesmanship of the first order."

PREFERENCE.

The fashion magazines tell us that short skirts are again vogue. Once, in the first era of the shorts, an argument developed as I was making a dress for a high school age daughter. It was all about the fittin' and proper length. Said I, exasperated: "Child, it's got to be a decent length." Came the wailing reply: "I don't want to be decent; I want to be stylish."

Strange Effect of Spring.

[Escanaba Daily Press, via M. L. R.]

Warm sunshine Thursday brought out baby buggies on Escanaba streets, and caused water to flood many sidewalks. The temperature Wednesday night barely went to freezing, and a light snowfall added to the surpus water Thursday.

COAXING THE QUOTES.

Just a few jabs for you to attend to around the office. Please induce Harold Gray to cease using quote marks when Orphan Annie addresses—or speaks of—"Daddy" Warbucks. Then coax your writers to desist from referring to the days when Chicago was a village. It never was. And stop the whole staf from using "following" when "after" is meant. Useless, this last; you couldn't do it.

But when spring comes through
Who would give a snow-drop bud

FROM THE CRYSTAL BALL.

We now don our prophetic whiskers and give the people a glimpse into the America of 1957. The highways from Chicago to Los Angeles will be lined in toto with hot puppy stands. . . . Every mountain in the country will be completely covered with billboards, so that people who don't like green landscapes won't be bothered. . . . There will be two social workers to every relief client, instead of one social worker to two relief clients, as at present. . . . The total number of federal judges will exceed 1,700,000, ranging in age from 10 to 69 years, and competition will be so keen that each one will carry a bench around with him so he'll be sure of a seat in his courtroom. . . . The largest national magazine will print nothing but the names of the other national magazines, and will thus differ from them, as the others will have nothing but nude art poses. . . . There will be two cars in every garage, two trailers to every car, and two hitch-hikers to every trailer. . . . All the manual labor for the nation will be done by nine Mexicans named Pedro Rodriguez, who will play guitars in their spare time for Major Bowes' amateurs.

VICTORY AND VITTLES.

All the Democrats got out of dinner at a hundred bananas a plate was a lot of vittles you can't even pronounce. Down Hoosier way how different it would have been! No amontillado sherry, no crout au chaud farci, no gateau parfait; but your menu would have included about four dozen fried chickens, a three foot mountain of mashed spuds, a milk can full of butter beans, and quite a mess of stewed tomatoes. I can't mention everything, but there would have been a half barrel of gravy and some angel cake for each diner.

THE FAINTING TENDENCY.

THERE was a time—a hundred years ago and more—when innumerable parasitic quacks preyed upon the popular "desire to believe." Perhaps there was much more illness; at any rate, hundreds of remedies were sold at exorbitant prices, most of which were without the slightest value. Charlatans established themselves as healers of fits, of worms, of water on the head, of broken bones, etc. There were probably more specialists than there are today. One man cured gravel [stones in the bladder], another hernia, etc. Little effort was put forth to ascertain the origin of any disease—that came later with the discovery of bacteria. Treatment was directed solely to the alleviation of symptoms.

From the heyday of quackery the question of fainting attacks has been the subject of much concern and we may be thankful that we are not called upon to imbibe the nauseous mixtures designed for relief, some of which contained 100 separate ingredients. Today we know that there are many causes for fainting, collapse, or what is known as syncope.

As we can well understand, consciousness is maintained so long as the brain is supplied with an adequate amount of blood. Should anything occur that decreases the circulation to this part of the body coma may supervene.

Many women will show a tendency to faint easily and we may say that they represent a rather high strung type with a delicately regulated nervous system. Shocks, frights, and fatigue are contributing factors. Sometimes these persons are in a hair trigger balance. This is exemplified when some one of a group appears predisposed to collapse on the slightest provocation.

Inciting factors are: Standing for long periods of time where the air is close, hot, stuffy rooms, going without a meal, too much exertion during convalescence from illness, or any mental shock that fills the mind with fear. In all such conditions the blood pressure is low.

There is a type of syncope which is associated with posture. After a long illness which has confined the patient in bed, the sitting up process must be gradual. There are many reports in which an individual has fainted because he was permitted to resume an upright position too abruptly or too soon. The best procedure is to elevate the head of the bed a little at a time, increasing the angle slightly on succeeding days.

If the pulse is unduly slow—25 to 35 per minute—heart block should be thought of. Should one show a tendency to irregular but frequent periods of collapse, a careful study should be made of the heart and the beat regulating mechanism of that organ. Such instances are, however, relatively rare.

Occasionally the habit of fainting is a hysterical manifestation. We may recall the career of "fainting Bertha," whose antics became a front page story some years ago. This was hysteria coupled with a considerable amount of cleverness. Bertha could faint at will and so simulate true collapse that those about her were completely deceived, only to find later that pocketbooks or articles of jewelry had been purloined by an accomplice during the performance.

As a rule, the duration of the attack is not longer than a few minutes, particularly if the patient can be placed in a favorable situation where the circulation will reassert itself, dispatching blood from the abdominal areas to the brain. Changing the position, getting into the fresh air, and bending forward so as to squeeze the abdomen against the thighs will often abort one of these affairs. Heat is helpful, as the skin is usually cold to the touch. Sometimes a whiff or two of ammonia will be serviceable. The oft applied remedy of giving the patient a small amount of brandy is not advised. He may be unable to swallow and some of the liquid may be taken into the lungs. If unconsciousness continues for more than a few minutes a physician should be called. After recovery occurs the patient should be allowed to remain quiet for a half hour or so before resuming activity.

ENCEPHALITIS.

M. D. writes: After having read your article on encephalitis I would like to present the English conception of the disease. According to them it is strictly a nasal infection. This opinion is based upon ninety-two post-mortems performed by Yates and Ives upon patients whose deaths were attributed to encephalitis. Ninety of this number showed a definite sphenoiditis, the process extending to the vascular and nervous tissue of the brain which is, I believe, the lesion produced by encephalitis. These findings were corroborated by others. It is true that sphenoid infections are often difficult to diagnose, as the X-ray findings may be negative. I fully agree with your view regarding the prevention of nasal passage infections by the use of antiseptic solutions.

REPLY.

I have read the article by Eden and Yates in the British Medical Journal. I suppose you have followed the work of the United States public health service under Armstrong and others, who have advocated a picric acid-alum nose wash as a preventive. Recently Schultz has recommended 1 per cent zinc sulphate. It is very difficult to test the efficacy of these solutions accurately. How do we know that the persons with whom the solutions were used would otherwise have developed encephalitis? All the controled experimental work has been performed on monkeys.

BURNING FEET.

G. P. writes: A friend advised me to sprinkle powdered alum in my shoes to help relieve burning feet. Is this all right? What would you recommend?

REPLY.

A good grade of talcum powder will probably be as efficient. The use of alum in some quarters has come about because of its astringent action. In contact with the skin it will decrease sweating. A satisfactory mixture for this purpose consists of one part powdered alum, two parts boric acid, and seven parts of talcum powder. A light coating of this material may be used between the toes and on the soles of the feet.

TONGUE BITING.

L. W. C. writes: Will you please explain why one is tempted to bite one's tongue?

REPLY.

Biting one's tongue is a nervous habit. Watch yourself closely with "control" in mind. You might try chewing gum. This will give you something substantial to chew.

20 Years Ago Today

MARCH 6, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—Attorney General Gregory has given President Wilson an offhand opinion that the executive possesses the authority in his own right to supply American ships with defensive armament and that an almost forgotten statute of 1819 creates no bar to the provision of defense against German submarines.

HAVANA.—H. L. Mencken, Berlin correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, who arrived here on the Spanish steamer Alfonso XIII. among the first American refugees brought from Germany since the diplomatic break, said "it is scarcely true that Ambassador Gerard was held as a hostage by the Germans and it is wholly untrue that Americans in Berlin were deprived of their liberty or subjected to other indignities, but there were some ticklish moments during the historic week of Feb. 4."

CHICAGO.—The substitution of an entire roster of women city officials of Evanston for the present men officials, who spend their days in their offices in Chicago and only part of their nights at home in Evanston, is suggested by Mrs. Anna Rew Gross, wife of Attorney Alfred H. Gross.

HAVANA.—President Menocal sent a message to congress requesting authority to suspend the constitutional guarantees and asking for appropriations necessary to quell the rebellion.

HOBOKEN, N. J.—With the arrest here of Fritz Kolb, a German, authorities expressed the belief they had frustrated a well developed plot to aid Germany by blowing up munition plants in this country engaged in turning out contracts for the entente allies. Police say they found in Kolb's room two bombs which, it was rumored, were to be sent to President Wilson.

NEW YORK.—Approximately 50,000 Germans in the United States who have been unable since the beginning of the war to get back to the fatherland to fight with the Teutonic allies have left this country for Mexico during the last thirty days. Almost every one of these men is a German reservist. Each has left under orders and gone to a definite point in Mexico to report to a specified individual.

TRUST AGREEMENT.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a life interest in a trust fund held by a bank. Recently [1] I have come to an agreement with the residuary legatees to divide the assets of the trust fund, thereby closing the trust. I have so far handled it without an attorney but now need the following information:

2. What papers between me and the other [residuary] heirs are necessary?

3. Can I trust their attorney to prepare them?

4. What papers are necessary between me and the bank and who should prepare them?

5. Could all these papers be included in one document and signed at the same time? I should have said that the residuary legatees are all corporations in Illinois. According to terms of the trust I am allowed part of the principal in case of certain emergencies.

6. Please give me a complete account of the correct procedure to close the trust according to our agreement.

J. M. B.

1. The trustee is in a position to insist on carrying out the original trust agreement. You do not state whether he has acquiesced in your new arrangement.

2. It is hardly praticable for us to answer without knowing the wording of the instrument creating the trust, the nature of the assets and whether the trustee is acquiescing in any arrangement.

3. You are in a better position than we are to size up his trustworthiness and also to weigh the question whether points are involved in your settlement which might be decided for or against you.

4. See 3.

5. See preceding answers.

6. Offhand we would say that you should employ an attorney.

BICYCLES AT NIGHT.

Chicago, March 1.—Your editorial, "Bicycles at Night," is indeed timely. It is high time some thought was given to the safety of the thousands of cyclists who ride on our streets and boulevards. It is estimated that there are at least 100,000 bicycles in use in Chicago, a sufficiently large number to deserve consideration as a trafic problem. Under the law the bicycle is a vehicle and the highest courts have always upheld the cyclist's equal rights with all other vehicles on the public streets and roads.

For their own protection cyclists should obey all trafic rules and regulations. An ordinance requiring every cyclist to carry a lamp and warning signal was in force in Chicago long before the automobile came into use. This ordinance should be dusted off and strictly enforced. It should be apparent to any one that riding at night without an effective head and tail light is very dangerous practice.

Quite a number of cities now require that bicycles be licensed and registered each year, the fee being set at 50 cents to $1 per year. The main object is to provide a means of cutting down bicycle thievery, which it has done in every case. I do not think the plan would help in the enforcement of the lighting ordinance. The trafic cops could do the job better. However, licensing bicycles might lead to giving cyclists a better break in the matter of the recognition of their rights. At present they have no voice. Millions are being spent in Chicago for the benefit of motorists, a large proportion of whom live outside of the city and contribute no taxes to it, but not one cent has been spent to provide safety and convenience for the cyclists. And they are not all children, by any means, for bicycles are used by thousands of grown-ups, from 16 to 60.

SUPPORT OF THE SCHOOLS.

Riverside, Ill., Feb. 25.—Can you do something to impress the parents of Chicago and the state of Illinois that, instead of having to procure emergency legislation time after time for their schools, they should unite in demanding of our representatives of the people in Springfield adequate funds for all the schools all of the time?

Illinois is the third richest state in the Union and thirty-sixth in its support of the schools by the state. There are only eleven states ranking lower than we do. Please help us to educate our children to meet their responsibilities in comparison to those of the rest of these glorious United States, for our children are the state of tomorrow.

ANXIOUS MOTHER.

THAT'S WHAT THEY SAID IN ITALY.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 26.—Why all this silly chatter about dictatorship? And the loud wailing over packing the court? Are the decisions of five controled-by-special-privilege justices in a Supreme court of nine any safer for America than the concerted opinions of nine favored-by-we-the-people justices in a court of fifteen are sure to be? Five can be kept in line much easier than nine.

PAUL ARMSTRONG.

WHEN WE GO TOTALITARIAN.

Chicago, March 1.—Your editorial "When We Go Totalitarian" in Saturday morning's TRIBUNE clearly suggests the implications inherent in hard and fast mandatory neutrality legislation. Not only would this kind of mandatory neutrality legislation mean a very strict regimentation of American business in case of a war anywhere in the world, but it would necessarily involve a similar regimentation long before any war breaks out. As soon as it becomes known around the world that when a world war breaks out the United States will cut off all trade with the belligerents, all nations who might become involved in a war, even as victims, will begin to work toward self-sufficiency well in advance of the outbreak of war. As a consequence of such a tendency the chances of Americans to sell goods abroad will be materially reduced and it will become necessary for the government of the United States to reshape our economy to take care of the men thrown out of work in this way. Worst of all, mandatory neutrality legislation makes it practically impossible for the United States to cooperate in preventing the outbreak of a war. There is at the present time no bill before the congress of the United States which adequately considers the rights and interests of American business men, workers, and farmers.

COURT REFORM.

South Bend, Ind., March 2.—I am heartily in accord with the President's proposal to increase the number of Supreme court judges, but I believe in quality instead of quantity.

There is only one lawyer that is capable of being chief justice of the Supreme court. You couldn't get six other qualified lawyers.

Why not increase the number of Supreme court justices to ten, make the President of the United States ex officio chief justice of the Supreme court? Provide by law that all opinions be written by the chief justice; let him use his own discretion as to whether or not any other judge should have an opinion.

ANDREW N. HILDEBRAND.

FOR LONGER HOURS.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—I have a suggestion for your correspondent, Mr. Hagely, who wants longer working hours. Let him get employment in any drug store, as porter, soda man, clerk or registered pharmacist. In a day or two he will be wondering when he is supposed to eat and sleep. He also can have a split shift without asking for it, and in that way he can meet himself going to and from work.

LEANING ON SHOVELS.

Chicago, March 2.—For the last nine days 10 to 12 WPA workers have been grading a vacant lot located at the corner of Greenview and Cullom avenues. The work is still going on and when it will be completed no one knows.

One man hired by an individual could do the grading in two days.

RUSSIA PREPARES A TREASON TRIAL FOR EX-PREMIER

Ousts Rykov and Editor from Party Ranks.

MOSCOW, March 5.—(AP)—Another treason trial of men once high in the bolshevist régime was believed tonight to be in prospect for soviet Russia.

There were authoritative indications that the principals would be Alexis I. Rykov, one president of the council of people's commissars—a post corresponding to the premiership in other governments—and Nikolai Bukharin, former editor of Izvestia, government organ. Both were expelled tonight from the communist party.

The two were charged with antiparty activity.

A trial of these two would be the third of its kind in recent months. Sixteen men, including Gregory Zinoviev and Leon Kamenev, were convicted of treason last July and executed. Seventeen others were similarly convicted in January and 13 of them were shot, the other four receiving prison terms.

Rykov for ten years was premier of the soviet union, and was actual heir to Lenin's mantle but not his power, which Stalin reserved for himself.

During the civil war in Russia he was intrusted with provisioning the Red army. He was appointed to carry out Lenin's work of premier and ultimately, after Lenin's death in 1924, was named chairman of the council of people's commissars.

Rykov and Bukharin, it was indicated, will be headliners of a group of some 15 to 20 persons comprising the so-called right center charged with conspiring for the overthrow of bolshevism.

Party Structure Examined.

The official communique announcing the expulsions also disclosed adoption of a resolution affecting the entire communist party structure. It said:

"The plenum [full assembly] of the central committee of the communist party which has just closed examined the anti-party activity of Bukharin and Rykov and expelled them from the ranks of the party. The plenum also discussed questions pertaining to economy and party structure and passed all necessary decisions."

The plenum also adopted a resolution pertaining to the approaching elections for the supreme council. These elections follow adoption of the new constitution last December. Supreme council will replace the present central executive committee and the all union congress of soviets abolished under the new constitution.

Secret Voting Adopted.

A reform to introduce democracy and secret direct voting for lower officials of the party was announced. The new constitution is responsible for the voting reform. It guarantees direct and secret voting for all except those specifically disfranchised.

The communique declared the communist party would continue leadership of national affairs, but said the undemocratic régime in lower ranks must be eliminated. Seven reform rules were announced, but these will not affect the power of the party at the top.

DENTIST'S STORY OF GIRL'S DEATH SIFTED CLOSELY

Charlottesville, Va., March 5.—[Special.]—Declaring he was far from satisfied with Dr. R. G. Miller's explanation of the chloroform-death of pretty Cleo Sprouse, Commonwealth's Attorney W. O. Fife today said the middle aged dentist would be taken before the grand jury here in April.

Miller is held in the Henrico jail at Richmond on a warant charging him with murder. He made a written statement that the 18 year old high school student died of chloroform as he prepared to perform an abortion in an automobile.

Prosecutor Fife said the dentist's story was too incomplete and "lacked many of the salient details" which police officers said were contained in a midnight statement Miller made orally on a dark road as he was being driven to Richmond on Wednesday.

Miller insisted he was not responsible for the girl's condition and that he consented to attempt an operation only upon her urgent request. The girl died under the anaesthetic, he said, a minute after it was administered and before he had started the abortion.

British Empire Builders Color Literary Scene

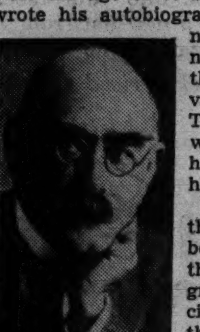
Lives of Three Great Men and an Autobiography.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

BRITISH empire builders are the towers on the week's literary skyline, with the publication of books on the lives of three great statesmen and an autobiography of the greatest of the empire building writers. And if you think that books do not build empires—or tear them down—you don't know your history. And incidentally of the five great English names associated with these four books—Balfour, Grey, Marlborough, Churchill, and Kipling—just ask yourself which one is known farthest and widest.

Kipling's Own Story, as Told by Himself.

"Something of Myself," by Rudyard Kipling. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.50.] Published last Friday.



Rudyard Kipling.

At the age of 70 Rudyard Kipling wrote his autobiography. He made no public announcements of this most private of pursuits. The manuscript was found among his papers after his death.

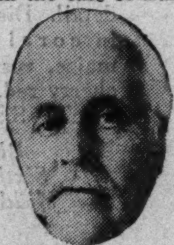
He well knew that there would be, of him as there is of all great men—especially English—the official biography. He had read enough of them in his lifetime to know pretty exactly what his own would say. There were things about himself that he alone knew and he alone could tell. Wisely, and to our infinite gain, he told those things himself. But those things are by no means the effluvia of physical and psychological intimacy that fill some modern autobiographies. They are the pattern of his life, the significant events in it in their relation to his work.

Just that much and no more does Kipling tell, and yet, in a noble sense, he tells all. There are few glittering names studding the pages of "Something of Myself," but there is a fine armored character in them.

Kipling, the imperialist, became in the rush of a new national culture as historic a monument as the Magna Charta, and as dated. But Kipling, once the most powerful individual writer in the British empire, will live as long as his age lives in history. The reasons for that immortality are cogent in "Something of Myself," the most modest of autobiographies, one of the most revealing of all writers' records of what made them writers and why and how they wrote.

Balfour's Biography Done by His Niece.

"Arthur James Balfour," by his niece, Blanche C. Dugdale. [Putnam, 2 vols., $10.] Published Monday.



Arthur Balfour.

The inevitable official biography of the great man is, in the case of Balfour, done by the person he chose to do it. Balfour published before his death an autobiography which covered much of his earlier life. Before his death he did everything to help his niece in the compilation of the data for this life.

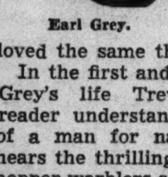
But, as the author explains, Balfour was extremely casual about papers. They sometimes littered the floor of his sitting room or "the counterpane of his bed." When they were "excavated" and collated they formed the skeleton of this lengthy, well documented, impressive account of a man who all his political life long was essentially the philosopher who wrote a book, "Defence of Philosophic Doubt," in 1879, in the beginning of his political career.

To American readers much of the intricate byplay of politics which fills the pages is Greek and as dead as that language. They will be interested more in the fine figure of a British statesman which fills the pages than they will in the details of his statesmanship. They will also be interested in the growth of a man's ideas.

The most dyed in the wool Tory in modern British history in his earlier years, he learned compromise in his later life. His "philosophic doubt" worked!

Grey's Life Unfolded by Intimate Friend.

"Grey of Falladon," by George Macaulay Trevelyan. [Houghton-Mifflin, $3.75.] Published Tuesday.



Earl Grey.

If Earl Grey could have chosen a biographer, George Macaulay Trevelyan, his friend and neighbor, probably would have been his choice. Trevelyan is a great historian in his own right in a line of great historians, but he is also a man who knew and loved the same things that Grey did.

In the first and last phases of Earl Grey's life Trevelyan makes the reader understand the true passion of a man for nature. One almost hears the thrilling voice of the grasshopper warblers and feels the "lovely refuge" of the cottage in the Itchen valley or of Falladon.

But there is no lovely refuge in the pages which deal with the eleven momentous years in which Earl Grey carried England through threats of war into the war itself, and finally awoke, in the black days, with no more strength to spend and things forever black before him.

The part of the book dealing with the years between 1905 and 1916, when Grey "was the mouthpiece of England to foreign nations," is historically the most interesting, of course. In it Trevelyan says unequivocally that, no matter what his critics have said, Grey could not have averted the war, and explains why.

The Fifth Volume on Marlborough's Life.

"The Years of Mastery," by the Rt. Hon. Winston S. Churchill. [Scribners, $4.50.] Published yesterday.

Winston Churchill.

Two great names are linked in this volume—a contemporary and his great forbear. This fifth volume of the life and times of Marlborough takes the great soldier and statesman to the end of the famous campaign of 1708.

Winston Churchill declares that this volume has a peculiar interest for us today because "we see a world war of a league of nations against a mighty, central military monarchy hungering for domination . . . we see in their extremes the feebleness and selfish shortcomings of a numerous coalition."

This lengthy and scholarly life of Marlborough, which Winston Churchill will finish with a sixth volume next year, is not only the definitive biography of one of England's great historical figures but a monument also to one of England's contemporary first caliber minds, for Winston Churchill proves himself here rare as historian and statesman.

NEW NOVEL OUT

Dorothy Aldis, well known Chicago and Lake Forest matron, whose novel, "Time at Her Heels," published this week, tells of one harried day in a suburban woman's life.

Day in Wife's Life Told with Infinite Charm

"Time at Her Heels," by Dorothy Aldis. [Houghton-Mifflin, $2.] Published Tuesday.

COMMON experiences of childhood simply shared have made Dorothy Aldis' poems for children, "Here, There, and Everywhere," beloved by children everywhere. It is that same quality of common experience simply shared that will make "Time at Her Heels" the talk of tea tables here, there, and everywhere. There will not be one feminine reader whose life is bounded on the east by her husband, on the west by her children, on the north by her relatives, and on the south by her friends who will not FEEL herself in Mary Strong's boots, with time at her heels.

Not all in one day, as it happens to Mary, but at some time or other most of the events which crowd her have crowded the life of every suburban housewife—getting the children off to school, the husband off to work, a laundress to the hospital for an operation, an old and slightly crochety maiden aunt to the dressmaker, a house-bound uncle calmed down over his nurse's "neglect," a friend buried, her husband consoled, a "naughty" child disciplined.

Most of the situations are common to urban as well as suburban life. There is no one locus for the ardent gentleman who fascinates the good woman. And city schools close with the same pain to the listening parents of piece-speaking children as do country day schools.

All women have known one of those days when everything goes wrong, when life surrounds them like a white man surrounded by speardrawn savages in a movie thriller. Such a day Mrs. Aldis sets down with the rare charm of utter reality.

The children in "Time at Her Heels" are as children's children as we know in modern fiction. None of the Christopher Robin about them!

"Time at Her Heels" has no message, tells no special story. There is no growth or deterioration of character in its pages. And yet it has a reality and an immediate charm that many another more pretentious opus never achieves. F. B.

Reveals Mistake in Translating Title of Famed Chekov Play

"The Cherry Orchard," the title by which the English speaking world knows Anton Chekov's most famous play, is an erroneous translation from the original title, according to the fascinating life of "Anton Chekov" [Columbia University Press, $3], by Princess Nina Andronikova Toumanova.

Chekov's Russian title, "Vishnevy Sad," means the cherry garden, not the cherry orchard. The title was used symbolically, the author of the biography points out, and the student Trofimov, before he leaves the house forever, says, "All Russia is our garden."

The author also declares that Chekov himself did not regard "The Cherry Garden" as a drama, let alone a tragedy. He contended it was "a comedy, sometimes even a farce." Stanislavsky, director of the famous Moscow Art theater, also recollected that Chekov was surprised when the play was thought to be gloomy—which seems certainly a commentary on the Russian temperament.

Prize Mystery Story Author Recalls His 700 Rejection Slips

Anthony Morton, whose "The Man in the Blue Mask" [Lippincott, $2] won the recent mystery prize of $7,500, says that he collected more than 700 rejection slips before he sold his first article for about $2.75.

With one week between him and the closing date of the mystery novel contest, he still had 10,000 words to write and the whole thing to revise. He worked day and night, turned in his manuscript on the morning of the closing day and months later was notified of his success, thus proving that haste doesn't always make waste.

Meetings and Lectures

Percy H. Boynton, professor of English, University of Chicago, will discuss "The Market: The Square Deal, the New Deal and Other Deals" at 6:45 p. m. Tuesday at the Art institute in his series of lectures on "Social Institutions in American Literature."

Lin Yutang, author of "My Country and My People," will speak in Mandel hall of the University of Chicago at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday on "The Reasonable Spirit." He will give a talk on "The Chinese Way of Life" at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday at the Fortnightly club for the New England church literary series.

Prof. Fred B. Millett of the University of Chicago will discuss modern attitudes in nonfiction and will present a picture, as he sees it, of literature in 1937 at the Chicago Woman's club, 72 East 11th street, on Wednesday at 11 a. m.

Among Recent Mysteries

A Yarn Which Mixes Science and Murder.

"The Long Death," by George Dyer. [Scribners, $2.]

Here's a fascinating mystery yarn to intrigue readers who like science mixed with their murders. A realistic effect is gained by the use of footnotes, which refer to real crimes and to scientific articles; through amusing chapter headings, which are in newspaper lingo and are set up in news type, and with photographic illustrations of exhibits A, B, etc. connected with the crime.

George Dyer is full of clever tricks, but the smartest of them all is to have the mystery solved by the combined efforts of the members of the Catalyst club, experts in their various fields who make highly intelligent volunteer sleuths.

The locale is San Francisco, where John Gregory Hunter dies in strange fashion on the eve of his greatest scientific discovery. A second crime is the kidnaping of one of the members of the club. The author keeps both plots moving with exciting suspense.

This One Provokes Many Good Laughs.

"The Punch and Judy Murders," by Carter Dickson. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.]

"The Punch and Judy Murders" is almost as much fun for the grown-up as a Punch and Judy show for the youngsters.

Granted that a murder can ever provoke a laugh, smiles burst into chuckles over this one—not the murder itself, but the false step of the young detective and his girl who so blithely and all unsuspectingly arrest the one person with whom they're most interested in being on the most friendly terms.

There are five sleuths who spend a whole volume trying to guess the double murderer, which this old mystery hand never did do. The guilty one emerges from almost the last page as much a surprise as a winning sweepstakes ticket to a Brooklyn tailor.

Sparkling Humor in This New Mystery.

"The Unfinished Clue," by Georgette Hyer. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.]

It is rare to find a mystery story that has any humor at all in it. This one fairly sparkles. "The Unfinished Clue" has its grisly moments and its palpitating suspense, but it also has its laughs.

In the long English week-end spent at a country house the reader becomes well acquainted with all the guests. No one cares when the host is murdered, for he was a completely detestable boor, but it is something of a puzzle to find who did it, for each guest had an excellent reason for wanting his death, as did his timid little wife, his son, and his nephew.

The shock of the dénouement is doubly felt, for the reader has grown to know each person concerned and the guilty one is no true criminal. This mystery proves that good writing and intelligent creation of characters, plus the usual unsolved problem, can make a real "thriller."

Unusual and Bizarre Situations Dished Up.

"Dead Men are Dangerous," by Garnet Weston. [Stokes, $2.]

This mystery story has unusual and bizarre situations. It starts with a freight train full of human flotsam and jetsam. Among the tramps are a sensitive, intelligent young woman, her husband and her little son.

Downed by circumstances, but not out, they are stealing a ride to California. Dazzled by their first sight of an orange ranch, they leave the train in the San Bernardino mountains. That is where destiny lies in wait for them.

The orchard is owned by a retired sea captain, who takes a fancy to them and invites them to be his guests. There they meet his three daughters, three harpies waiting for him to die so that they will inherit his fortune. To spite them he announces he is going to leave everything to his new friends.

That night the old man dies a violent death. Before morning dawns others in the house are killed. A shrewd newspaper man and a drifter who looms up out of the night try to solve the mysteries. The final pages are full of surprises. E. D. W.

SATURDAY NEWS OF NEW BOOKS

A Quartet of Recent Books About Mexico

And Each One Is Unique in Its Special Way.

AMERICANS have suddenly become Mexico conscious. Four books on Mexico have come from the publishers within the month, each one unique in its way.

"Portrait of Mexico," by Diego Rivera and Bertram D. Wolfe [Covici-Friede, $4.75]. Published Tuesday.

Mexico's most famous artist, Diego Rivera, whose murals decorate the Detroit museum and were spectacularly removed from Radio City, has decorated the walls of Mexico's most important buildings, proclaiming not only a new but recording an old Mexico.

Rivera is considered one of the great artists of modern times. This volume collects photographs of his greatest murals in Mexico and precedes 249 plates with 211 pages of text which is a combination of history and description of Mexico and an interpretation of its people.

Bertram Wolfe not only illumines Rivera's murals for the reader who knows too little of what they represent fully to understand them uncoached, but he illumines the physical, historical, and psychical background of modern Mexico. In the truest sense the reader, after perusing his pages, knows what all the shooting's about.

Max Miller Writes of His Observations.

"Mexico Around Me," by Max Miller [Reynal & Hitchcock, $2.50]. Published last Wednesday.

Max Miller.

Almost another Mexico, although not at all the usual guidebook Mexico, is the one found in the pages of Max Miller's "Mexico Around Me." Any reader of his immensely popular "I Cover the Waterfront" would know that Max Miller would never have Baedecker lenses in his sightseeing glasses. They will also know that sights and sounds are by no means all that intrigue Mr. Miller. To him no landscape is a living one without its humankind in the foreground.

In this book he makes no pretense of "understanding" the Mexican. He frankly says in one place: "And I have seen their most faithful animal of all, the burro, bearing tight cinches around open sores, flyblown, raw, and rotting. But then I have seen the peons themselves bearing heavy loads over open sores, flyblown, and raw. The animals of the poor and the poor themselves have so much in common that to share their discomforts appears to be more reasonable than to try to baby them. . . . It all becomes quite a mix-up after a time."

New Literary Prize Awarded This Novel.

"El Indio," by Gregorio Lopez y Fuentes. [Bobbs Merrill, $2.50.] Published last Wednesday. Winner of the first national prize for literature in Mexico.

Perhaps to prove that there is beauty in man's creation as well as nature's in Mexico, the Mexican government has inaugurated an annual prize for a novel depicting life there. Mexico's most famous artist, Diego Rivera, was so delighted with the book chosen for the first award that he offered to illustrate it.

"El Indio," by our standards, is in no sense a novel. It records in unforgettable pictures the native life in a Mexican village visited in the beginning of the book by white men in search of the fabled gold dust and gold mines.

Whatever action there is in the story is caused by their arrival, for there is a native uprising against them when they torture their guide, who will not take them to the gold, and the racking of his body precipitates a local feud when his betrothed is given to another by the native judges.

But the plot of the book is so fragile as to be merely a sequence of memorable, at times terrifically vivid, pictures of a strange civilization rather than character motivations. Indeed, the reader never even knows the names of the characters. He does know, however, and won't soon forget, that passionate but placid, lazy but overworked, physically brave but witch terrified group of Indians who people the pages of "El Indio."

The author, Lopez y Fuentes, still in his thirties, is a newspaper man in Mexico City, but he was born and grew up in a remote village in the state of Vera Cruz, just such a village as "El Indio."

A Pocket Guidebook Full of Illustrations.

"Mexico in Your Pocket," by Jean Austin [Doubleday - Doran, $2.50]. Published Feb. 5.

Max Miller says: "The lavish articles on Mexico by the dealers in superlatives have tended to give the impression that the whole country is a paradise for any one who can put his money down on the counter and buy a ticket." Of all the "lavish" articles and books about Mexico that have been published recently this gay little one most effectively lures the reader to "put his money down on the counter and buy a ticket." F. B.

A Self-Portrait

SOME IMPORTANT RECENT BOOKS

FICTION.

The East Wind, the first of a proposed tetrology, by Compton Mackenzie [Dodd, Mead, $2.75], depicts the adolescence and youthful maturity of a young Englishman.

Hortensius, by Edith Pargoter [Greystone Press, $2.50], weaves a romance through the diary of a Roman soldier of Nero's time.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Angry Dust, by Nikolai Gubsky [Oxford, $3.50], chronicles the author's life as son of a Russian government official, but contains no politics and few prominent names.

AE's Letters to Minanlabain [Macmillan, $2] is a collection of intimate and casual letters written by AE to the late Kingsley Porter and his wife.

NONFICTION.

Federal Justice, by Homer Cummings and Carl McFarland [Macmillan, $4], reveals behind-scenes information about the federal courts.

Book Views and Reviews in Brief

"King of Bullfighters" in an Autobiography.

"Juan Belmonte: Killer of Bulls," his autobiography, as told to Manuel Chaves Nogales. [Doubleday-Doran, $3.50.]

A Yankee journalist, in interviewing frail Juan Belmonte, Spain's greatest matador, expressed incredulity that such an unheroic figure could be "the king of the bullfighters." Belmonte retorted angrily: "Tell this fool, yes, that I am the king of the bullfighters. Tell him we don't kill bulls with our fists; and, if he can't understand that, tell him that bullfighting is a spiritual exercise, a genuine art."

Bullfighting as an art is the main thesis of Belmonte's autobiography, ably translated by Novelist Leslie Charteris, who supplies an interesting introduction.

Charteris concedes the dominant Anglo-Saxon attitude toward bullfighting, and then invites all the Anglo-Saxons [fox hunters and pigeon shooters included] to withhold their violent opinions. After reading Belmonte's story most of them will agree that playing the bull is as much of an art as ballet dancing; that it has all of the traditional intricacies of the ballet, with death as the partner.

Even the most loyal member of the Humane society will admire Belmonte the man, who started out as a hoodlum in the slums of Seville and became a national hero. C. J. W.

Guatemala Beckons in This Travelogue.

"Guatemala," by Erna Fergusson. [Knopf, $3.]

Guatemala, land of contrasts, looms as the coming tourist Mecca in Central America through the observant eyes of Erna Fergusson.

Wanderlust for the hot and cold tropics grips the armchair traveler within the first few pages of Miss Fergusson's scholarly and exciting book.

From the steaming coastal plain to the crisp climate of the highlands Guatemala offers the visitor every variety of tropical weather, with engrossing, variable beauty of the country.

But Miss Fergusson finds and writes of other attractions—the Indians, descendants of the once proud Mayas who bowed to the Spanish conquistadores; coffee plantations; banana haciendas; native craftsmanship; religious festivals; Spanish aristocrats, and the always recurring, lowly mozo, the Indian. J. H. T.

Another in Parade of War Correspondents.

"Front Line and Deadline," by Granville Fortescue. [Putnam, $3.]

"And I wouldn't like it if it were good!" is a pretty handy sentence for dismissing this last outbreak in a rash of books by war correspondents. Granville Fortescue, who did his corresponding for the London Daily Telegraph, has not done an overly impressive job of authoring after the parade of Vincent Sheehan, Negley Farson, Walter Duranty, David Darrah, Webb Miller, and the others. One must be good to bring up the rear of such a line.

Fortescue went from the University of Pennsylvania into the Hearst service just before the outbreak of the Spanish-American war. When the war came, he was with Roosevelt's Rough Riders. Then he served for a time as an officer in the United States army. He was American military observer at Port Arthur in the Russo-Japanese war, and he has seen most of the world's fighting since then, including a bit of the current Spanish affair.

Two Books of Verse and a Poetic Theory.

"On This Island," by W. H. Auden. [Random, $1.50.]

"Primitivism and Decadence," by Yvor Winters. [Arrow Editions, $2.50.]

Two recent books of verse—"On This Island" and "Road to America"—are almost an answer to the plea that Yvor Winters makes for poetry in the traditional convention in his "Primitivism and Decadence."

Mr. Winters argues that experimental deviation from the traditional means a retreat to primitivism or a falling off into decadence. Decadence can be justified only when it is a point of departure for a new and better convention.

Auden's dedicatory stanza is almost an echo to this. This young Oxonian is still preoccupied with his country's dilettante indifference to the stormclouds that are rolling up over Europe. Perhaps he will become the great poet that his earliest verses promised when he writes of tragedy instead of the premonition of tragedy.

Miss Frost is a competent, professional writer of tailpieces for magazines. She's really very good at that sort of thing as is again demonstrated by some of the shorter poems in the present book. But in the title poem she tries something a little more ambitious. She turns to the growth and development of America. Well, she is no Walt Whitman. However, it is encouraging that American poets still turn to the American scene. E. K.

A Trio of Satisfying Adventure Thrillers.

"Ride on the Wind," by Francis Chichester. [Harcourt-Brace, $2.50.]

This trio of true adventure thrillers outranks the average shilling shocker in rip-snorting but satisfyingly sensational action—two in the air and one on blue water. All have the antipodes as their background, and, oddly enough, all wind up their sky and ocean voyages with forced landings, crashes, or shipwreck.

Errol Flynn knows his sea as well as he does his Hollywood, and he can write as skilfully as he can act. His "Beam Ends" is an uproariously amusing and salty recital of a ribald cruise he and three young companions took in the half century old forty-four foot cutter Sirocco. They sailed from Sydney to New Guinea with hilarious adventures in every port but with tragedy for a final landfall. They crashed on a Papuan reef and one of the quartet was drowned. It's a man's book of the sea told with skill and humor by a born yarn spinner.

In "Flight to Hell" Hans Bertram relates with naive forthrightness one of the most stirring episodes in the history of aviation—the forced landing of two airmen on the barren northerly coast of Australia and their wanderings with almost no food and little water for nearly two months. It is head and shoulders above the average fiction air thriller. Any one who likes true adventure will sail through this melodrama of the sky like a China clipper through a cloud.

"Ride on the Wind" continues the dramatic air adventures of Francis Chichester begun in "Seaplane Solo." As in his first book, he does much of his flying south of the equator. In a small seaplane, with a range of only 500 miles, the author starts back home to England. A crash in Japan ends the flight. Chichester has written an entertaining, instructive, and picturesque book.

Lure of the Tropics Colorfully Set Forth.

"Escape to the Tropics," by Desmond Holdridge. [Harcourt-Brace, $2.50.]

Just about all of us at some time day dream our way to a tropic isle where alarm clocks, politics, and speeders are unknown, where there's not even a morning paper to scan during a breadfruit breakfast. Desmond Holdridge, tired of Manhattan, made this day dream come true.

He and Bet journeyed in different boats to St. John, one of the least known of the Virgin Islands, roused the only official at 3 a. m., and had him perform the first white marriage on that tropic isle in 200 years, at a cost of 40 cents. They then proceeded to live up to the alluring title of "Escape to the Tropics."

Mr. Holdridge is a sort of Yankee Peter Fleming in his forthrightness, honesty, ability to write, and sense of humor. For a year he and Bet lived the life one always likes to think of as typical of the tropics—perfect weather, low rent, jolly friends on nearby islands, no worries, and a small sailing craft.

And then Mr. Holdridge heard about Aviator Redfern disappearing in the South American jungle and he decided to have a try at finding him. The last half of the book tells of this unsuccessful but thrilling trek across Dutch Guiana.

"Escape to the Tropics" should have a wide appeal. It is well mapped and illustrated with excellent drawings by Edward Shenton, plus many good photographs by the author and his wife. A. C.

Illuminating Picture Drawn of Moliere.

"An Actor Named Molière," by Dussane. [Scribner's, $2.50.]

Molière, whose comedies so ably mirror the self-deceits of man, found them no defense against his own headstrong caprices. But this translation of a French book-of-the-month makes understandable his feverish living and working against the illusive background of the 17th century stage.

To Miss Dussane, a member of the Comédie Française, Molière was an actor first, then a playwright. His natural mimicry came first, inspiring his immortal characterizations, in her view.

A great love sheds its light over the pages of this biographical novel—that of Molière's mistress, the actress Madeleine Bejart. It was with her canny aid that he got into the theater, played the provinces, and finally swept Paris.

Trapped by a lie from her past, Madeleine stood mute after twenty years with Molière while he married her "little sister." To the end of her life Madeleine kept her love secret and in this was rival to Molière, the actor. G. H. T.

15 MINUTES A DAY

March 15 Deadline; Free Aid Given by Tribune.

Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue here, said yesterday his office is prepared to handle the last minute rush of income taxpayers during the coming week. The deadline for the filing of the 1936 income tax returns and payment of the first quarterly instalment is on March 15.

The collector reported that up to yesterday approximately 60,000 returns had been received at his office, many by mail, with payments amounting to more than a million dollars. Most of the large payments, he said, are made on deadline day.

File at Tribune's Two Offices.

As in previous years THE TRIBUNE is providing free service to income taxpayers and returns prepared with the aid of deputy collectors can be made out in either of the two Tribune Public Service offices, one in Tribune Tower and the other at 1 South Dearborn street.

Experts at the Tribune Public Service offices explained yesterday some of the confusing problems in filling out the income tax returns. Most persons think the 10 per cent allowance for earned income is deductible from the gross income, they explained, but it is deductible only from the net income.

The sales tax cannot be deducted from income tax, they pointed out, because the wording of the law makes it a tax on the retailer, not the purchaser.

Deputy Collectors on Duty.

Deputy Collector Thomas F. Blanchard and three assistants have been assigned by Mr. Harrison to THE TRIBUNE's loop office while Deputy Collector Walter Orriny and one helper are stationed in the Tower office. These men not only notarize the signatures of taxpayers but fill out the return blanks and give advice on puzzling features of the returns. They are on duty from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

In the rotunda of the United States courthouse two deputy collectors hand out blank forms and taxpayers are then sent to room 201 where a staf of 75 assistants under Chief Deputy Collector Nigel D. Campbell aid in filling out the forms. Payments are made at the cashier's office on the 5th floor. These offices are open from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

ROBERT SALTIEL DIES OF A HEART ATTACK IN HOTEL

Robert Saltiel, 71 years old, former associate editor of the Chicago Abendpost and widely known in German-American circles, died of a heart attack yesterday in the lobby of the Hotel Sinton, 4943 Sheridan road, where he had lived since his retirement four years ago.

Born in Barcelona, Spain, Mr. Saltiel came to this country as a youth. He served on the stafs of numerous newspapers and also as correspondent for various European publications.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning from the undertaking chapel at 5206 Broadway. Burial will be at Graceland cemetery.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

New Phase of Rat War

March 5, 1937.

THE work of exterminating rats [and house mice] on the Wheaton experimental farm will go into the second stage of the campaign next week when several more buildings become the center of operations against the pests. The two first groups of buildings treated for rats will be looked over to see if any of the pests missed the red squill baits left for them. The rats ate heartily in many places, so many of the animals already have been killed.

A Rat's Board Bill.

But as a rule a few of the rats in any building escape the first attack. So it is necessary to examine the runways and holes for signs of occupancy, leave more bread and lard, meat, or grain baits, and then after a few days inspect the place again.

The advantage of using small red squill baits is that you can leave some of them on the premises in the rat runways and burrows where the baits will be "working" to get the animals that failed to eat enough red squill during the first or second treatment of the building.

Only red squill, a vegetable powder that is harmless to dogs, cats, horses, hogs, and poultry, is being used on The Tribune farm. Animals other than rats do not like the pungent powder. And if they should eat some of the powder it will not act as a poison. But what is repugnant to stock is apparently a delicacy to the rat. This being the case, red squill is a safe, reliable agent for killing rats.

Escape First Attack.

Several years ago the department of agriculture made the statement that rats "probably" are decreasing in numbers in cities and on farms. Yet there is every reason to believe that about 40,000,000 rats are in the United States today, each one costing somebody about $5 a year—and this is a low estimate for the "board bill" of a rat Destroyer of farm products, destructive to foods of all kinds in shops, warehouses, and individual homes, and a carrier of disease, the rat is the most serious animal pest in the city or the country.

Although the common brown or house rat on a farm may be controled by several methods, apparently thousands of farmers have overlooked one economic "method" of getting rid of them. This is through the use of a good ratting dog. A plucky rat dog is almost indispensable on a farm where old buildings offer ideal quarters for rats. Small terrier dogs when taught to hunt by themselves often will keep a farm free of rats.

Rat Dog to Get Trial.

Although excellent results in rat extermination are being secured on the experimental farm by the use of red squill baits, we are going to test a good ratter on the experimental farm during the next week. There are several breeds that have been bred to do real work as vermin killers. The fox terrier, Sealyham terrier, Irish terrier, Scotty, schnauzer, and others have been used for many years to kill rats and other animal pests on farms and estates, although not many are given much of a chance to do such work in this country.

In England the owner of a pack of terriers welcomes the chance to turn his dogs loose against a big rat population. Such work is good for the dog and also for the owner of the farm. The fewer the rats on a farm the lower the losses due to the depredations of the pests.

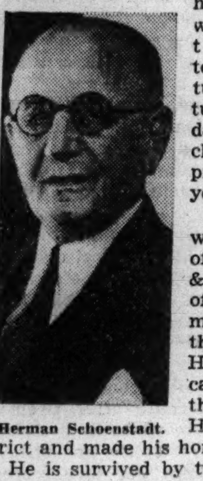
H. SCHOENSTADT, PIONEER MOVIE MAN HERE, DIES

Herman Schoenstadt, retired pioneer motion picture theater owner who had been credited with introducing the nickelodeon to Chicago at the turn of the century, died yesterday in the Michael Reese hospital. He was 86 years old.



Herman Schoenstadt.

Mr. Schoenstadt was the founder of H. Schoenstadt & Sons, operators of a chain of movie houses on the south side. He built the Piccadilly hotel and theater in the Hyde Park district and made his home in the hotel.

He is survived by two sons, Henry and Arthur; a daughter, Mrs. Bertha S. Lindenthal, and two sisters, Mrs. Adolph Feldman, and Mrs. Yetta Kaufman.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 47th street and Ellis avenue. Burial will be in Mount Mayriv cemetery.

BENJAMIN THAW DIES; RETIRED AS DIPLOMAT IN '35

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Benjamin Thaw, 48 years old, for years in the diplomatic service before his retirement two years ago, died today at the medical center for heart disease. He had been ill three weeks.

Mrs. Thaw was Consuelo Morgan, a sister of Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt and Lady Furness. Since Mr. Thaw's retirement he and his wife had lived in Washington. She was with him when he died.

Mr. Thaw was born in Pittsburgh Dec. 11, 1889. His father was Benjamin Thaw of the famous Thaw family. He was graduated from Yale in 1909 and entered the United States diplomatic service in 1915. He had served in Paris, Brussels, Poland, Chile, Buenos Aires, and London. When he retired he was consul in Oslo, Norway.

Besides his widow he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lawrence Slade of Pittsburgh. He had two famous brothers—William Thaw, who was head of the Lafayette escadrille and died three years ago, and Blair Thaw, who was killed during the world war.

Funeral services will be held Monday in Pittsburgh.

Paul Hadamik Funeral Services Will Be Monday

Funeral services for Paul Hadamik, 44 years old, general secretary of the Polish Alma Mater Fraternal organization, will be held Monday morning at 11 o'clock at St. Hyacinth church, with burial in St. Adalbert cemetery, Niles. Hadamik, who lived at 2633 Monticello avenue, died Thursday at St. Mary's hospital. His widow, Rose, and three children, Paul Jr., Dorothy, and Joseph, survive.

OBITUARY.

OTTO BEST, retired railroad and munitions executive, died of heart disease at St. Vincent's hospital, New York, yesterday after a short illness. He was 70 years old. Mr. Best was superintendent and general manager of the Nathan Manufacturing company's locomotive appliance factory. During the war he was in charge of that company's manufacture of fuses and other munitions.

MRS. GABRIELLE GREELEY CLENDENIN, 79 years old, only daughter of the famed editor, Horace Greeley of the New York Tribune, died yesterday at Chappaqua, N. Y. Her husband, the Rev. Frank Montrose Clendenin, pastor of St. Mary the Virgin Episcopal church here, died in 1930. Their grandson, Frank Clendenin Greeley Stahl, survives.

Adrian Rosley, 47 years old, movie actor, died of heart disease at a Hollywood hospital yesterday. He recently appeared in "The King and the Chorus Girl" and "The Garden of Allah." He was a member of The Masquers and the Lambs club of New York.

OVERCOME BY GAS

RICHIE LING, 70, ACTOR, FOUND DEAD IN BED

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Richie Ling, actor who appeared in many Broadway successes, was found dead today in his bed at the Lambs club, to which he had belonged for 40 years. He was 70 years old. His last play was appropriately titled "And Now Good-bye." The piece, in which Philip Merivale was starred, closed on Feb. 22.

Previously he had appeared as leading man with Lillian Russell, Fritzie Scheff and Christie MacDonald and was seen with Jane Cowl in "The Road to Rome," with Mary Boland last season in "Jubilee" and in "The Perfect Alibi," "Yellow Jack," "The Swan," "The Great Waltz," and other plays. Born in England, Ling served as a choir boy and sang as leading boy soloist in several English festivals.

THOS. J. O'GRADY, EX-LEGISLATOR, ALDERMAN DIES

Thomas J. O'Grady, former alderman of the 14th ward and a former state representative, died of heart disease in St. Luke's hospital at 2 o'clock this morning. He entered the hospital two weeks ago. He was 43 years old.

O'Grady had a long record in public service. He served six terms in the state legislature as representative of the Fourth senatorial district and one term in the city council. While a Democrat, he was elected frequently over the opposition of the Democratic machine. As a state representative he championed labor rights, the woman's eight hour law, and similar legislation. In 1926 and again in 1932 he led the fight to repeal the Illinois prohibition search and seizure law. He was the spokesman for the bill legalizing race tracks. He was superintendent of lodging houses and hotels at the time of his death.

Surviving O'Grady are his widow, the former Madeline Koch, whom he married in 1926; two small children, Thomas Jr. and Patricia, and a brother, Capt. Michael Grady. The O'Grady home is at 1118 Garfield boulevard.

J. A. HEMINGWAY DIES SUDDENLY ON FLORIDA TRIP

James Austin Hemingway, lawyer, banker, and former vice president of the board of education, died unexpectedly yesterday in Hollywood, Fla., where he was spending a vacation with his wife, the former Mrs. Grace Doland Paul, whom he married a year ago. Born in Dublin sixty-nine years ago, Mr. Hemingway came to Chicago in 1883 and in 1893 was graduated from the Chicago College of Law. He served for nearly thirty years as secretary of the Foreman Trust and Savings bank. He retired in 1925. In 1927 he was appointed a member of the school board, becoming known as the "father of sabbatical leave" for Chicago teachers. He retired from the board in 1933.

Mr. Hemingway's first wife, Helen, died in 1931. Besides his widow he is survived by a son, James R. Hemingway, and a daughter, Mrs. W. C. Gorgas, both of Chicago. The funeral will be held at 3 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 2701 North Clark street. Mr. Hemingway's home was at 1727 Touhy avenue.

Toy Mender Dies as Broken Dolls Await His Deft Hands

Ten dolls that had lost their arms, and two that had lost their heads were the only witnesses yesterday to the death of a small, grayhaired man at 1641 North California avenue. He was Theodore Priis—Doll Doctor Priis, 84 years old. He died of heart disease in his little workshop where for 36 years he had deftly sewed on new arms, glued on shining heads and painted new lips for thousands of their kind. He is survived by a son, John, 1627 Humboldt boulevard, and a daughter, Mrs. Mimi Kearly, 4419 North Rockwell street.

Funeral Services Today for Edwin Hedrick, 64

Funeral services for Edwin Hedrick, 64 years old, Chicago attorney, will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in his home at 304 Melrose avenue, Kenilworth, where he died Thursday. Interment will be private. Mr. Hedrick was senior partner of the law firm of Cook, Sullivan & Ricks, counsel for the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company. Surviving are his widow, the former Phoebe Roberts, and three daughters, Marion, Mrs. John Leimert, and Mrs. Sterling Smith.

Dr. George A. Thompson Dies After Long Illness

Dr. George A. Thompson, a dentist of 609 Sheridan road, Glencoe, died yesterday in the Henrotin hospital after a long illness. He was 55 years old. In 1907 he was graduated from the Northwestern university dental school and he served for several years as an associate professor at the school. His widow, Mary; three daughters, and a son survive. Funeral services will be held Monday in the family home.

J. R. MONTGOMERY SR., EX-PRESIDENT OF CITY, STATE BAR UNITS, DIES

John Rogerson Montgomery Sr., former president of the Illinois and Chicago Bar associations and member of the law firm of Montgomery, Hart, Pritchard & Herriott, died yesterday in his home at 15 Green Bay road, Hubbard Woods, after an illness of three months. He would have been 71 years old next Monday.

J. R. Montgomery Sr.

For a period of 153 years, with a lapse of only five years, five generations of the Montgomery family have been engaged in law practice. John R. Montgomery Jr. was admitted to the bar in 1925 and is associated with his father's firm. The senior Montgomery was a trustee of Beloit college and chairman of the board of the Chicago Theological seminary. He was president of the Chicago Bar association in 1920-'21 and the state bar in 1925-'26. He was a charter member of the American Law institute.

Mr. Montgomery was a member of the Union League, Congregational, Law, University, and Indian Hill clubs. In addition to his son he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John C. Crawley of Port Washington, N. Y., and Mrs. David H. Corkran Jr. of the Hubbard Woods address.

LOCKED CONTROL HELD CAUSE OF AIRLINER CRASH

New York, March 5. — [Special.] — Evidence that a radio microphone, dropped as he sought to hang it up after reporting he was about to land, jammed the controls of the Douglas airliner flown by A. R. [Tommy] Thompson and caused it to crash in San Francisco bay Feb. 9, killing 11 persons, has been put in the hands of the bureau of air commerce and is expected to be made public soon in an official report on the accident.

The crash has been one of the most baffling in the recent series of air disasters, since Thompson had an exceptionally high rating as a pilot and the crash occurred in perfect weather after he had flown over and still was in sight of the airport.

That it has been traced to so simple a cause was learned today through official notices at Newark airport to pilots using planes of the new Douglas DC-3 type involved in the California crash. These notices warned of the possibility of accidentally locked controls and told of installations already under way to make a repetition of the San Francisco disaster impossible.

Dr. L. E. Clark Dies at 90 After Fracturing a Hip

Mansfield, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Dr. L. E. Clark, 90 years old, a practicing physician in Champaign county for 67 years, died today. He suffered a hip fracture Feb. 17. He was graduated from Rush Medical college, Chicago, when 23 years old and came to this section immediately thereafter.

L. A. Simmons, Income Tax Auditor, Dies in Wisconsin

Racine, Wis., March 5.—(AP)—Lynn A. Simmons, 47 years old, United States income tax auditor at Chicago, died today at the home of his parents in Sturtevant near here after a short illness. Survivors include his parents, a daughter, a sister, and a brother. Funeral services will be held Monday.

Pope's Childhood Nurse Dies in Italy at Age of 90

STUART WEBSTER ESTATE'S VALUE SET AT $160,000

An inventory of the estate of Stuart Webster, a stock broker who died Sept. 2 at the age of 66, indicated he left property worth $160,000, it was disclosed yesterday in Probate court. Judge John F. O'Connell approved a widow's award of $10,000 to Mrs. Mary Mitchell Webster of Cimarron, N. M., pending liquidation of the estate which was disposed of by will to the widow and two children.

The will of Mrs. Cecil Leland McKinnon, leaving an estate worth $90,000 to three children, was filed for probate with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin. Mrs. McKinnon died Feb. 22 in Eldorado, Kas., six weeks after the death of her husband, Frederick B. McKinnon, who was president of the United States Independent Telephone company.

NATIONAL ISSUES ON PROGRAM FOR WOMAN CONGRESS

Supreme Court and Labor Will Be Discussed.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Nonpartisan discussions of the three national problems that have held the headlines since the beginning of 1937—labor, the Supreme court, and flood control—will produce one of the most vital sessions of the fourth annual Woman Congress to be held next Wednesday and Thursday in the Palmer house. This session is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening.

In a discussion of the labor situation William Green of Washington, D. C., president of the American Federation of Labor, and Homer Martin of Detroit, president of the United Automobile Workers and head of the automobile division of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, will speak from the forum rostrum.

Kohler to Speak for Employers.

The point of view of the employer will be presented by Walter J. Kohler of Kohler, Wis., president of the Kohler company, former governor of Wisconsin.

James M. Landis of Washington, chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission, who was recently appointed dean of the Harvard university law school, will come from the east to defend the President's proposal to pack the Supreme court. A defense of the Supreme court will be presented by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.].

Mayor Neville Miller of Louisville will tell of the flood in the Ohio river valley and discuss remedies. Louisville was the hardest hit of any of the Ohio river cities.

Green a Quiet Leader.

Mr. Green has gone far to win the respect and esteem of his fellow workers in the cause of labor ever since he succeeded Samuel Gompers as president of the American Federation of Labor in 1924. In manner and method he always has shown that he believes advantages can be gained through quiet conference rather than through popular harangue.

As president of the United Automobile Workers, Mr. Martin is one of John L. Lewis' leading lieutenants in the C. I. O. He is 34 years old, a former Baptist minister. He is recognized as a fiery speaker with a quiet, friendly manner. Before the Woman Congress next Wednesday night he will discuss "The Committee on Industrial Organization at Work."

Kohler Has Wide Interests.

Former Gov. Kohler of Wisconsin is known as a politician in the best sense of the term, an industrial town builder, an aviation enthusiast, and a manufacturer. "American Progress and Security Under Free Enterprise" will be his subject before the Woman Congress.

Senator Wheeler is regarded as one of the most influential liberal leaders in the senate. By appointment of President Wilson he served as a United States district attorney in Montana from 1913 to 1918. In 1924 he was the Progressive party candidate for Vice President. Now he is serving his third term in the senate.

Landis Born in Japan.

Chairman Landis of the SEC was born 37 years ago in Japan, the son of a Presbyterian missionary. He was graduated from Harvard in 1924 and became a full professor of law in 1928. Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard recommended his young associate to President Roosevelt. He was made chairman of the SEC in 1935.

Mayor Miller of Louisville is a Princeton man who won national recognition for the way in which he handled the critical situations that developed in Louisville as the result of the floods.

Inquiries concerning the Woman Congress will be answered in the headquarters, room 1421 Tribune Tower, or through Superior 0100, Local 305.

WORKING GIRLS CAN WED, THEN GET A PENSION

Girls who work for two years and then quit to get married have a choice of ultimately receiving a lump sum of $50 or $60 or of receiving an annuity of $10 a month after reaching the age of 65 years under the social security act.

This little joker lurking in the act was pointed out by a tax expert yesterday. Its existence was verified in the office of H. L. McCarthy, regional director of the social security board here. It was defended on the ground that the act is designed to benefit low-income workers.

But only girls with ingenuity will get the annuity, according to the act. Under the law, a person who earns an aggregate of less than $2,000 in the first five years gets a lump sum of only 3½ per cent of her earnings at the age of 65, and no more. If she earns more than $2,000 she is entitled to $10 a month annuity.

Thus, if a girl earns $1,990 in the first two years, and then gets married and earns no more, she will get a lump sum of $69.95 at 65. But if she earns $1,990 in the first two years and works a day, say, in 1939, and a day in 1940, and a third day in 1941, earning $11 more to make a grand total of $2,001, then she gets $10 a month annuity. If she lives to 75, her total pension will be $1,200 in place of $69.95.

LABORITES GAIN BIG VICTORY IN LONDON VOTING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 5.—British Laborites tonight were jubilant over their victory in yesterday's London county council elections. The final count showed the Laborites gained six seats, their total now being 75 out of a total of 124 seats.

The Municipal Reform party [Conservatives] which fought bitterly against the Laborites, lost ground, coming out of the election with only 49 seats.

H. Morrison, fighting Laborite member of the council, announced: "Your vote of confidence gives us new zeal, new faith and new enthusiasm to go forward with the good work during the next three years."

The bitterest election fight in a number of years brought out nearly 860,000 voters. This is about 42 per cent of the total electorate. About 33⅓ per cent voted at the election three years ago when Laborites won control of the council from the Municipal Reformers representing the Tory element in local politics. They had controlled the council 27 years.

2d Baby Hippopotamus Is Expected at Brookfield

A big event is scheduled to take place next week in the elephant house at the Chicago Zoölogical park in Brookfield. The birth of a hippopotamus baby is expected on Thursday. It will be the second to arrive there since the zoo was established.

MARCH ON FORT IN MOVE TO OUST STRIKING MONKS

Police to Storm Walls if Parley Fails.

CAIRO, Egypt, March 5.—(AP)—Advices reaching here tonight indicated a group of coptic monks—"stay-in" strikers—still were holding their desert monastery of Deir-el-Moharrak near Asyut despite arbitration moves by authorities.

The chief magistrate of Asyut, surrounded by a formidable police escort, bustled off across the sands of the upper Egyptian desert today declaring he would demand that the monks end the "sitdown" and allow him to enter the monastery.

Lacking news from the magistrate, authorities expressed the opinion his efforts to make an agreement with the monks had reached a deadlock and troops may have to be dispatched tomorrow. The monks demand a new abbot and increased social privileges.

The magistrate, before leaving for the monastery, said he would order his men to scale the 15 foot walls and arrest seven monks regarded as the strike ringleaders if arbitration fails.

Report Monks Have Rifles.

The great thickness and height of the doorless walls was regarded as providing an almost insurmountable barrier to attackers. Entrance to the monastery usually is gained over a drawbridge from a nearby building.

It was learned, too, that the monks had four rifles.

Hesitating at first to intervene in what it considered primarily a religious dispute, the Egyptian government finally instructed the governor of Asyut province to avoid bloodshed if possible but to have his police retaliate if attacked and eject the monks "at all costs."

Some Are Prisoners.

Abbott Sidarous curtailed the monks' freedom of outside movement recently when inhabitants of neighboring Bedouin and Moslem villages complained against visits by the Christian holy men and threatened to shoot them. Then the strike started.

Between 100 and 120 monks occupy the monastery but not all of them are on strike. Non-strikers were believed to be prisoners of their "stay-in" brethren.

MACKENZIE KING, ROOSEVELT TALK ON VARIED TOPICS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Before an open fire in the oval study on the second floor of the White House President Roosevelt and Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada talked late into the night on "everything."

At his press conference in the morning Mr. Roosevelt said he and the prime minister would talk about North and South American and all the other continents—"everything."

At a press conference in the Canadian legation Mackenzie King said the conference would embrace anything the President wished to bring up.

Mr. Roosevelt and his guest dined alone and went to the study alone. A year ago a similar meeting resulted in speeding up the negotiation of the Canadian reciprocal trade treaty. Tonight's conference was expected to be aimed at revival of the defeated St. Lawrence waterway treaty, discussion of the Canadian position under the American neutrality policy and Canada's part in the American peace program developed at the Buenos Aires conference the President opened last December.

Mackenzie King refused to discuss the waterway treaty, other than to say it would be a subject of conversation if the President brought it up.

Judge Seeks Reconciliation in Janicek Divorce Case

In the hope of a reconciliation, Judge John C. Lewe of the Superior court yesterday continued for three weeks the divorce suit of Mrs. Genevieve Janicek, 28 years old, of 2751 38th street, but allowed her $10 a week temporary alimony. Her husband, Peter, pleaded tearfully that she return to him. Mrs. Janicek charged that when she tried to feed her husband a "pick me up" on New Year's eve, he threw it at her.

Mrs. Osa Johnson, widow of Martin Johnson, famed explorer, arrived in Chicago in a wheel chair yesterday morning to fill lecture engagements made by her husband before his death Jan. 15 in an airplane crash. Mrs. Johnson, who for 27 years accompanied her husband on jungle expeditions, spoke at an Elgin school assembly yesterday and will lecture tomorrow afternoon at the Civic Opera house, showing the Johnson motion picture "Jungle Depths of Borneo." She will lecture next Friday evening at Thorne hall as one of the hall's series of speakers.

Cook County Farmers Get $30,000 in U. S. Cash

About half of 600 Cook county farmers who took part in the 1936 federal soil conservation program have received their government checks, totaling approximately $30,000. O. E. Barrett, farm adviser, said yesterday that other payments are expected soon.

END OF GEISHA STRIKE SIGHTED; PLAN MEDIATION

Employers Let Police Chief Set Terms.

OSAKA, Japan, March 6.—[Saturday.]—(AP)—A week-long "sitdown" strike of 300 Osaka geisha, or girl entertainers, seemed headed toward a peaceful end today.

The chief of police of Osaka prefecture, moved by the nation-wide interest in the gayly robed girls perched in a mountain-top Buddhist temple, volunteered his services as mediator. The conflict is between the geisha and their employers over their right to join a guild of their own.

The employers, harassed by inability to cater adequately to the tired business men of Osaka, accepted the police chief's offer and agreed to leave the terms of settlement to him.

Expect Girls to Agree.

It was believed the geisha, although apparently as strongly entrenched as ever in their temple on top of Mount Shigi, also would agree to mediation.

When the wintry dawn broke over Mount Shigi yesterday the striking entertainers left their sanctuary in the Buddhist temple and went to a secluded woods for nude rites of purification.

Shy Fukuko Miyamoto, however, was appalled by the naked ceremonial. She disappeared from the others. After a long search police found her body, a vial of poison by her side, in a teahouse on the gay white way of Osaka, from which the strikers have taken refuge.

Girls Pray to Buddha.

Although the ritualistic ablutions, called Mizugori, are practiced universally by pious Japanese, even in zero weather, it was unprecedented for the humble geisha girls to indulge in such a sacred ceremony. The icy bath prepared the girls to pray to Buddha for the success of their cause.

After the shivering strikers had dried themselves and knelt before the altars of Gyokuzo temple on the hard, cold rock of the mountain top they prayed for a half hour.

LIQUOR, NOT WEDDING, KEEPS JUROR AWAY; HE GOES TO JAIL CELL

George J. Warner.

George J. Warner, 30 years old, of 1806 Eddy street, was sent to the county jail by Judge C. A. Quackenbush in Superior court yesterday to await a hearing Monday on his failure to report for jury duty.

Warner was arrested in his home by a deputy sherif after a protracted tippling session. He and eleven other jurors had been selected Tuesday to hear the $50,000 personal injury suit of Mrs. Martha Rice, 31 years old, 621 Groveland park, against Riverview Park. Warner had arrived late in court that day and explained to the court that he had just been married. Thursday he was absent entirely, and Judge Quackenbush ordered his arrest.

"I have been drinking," Warner explained simply to the court. "The marriage story was just a gag." An eleven man jury, agreed upon by both sides, returned a verdict of $2,000 in the injury suit yesterday.

Assistant Cashier Held to Grand Jury for Theft

Barney Paulsen, 21 years old, assistant cashier of the Deerfield State bank, waived examination yesterday on a charge of embezzlement, and was held to the grand jury in bonds of $2,500 by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. Arrested Wednesday, Paulsen confessed stealing $2,500 in the last seven months. He spent most of it at the Skyrocket roadhouse west of Glencoe.

Three Exhibits Placed on View at Arts Club

Bouchene Paintings Have Charm, Beauty.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Three exhibitions opened yesterday at the Arts club. Chief among them, from the standpoint of beauty, is the exhibit of pastels and paintings by Dimitri Bouchene.

The most novel work is found in the skeletonized sculpture of Pablo Gargallo, though what Michelangelo or Rodin would have thought of these attenuated line drawings in metal one dreads to suggest.

The exhibition in the first gallery includes the work of four painters, all of whom create compositions in related cubistic molds. By far the most delicious color is seen in the abstractions of Paul Kelpe; that and his exact, meticulous drawing of objects give his designs charm. Albers, Dreier, and Drewes suggest moods in their placing of curves, darts, rounds, and lines, and also lean on suggestion in the various shades of color they employ. The pictures are meaningless as pictures. They are like notes from a phychologist's note book.

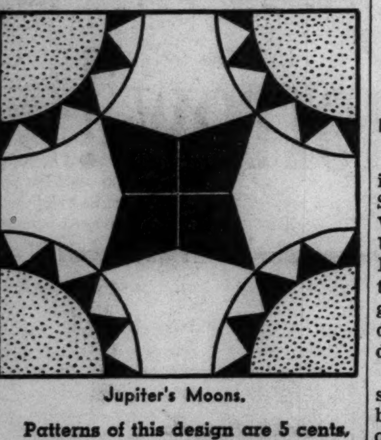
Apparently this painting is essentially up to date for though we have seen abstractions come and go through the years and had thought the crest of their career passed, the Dreier arrangements were all done in 1936 and the dated Drewes' "Night Fantasy" reads 1936. These curious impressions smack more of surrealism than of realism, yet, except for Kelpe, they do not appear to be sensitive, imaginative, rhythmic, or particularly endowed with intriguing color.

Dimitri Bouchene paints in a typically French manner, one that is full of charm and tranquil beauty. His flower compositions are striking. Red is to him the high note of courage and he flings it like a banner across the fuller background of his thought. Note the recurrence of a touch or stroke of red in "Le Cirque," "Fleurs sur la Fenetre," and "Fleurs Blances."

His painting is delicate, intelligent, sensitive, and effective. He paints Venice with its beauty of clouded skies and France in the sweet green of gardens. He paints theatrical settings stunningly, and his figures are alert and vivacious. The tiny "Le Cirque" is a gem; it suggests, but its language is pure and you need not riddle your brains to find the artist's intention. This Bouchene exhibit is well worth seeing.

The exhibitions will continue to March 25.

Jupiter Lends Celestial Beauty to Quilt Design



Jupiter's Moons.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The rings of Saturn, the canals of Mars, and now, in quilt lore, we find "Jupiter's Moons." These celestially entitled quilt blocks are a credit to woman's imagination and ingenuity of design. The creators of these inspired pieced blocks evidently had as wide a knowledge of astronomy as they did of the various fine arts and crafts. The most noteworthy point of these "heavenly body" quilts is the difficult patterns incorporated in one single block. When "Jupiter's Moons" is set together to form an allover design, a coverlet of seven or eight patterns is available.

For a limited time only, Nancy Cabot offers ten quilt patterns of her own selection for 10 cents, 12 cents in stamps by mail. They may be purchased at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower lobby, or by writing to Miss Cabot in care of the Chicago Tribune.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Mayor Mancell Talcott of Waukegan met Jack Benny, radio's No. 1 entertainer, at the train here yesterday and presented a new bill fold to him engraved, "Official Ambassador of Good Will, City of Waukegan." This gift from his home town made almost as big a hit with Jack as that new three-year million dollar contract he received from his sponsor last week.

With Mayor Talcott were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Fenchel, Jack's brother-in-law and sister of Lake Forest, and other relatives and friends who joined him in breakfasting at the Sherman hotel. Radio comedians don't get away from business even at this early hour. Over their grapefruit Benny and his gag men caught up with the latest developments in the Benny-Allen feud by playing recordings made here of Allen's Wednesday evening show which they missed because they were en route here from California. Jack got many a hearty laugh out of the records and soon his writers, Bill Morrow, Ed Beloin, and Al Boasberg, were in a huddle with Jack on their retorts for next Sunday.

Jack and Fred plan to arrange details for finishing off the feud business in New York—perhaps by appearing on each other's programs. They want to end it just a little before the listening public gets tired of it. Jack expects to return in three or four weeks and put his show on for one week from Chicago.

Benny revealed that he was sick abed for several weeks a short time ago, climbing out only on Sundays to do his radio show. He had a lot of chance to listen to radio during that time. Fibber McGee and Molly, Chicago comedians, he reported are going over especially big in Hollywood.

Not so long ago Don Ameche and Tyrone Power Jr. were playing in the same radio show—"First Nighter"—here in Chicago. Now they're playing the two male leads in "Love Is News" currently at the Chicago theater. Fred Waring's crew, temporarily off the air, is there, too. The Waring circus is Hollywood bound to make a feature picture before returning to radio in the fall. The group has several prospective sponsors.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is to return to NBC the middle of April for a weekly broadcast in the interests of a cosmetic concern. She sends the checks to her favorite charity. . . . NBC, which has exclusive rights to the Louis-Braddock fight here June 22, has sold it to the same sponsor who has footed the bill for many another bout. . . . Jack Hylton's spokesman, Arthur Wilcox, writes that the British bandmaster is a hit in Berlin. He played recently for a special ball attended by Goering and Goebbels which elicited from the Nazi controled press the pronouncement: "without doubt the greatest attraction we have seen in many years. . . . A great triumph for a British artist and a deserved one." Jack will return to England for the coronation.

Choice of His Life's Work Is Right of Child

Parents Unjust to Force Occupation on Him.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"It is a great disappointment to me that my boy is not going to be a professional man. He is mad about the innards of a car," said a father the other day. "Lawyer, doctor, civil engineer—nothing like that appeals to him."

"Well! Dolly isn't like me. I was crazy about beaus and clothes and parties when I was a girl. I wish Dolly were like that instead of being such a little mouse. It would be so much gayer around the house. I have actually tried pushing her out, but nothing happens when I do," bemoaned a mother.

"George will never be a good salesman. I thought he would follow in my footsteps, but all he says is, 'If a guy doesn't want to buy something, what's the use of trying to make him do it? Why not let him alone?'" complained a father.

We were talking the other day about parents accepting the individuality of their children instead of trying to make them over wholly or in part.

There is no way in which the attempt is more widespread than in the matter of a child's work or social life. Mothers with daughters are more apt to be guilty on the latter score. But both fathers and mothers make the great mistake of trying to force their children into work or into a profession which would fill them with pride but toward which their children have no inclination or for what they may even have an aversion.

Sometimes they can put over their ambition and force a boy who loves mechanics into a white collar job or succeed in driving through college a boy who wants to get out into the world of business. But sometimes the resistance of their offspring is too great and all the parents can do is to yield.

If they would yield with a good grace and when the battle was lost encourage their son or daughter in this new direction it would not be so bad, but what too often happens is what these three parents illustrate: They constantly voice their disappointment so that their children constantly are made aware that they are falling far below the expectations of their parents. This puts the children on the defensive usually and may even make them feel inferior.

It is a sorry picture, even a tragic one at times, that of the square peg in the round hole, that of the man or woman in a job he or she hates or for which he or she is unfitted. Every one who possibly can, every one surely who has a decided bent, should do work he likes.

If Beauty Is Only Skin Deep That's Plenty, Says Singer

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"If beauty is only skin deep, that is deep enough," says Mme. Elizabeth Schumann, lovely soprano of the Vienna State opera. Visiting the United States on a concert tour, Mme. Schumann has observed that the average American woman has a good natural complexion, but that she does not always give it the care it deserves.

Mme. Schumann's own flawless skin is one of her most striking beauty assets, and as the wife of one of Europe's foremost dermatologists she frequently is asked for the secret of her skin success.

"If you try to strike at the root of the evil immediately, the remedy will be much simpler and quicker," Mme. Schumann believes. "Make this candid test of your own complexion," she suggests. "Cleanse it thoroughly so that no trace of makeup remains. Then look at yourself in a strong light. Most of the rough spots and the tiny eruptions which you find are easily corrected, and no expensive beauty treatments are necessary. Make up your mind to follow a beauty routine for a whole month. It may seem a Spartan task at first, but the results truly will be worth it.

"First of all, balance your diet," Mme. Schumann advises. "Dispense with rich desserts, candy, and eating between meals. Also try to avoid too highly seasoned food and dishes to which you are not accustomed. Try to eat as much fresh fruit and vegetables as possible, and drink milk. Make a habit of drinking a glass of hot water the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night. You can flavor it with a little lemon juice or tea, if you prefer. The sane observation of a balanced diet routine will do much to clear your complexion.

"Then you must give a thought to fresh air, exercise, and sleep. Try to be in the open air whenever possible. Take long walks or go bicycling or horseback riding. A brisk walk is one of the best pick-you-ups of all."

As for the actual care of the skin, Mme. Schumann advises thorough cleansing with a good cream, followed by a soap and water scrubbing or cleansing lotion. A good foundation cream will protect the pores and hold makeup and, if you use rouge, the dry or cake variety is advisable.

If you follow such a routine for a month, says Mme. Schumann, your complexion is certain to show improvement. By that time you will have developed several beauty habits which should remain with you for the rest of your life.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the most sensationally popular of all the perfumes launched last year now has a side-kick in the way of a de luxe cologne.

Maybe you've seen it in the shops—certainly its decanter is as eye-catching as any ever designed. It's carved white plaster over glass! Take the small gold labels off when the contents are exhausted and you'll have a white decorative accessory for the snootiest room in your house.

The perfume was a best seller from the moment it made its dramatically French appearance on these shores. Like all subtle scents, it's hard to describe. It is definitly piquant, but don't let that word convey the impression that it's to be classed as a fragrance that lacks sophistication. It's really quite dashing and as cosmopolitan as they come.

It's a charming fragrance for a cologne because it has such a cool lift. May the Lord preserve us from colognes with an exotic, heavy scent. They just seem incongruous in a lotion that's designed to be used as a refreshant.

This new cologne is the product of a house that knows all about colognes; to it must go most of the credit for the revived popularity of colognes we've seen in the last few years. Its colognes are of excellent quality, exquisitely packaged. This elegant offering, for example, besides its unique flacon boasts a tall, stunning outer box of white with a drapery design in gold.

This cologne is a top notcher as a gift thought. You might put it on your Easter list if you're one of those foresighted early shoppers. But if you can resist keeping it you've more of the giving spirit than most.

★ THE RULES ★

This contest consists of a series of crossword puzzles. Beneath each puzzle is a biographical item representing an event in the life of former President Theodore Roosevelt. A word or words in such items will be missing. Such word or words will be found in the puzzle. The public is invited to solve the puzzles, find the missing word or words, and complete these biographical items.

The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in cash prizes for the best answers submitted in accordance with these rules.

This offer is open free to every one except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families.

A new puzzle will be published in the Chicago Daily Tribune each weekday for 42 consecutive days. Puzzles are to be submitted only in complete sets. Don't send in each puzzle separately. When you have completed the series, send your answers to: "Roosevelt Crosswords," Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1718, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Puzzle No. 42 has been printed.

You do not have to solve ALL the puzzles correctly to win. Prizes will be paid to persons whose entries rank highest. Only one entry may be submitted by any one person.

Entries should be sent by First Class Mail, Postage Prepaid. Each entry must be accompanied by a letter giving your name and address and stating in 100 words or less which event in the life of Theodore Roosevelt, in your opinion, is the most interesting and why. Letters will be considered only if two or more contestants submit equally correct solutions of the puzzles; in such event, letters will be judged on the basis of human interest and originality. Accuracy in the solution of the puzzles will be the first consideration in awarding the prizes.

You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the puzzles. The Chicago Tribune may be examined free at its offices or at Public Libraries. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. A condition of entry is that the judges' decision shall be final. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid.

Movie Exposes Cruel Methods of Loan Sharks

"I Promise to Pay" Drama with a Punch.

Produced by Columbia.
Directed by D. Ross Lederman.
Presented at the Oriental theater.

THE CAST.

Eddie Lang	Chester Morris

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

A right purposeful and punchful program drama, "I Promise to Pay," in which the loan shark racket is hauled on the carpet.

Chester Morris is seen as Eddie Lang, a young white collar man with an adored wife and two small children.

His desire to take his little family away from the broiling city for a week in the country and his inability to do so on his meager salary cause him to fall into the octopus clutches of an unscrupulous gang of money lenders. . . .

As the Langs go through their own particular hell of a time, you are enlightened regarding the manner in which such organizations work—their smooth methods of hooking a victim, the fear with which they inspire him when he squeaks and the punishment they mete out to him if he squeals.

It takes a brave man to go to the authorities with his story. Eddie Lang proves that brave. . . . His courage pays in the end, but there's suffering aplenty before justice is finally done. . . .

Mr. Morris gives a fine, forthright performance. Helen Mack is appealing as his loyal wife. Thomas Mitchell makes a dynamic and convincing district attorney. Rats are rattily portrayed. Good cast throughout.

From start to finish "I Promise to Pay" holds your interest—and makes you think!

WHOPPERS!

The Tribune will pay $2 each for every "Whopper" published. Merely write the biggest lie you ever heard on a post card or on one side of a sheet of paper and mail it to "Whoppers," The Tribune, Tribune Square, Chicago. Manuscripts cannot be returned.

Whale Saves Their Ship.

When I was 15 I went on a trip in a whaling boat with my father. Out in the middle of the ocean a sperm whale, just as mad as a fiery bull, struck the ship at the stern with such tremendous force that his head crashed right through the timbers and he went nearly half his length into the hull.

We all expected that it wouldn't take five minutes for the vessel to fill and go to the bottom. We made ready to take to the boats, but it turned out that we didn't need any boats. As fast as the water rushed into the hold the whale drank it and squirted it out through the two blow holes in the top of his head. There was an open hatchway just over his head so that the water went into the sea again. That whale kept working night and day pumping the water out until we beached the boat. He also helped us by the powerful working of his tail, which, being outside the ship, served as a propeller.

Thriller Starts Montgomery in New Film Field

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 5.—[Special.]—Robert Montgomery, with a film career firmly founded on tweeds, an air of assurance, and rôles which presented him as the cocky young man sweeping the heiress off her feet and finally causing her papa to capitulate, is launching out in a totally new trend. The move is one he wished for himself.

He is playing a bellboy with an impulse to commit capital crime.

The picture is titled "Night Must Fall" and is one of the series of mystery thrillers to which Metro studio finds its public so receptive.

The scene which was being shot when we looked in on the sound stage showed May Whitty, veteran English stage star, having her hair dressed. She was in a wheel chair and dominating things in an English country cottage. The egomaniac bellboy was hovering solicitously about her.

An air of ominous tension began to gather on the set, contrasting with the happy appearance of the cottage itself, an airy, sunny room with bright curtains and oak panelings. One of the staf problems was to get a big, glowing eyed cat, with hair of an odd brownish black shade and a fuzzy tail, to stalk across the floor and attract every eye within the room.

The cat's part runs through the picture. Whenever the cat casts a shadow over a scene the sunlight seems to fade from the room and tragedy begins brooding. Everything was going along at an ominous clip until one of the assistant directors asked: "Where is the murderer's hat box?" A search began, and finally one of the prop boys came running with a brown lether case such as senators carry plug hats in.

"What's the hat box for?" we inquired.

"O," said the prop boy, casually, "that's what the slayer uses to carry souvenirs of each victim in."

For his screen tests here Lou Gehrig had to wear a coonskin cap and buckskin shirt. He will enact a hardy pioneer with Richard Arlen in "The Trail Blazers" for Principal Pictures.

Freddy Bartholomew broke two molars on the left side of his jaw in a fall last week. Today he showed up at Metro studio with a two inch cut on the right side of his face, suffered when he fell while romping with his spaniel. The studio is preparing a screen version of Kipling's "Kim" for Freddy's next featured film and hopes the lad can be kept off roller skates and bicycles until the film is completed.

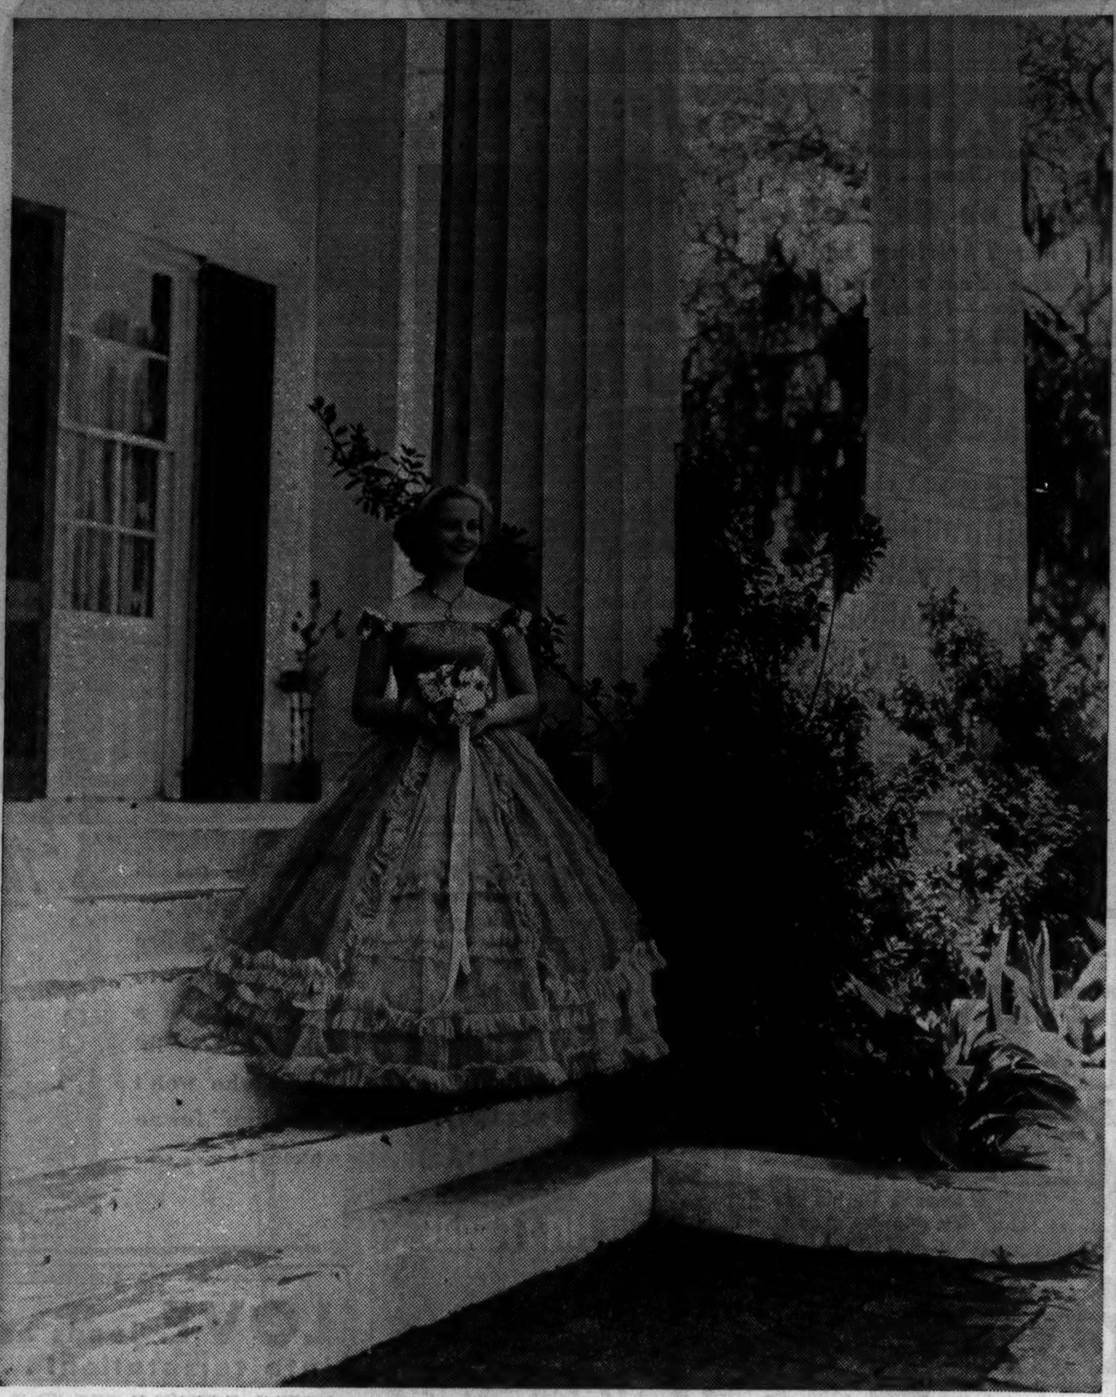
On his fiftieth anniversary as an actor George Sidney, who used to work with Charlie Murray in the "Cohen and Kelly" series, signed for a rôle with Wallace Beery in "The Old Soak."

Greta Garbo has begun her new film, "Madam Walewska," with a new camera man, Karl Freund, and fifty new faces in her technical crew. This is the first time in eight years Miss Garbo's studio did not take pains to surround her with the familiar faces of veteran camera men, prop boys, juicers, and assistant directors whom she had come to know and like. Charles Boyer is her leading man, and Maria Ouspenskaya, who gave an unforgettable performance as the elderly Austrian mother in "Dodsworth," has been added to the Garbo cast. C. Henry Gordon and Alan Marshall also are in it.

Irene Dunne again has issued a denial that she intends to adopt a little brother or sister for Mary Frances Griffin, already adopted from the Evanston Cradle. Friends say that Miss Dunne intends making another visit to the Cradle in the near future.

Marlene Dietrich has permitted her eyebrows to grow in naturally.

Natchez Prepares for Spring Pilgrimages



Miss Dorothy Goes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goes Jr., of Constance avenue, resembles a belle of ante-bellum days as she stands on the steps of Devereux, Miss Myra Smith's home in Natchez, Miss. Devereux, built in 1840 and now belonging to a Chicagoan, will be among the homes opened to visitors during the Pilgrimage sponsored by the Pilgrimage Garden Club of Natchez from March 14 to 21 inclusive. Later, from March 28 to April 4, the Natchez Garden club will hold its sixth annual pilgrimage when different houses will be open.

Swank Blouses in Wide Stripes Arrive at Last

BY RHEA SEEGER.

At last they've arrived. Those fresh, new looking striped blouses that every one has been waiting to approve. We tracked down the first arrivals and here is all the good news.

The stripes are about a quarter of an inch wide, the material is pure silk, and they have pointed high collars that can be turned down if you wish. Sleeves are short and the big flat buttons are of white. The tailoring is flawless and tucks add to the excitement.

Three colors are available. A smart dark gray and white, a green and white as crisp as lettuce, and a reddish pink and white. You can't beat these for dark suits. These blouses will tub time after time and emerge with their original luster and softness. The price, amazingly low, under four dollars.

Just as new and just as fresh looking and a bit less expensive are some white dotted blouses. These also are made with short sleeves, a high neckline and fitted collar. But they have additional tailored details, a tabbed device with a pearl button to fasten the collar and a tiny chest pocket also with a buttoned tab. All kinds of good contrast colors come in these dull crêpe blouses with small white dots—a dark and light shade of brown, rust, flame, green, and navy. These, too, will wash well and the prices are under three dollars.

Flower notes . . . this spring you will wear outsize flowers tucked in your belt or in the buttonhole of your jacket lapel. For 50 cents you can own the best looking huge carnations you've ever seen. Gorgeous tones of red ranging from spicy pink to deep maroon, some unusual chartreuse green blooms, and some rather startling ginger browns. If you have been waiting for the most realistic clover blossoms for either corsage, lapel, or hat, they're here; such perfect copies they would fool the snoopiest bee. And the colors are extraordinarily good—pinky mauves and white. These are priced under a dollar. All fake flowers this spring are unexpectedly realistic besides being treated with some tricky process whereby they are practically unwiltable.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

Diet Important to Complexion.

R. K.: You want to look to your diet. It's important when your face begins to break out. If you're eating too many rich foods, too much candy, sweets, and rich desserts, you want to stop. Eat them sparingly. Include green vegetables and fresh fruits in abundance, and don't forget the daily quota of water.

How to Blend Liquid Rouge.

P. D.: Liquid rouge blends in over a creamy base with a most natural effect, but it must be worked in quickly and deftly while still wet, otherwise there will be a noticeable rim. Liquid rouge is not easy to apply, but it is the most lasting.

Dates Selected for 2 Leading Autumn Events

St. Luke's Fashion Show to Be Oct. 19.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE dates have been announced for two of the most important of the annual fall events, the St. Luke's fashion show, Oct. 19, and the Service club revue, Oct. 30. The former is a date to be marked by all of feminine social circles, for that afternoon and evening the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital will present its eleventh annual fashion show.

The date will be marked especially well by the Service club, which always has given its revue at the end of the week chosen by the St. Luke's board. Last year, however, the Service club officers decided, without remembering the date of the fashion show, to have their dress rehearsal on the day that St. Luke's had chosen months before. So there was a tempest in a teapot with Service club members stewing mightily because there seemed to be no other evening during that week when a rehersal could be held, and their show was being given the Friday and Saturday nights after the fashion show, which was on Wednesday, Oct. 21.

Two Weddings Will Take Place Today.

Because of the Lenten season the two weddings that are taking place this afternoon are to be small ones, with larger receptions following. Miss Jane Peycke, daughter of the Armand H. Peyckes, and Jean Huff will be married in the Peyckes' Kenilworth home at 4 o'clock.

Miss Jean Phyllis Fairweather, daughter of the George O. Fairweathers, and Robert Vernon Dilley will be married at 4:30 o'clock in Bond chapel at the University of Chicago, with a reception following in Ida Noyes hall.

Only the immediate families will hear the Rev. Leland H. Danforth of the Church of the Holy Comforter read the service at the Kenilworth ceremony. He officiated at the christening of Miss Peycke. There will be no attendants.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Huff of Sioux City, Ia., and his sister and brother, Mrs. Thomas Hughes of Bronxville, N. Y., and Dale Huff, a student at Leland Stanford university, have come for the wedding. Following the reception at 4:30 o'clock Mr. Huff and his bride will leave for New York to sail on a honeymoon cruise to the West Indies in the Kungsholm.

Sister to Attend Miss Fairweather.

Miss Fairweather will be attended by her sister, Miss Frances Fairweather, as maid of honor, and by Mrs. George E. Leonard, Miss Margaret Carey, Miss Mary Helen Barber of New York, and Miss Elizabeth Davis of Cedar Rapids, Ia., as bridesmaids. Donald Dilley of Cleveland will be his brother's best man, and ushering will be Owen Fairweather, brother of TALLULAH BANKHEAD'S first name came from the American Indian and means song of love, or something of the kind. There is a Tallulah falls in Alabama, where the Bankheads have lived and been leading citizens for 200 years. Miss Bankhead's current play, "Reflected Glory," in which she will appear in Chicago shortly, will play her home city of Huntsville, Ala.

We trust it will be a more happy occasion than that when Kenyon Nicholson's play, "The Barker," with Richard Bennett, played Crawfordsville, the home town of Kenyon and his late brother Tom, some years ago. The fact that the play included Crawfordsville on its tour was a gesture of deference to the playwright's father, who still lived there, and it was a gay night for the town. Dress suits of the older generation came out of the mothballs, and there was a burst of entertaining before the performance.

MR. BENNETT had, you may remember, a propensity for changing his lines extemporaneously, a habit that sorely tried play authors and fellow actors. On this occasion he not only disconcerted author and actors by not sticking to the script, but he injected a number of rough and dirty words that must have made Mr. Nicholson blush for his son's morals and vocabulary. [This was before "Sailor, Beware!"] But that was a minor tragedy. Mr. Bennett gathered an idea during the performance that the audience was not properly appreciative—not generous enough in its applause. He touched on the matter in a curtain speech. In fact, he told the audience in so many words they were a lot of hicks and didn't know enough to appreciate a good play and a good performance. Then he called them a few more names, bowed, and passed into the wings.

The night the home town boy's "The Barker" played Crawfordsville will be long remembered by the residents. We trust Huntsville will have no such distressing experience when Miss Bankhead takes "Reflected Glory" there.

German Film Heads Say Nazi Principles Have Been Harmful

BERLIN, March 5.—(AP)—German movie magnates sat down today and decided their film industry is suffering from "Nazi trouble."

Frankly critical, delegates to the annual congress of the reich film chamber also blamed a heavy decline in film exports on the "international character" of German movies.

The Hollywood industry was held up as a model, because its films are "national" and display superiority in "technical equipment, energetic enterprise, and artistic experiments, which are seemingly unfailing."

President Oswald Lehnich told the delegates that since the business has been remodeled on Nazi principles there has been a decided shortage of good scenario writers, directors, and composers.

SYNOPSIS.

Adrian Somervell and Diana Lake become engaged when the young scientist learns he is heir to the fortune of his late stepmother, Rose Somervell, ex-star of the theater, who was Diana's godmother. Until shortly before her death Adrian and she had been estranged. Adrian had lunched with her shortly before her death, with Nicholas Blundell, wealthy bachelor solicitor, who lived in the London flat below Rose. Blundell's neurotic secretary, Elsie Dilworth, was madly in love with Adrian, who'd repulsed her. She'd called during the luncheon on business. Blundell is Diana's godfather. She always disliked him. An autopsy reveals that Rose was poisoned. Then Diana's actress mother, Margaret Fairlamb, is murdered. Robbery is thought to be the motive. Adrian is arrested. Remnants of the poison which killed Rose are found in his pocket. Blundell persuades Diana to move to Rose's flat. He obtains a lawyer for Adrian. Diana sees Elsie Dilworth, who has left Blundell's employ, return and search the premises. Diana hires a private agent, Mortimer Bream. Watching Elsie's lodgings he sees an East Indian trying to break into the girl's room. Inspector Headcorn, assigned to the investigation of Diana's mother's murder, believes there is a link between the two murders. He discovers a secret stairs between Diana's flat and Blundell's. The East Indian is found dead, apparently a suicide. Diana receives a package of newspapers from Elsie, which she states contain clews to the murder. Then Elsie commits suicide. Lord Limpsfield and Sir Norbury Penge, who Blundell stated were at his home the night Margaret Fairlamb was murdered, are questioned and confirm Blundell alibi. Adrian is tried and sentenced to death. Diana and Dr. Colin Ladbroke, a friend of Adrian's, search Rose's flat for further clews and find an old will made by Rose in Blundell's favor. Diana grows queerly ill after smoking cigarets. Unknown to her Colin takes some to have analyzed. When Colin leaves Diana sees Blundell return with Lord Limpsfield and Sir Norbury, and creeps down the secret stairs to listen. Blundell discovers Diana. The two men leave Blundell to deal with her.

INSTALMENT XLVIII.

STARTLING EVIDENCE.

Colin descended unsteadily to the basement, found some luke warm tea which had the one virtue of strength, and by means of it cleared his head sufficiently to venture forth.

Reaching Pelham Crescent, South Kensington, he found Michael Hull just in and waiting for him. As he had expected, the sight of Rose Somervell's former will roused little enthusiasm.

"It's evidence of nothing," said the barrister wearily. "Even if we knew for certain that the beneficiary was aware of its existence, don't you see it would still be worthless?"

"Suppose we could suggest that the victim in signing the second will was in total ignorance of what manner of document it was? That she died under the delusion that this will held good?"

Hull's eyebrows beetled incredulously.

"Impossible! How could such a suggestion carry weight?"

"I'll show you," said Colin, and related all he knew and suspected with regard to the cigarets. "If the test comes out as I anticipate," he went on, "It will provide us with the very type of explanation we want. It may even give us a solution for another puzzle. Yes," as Hull put on his glasses and stared at him, "I'm referring to a certain alibi, supported by two well known men. O, I don't say we can prove it! I'm only hoping to demonstrate scientifically that the thing could have been done."

The bell rang. Colin looked interrogatively at his host.

"Bream," murmured the barrister. "There was a message saying he'd call."

Bream it was. He looked tired out strangely keyed up, also relieved to see Colin.

"You remember those S O S messages I was inserting in the Agony columns? I got one answer—of all places, from the Northumberland county jail. It came from the resident physician and said that a prisoner in the infirmary had a statement to make. I went north to see him and when I found him a wreck from morphia—he'd been jugged for stealing a doctor's bag—I was prepared to discount all I got from him. Here, Dr. Ladbroke, is where you can help me. Does the name Woodford mean anything to you?"

"Woodford?" Colin frowned. "You don't mean an assistant the prince regent sacked last September for pinching drugs?"

"Then you do know him! What more can you tell me?"

"He worked in our research department and handled supplies—a sharp chap, very obliging, but he went to bits through doping. We didn't bring a charge, just let him go."

"That tallies," said Bream. "Now listen: Woodford says that in August he carried some reports round to Dr. Somervell who was laid up at his boarding house with a bronchial cold. That sitting by the bed was a woman who during the few minutes he stopped to chat made some reference to the man she worked for—a solicitor. Follow me? Well, it so happened that Woodford that same morning had been very urgently asked to supply the name of a competent lawyer. He noted down this one's address and passed it on to the applicant."

"A pub acquaintance of Woodford's. Abdulmajid Haji—whose girl had just died accusing him of having done her in.."

"Go on! And then?"

"Haji begged Woodford to arrange an interview for him with Nicholas Blundell. Woodford did so although Blundell was not over eager, as criminal affairs were not in his line. I repeat, Woodford arranged an interview but he doesn't know, or says he doesn't, if it actually took place. Haji swore not and after the inquest which exonerated him he gave Woodford a wide berth. A month later Woodford, in trouble himself, appealed to Haji for a loan to enable him to leave town. Haji refused, declaring he was broke; but the next day he came round, handed Woodford ten pounds and Woodford cleared out."

The two listeners looked at each other, then at Bream. In the same breath the barrister and the doctor demanded details of the Frieda Klapp inquest. Bream read from his note book.

"Directly her death was due to heart failure—which, in turn, was set down to acute gastro enteritis, from a cause which did not appear. Maybe it was the tinned salmon she had on her own admission—Haji's word for it—eaten at her last meal, though the salmon could not be traced, since she had not said where she had it. The doses administered to her had emptied her digestive organs of pretty well all contents. Don't lose sight of that. It's important.

"Anything more?" inquired Colin keenly.

"Stomach lining showed extreme hyperaemia, modified since death—also a slight brown staining. Some mucous was present. The membrane of the duodenum was likewise inflamed, with a few dark patches which had become mortified. Heart flaccid, brain healthy——"

"Why don't you say it? If poison had been found we should have an exact replica of the Somervell report. Am I right?"

"To a T. Taken all in all," said Bream shrewdly, "we may call it a most unsatisfactory verdict—but one which could not possibly be upset."

Bream went with Colin to the hospital to hear the analyst's report on the cigarets. Colin scanned it with trumph.

"It's what I expected. You see, don't you, how the trick was played?"

Bream did see; but the past was past. As he pointed out, it would still be putting forward what was hardest to believe in—that Blundell hoodwinked a woman into willing money not to him, but away from him.

"Not but what I can think of a reason for his doing that identical thing. It's simply that I see no chance of bringing it home to him—none. I doubt if the Yard itself . . . and yet, that's an idea. . . ."

"You mean get the Yard to take an interest?"

"I don't know if I can. This dope might work it. Yes, Headcorn would see how it might affect the alibi in the Fairlamb case. You'll let me borrow this report? Thanks. And will you speak to Miss Lake at once about our plan for catching Blundell red handed over the smokes? I think I'll do well to keep behind scenes."

When Bream had gone Pilcher made a communication which sent Colin whirling excitedly on him.

"What! You'll swear to that?"

"No. It's my impression; but we may be able to turn up the bill. Leave it to me."

"It would provide us with a strong link in the chain," thought Colin. "And God knows we need strong links."

About to leave the building he remembered his promise to Diana. He turned to the telephone and gave her number.

Five whole minutes passed before he hung up and during that time he had heard her bell ringing steadily. It seemed extraordinary that with an extension beside her bed she could sleep through the noise. He stood debating with himself vaguely uneasy.

In the street his steps lagged and halted as though an invisible leash were straining in the opposite direction. A lone taxi prowled past him. He sprinted after it, shouting like a lunatic.

"Queen's Close, Kensington," he panted. "Drive like hell. . . ."

Number Six was dark from basement to mansard. Now he stood on the stone steps listening intently and hearing no sound he felt so foolish he was of half a mind to go away again. The bedroom window was open, the curtains behind it fluttering in the cold breeze.

Film Director's Injuries Are Reported as Serious

Hollywood, Cal., March 5.—[Special.]—Gordon Jennings, special effects director at Paramount film studio, may have suffered a broken back when he fell off a cliff while on location with the company making scenes for "High, Wide and Handsome" at Big Bear, Cal., yesterday. Dr. H. J. Strathearn said Jennings' back injuries were serious, but declined to go into detail.

Give Dinner Parties Before Mirror Revue.

Mandel hall at the University of Chicago was gay with lights and music last night for the 12th annual Mirror revue, put on by the young women students, members of the Mirror organization, assisted by some of the university's men students. Many former students drove down from the north side for the occasion, among them Mr. and Mrs. Roger Q. White, the John J. McDonoughs, and the junior Gair Tourtellots, all of whom had boxes.

Mrs. White, who confines her histrionic abilities to the Chicago Junior League's Children's theater these days, once took part in the Mirror revue, the same year that Mrs. Marshal G. Sampsell [Margaret Carr] wrote the book. Mrs. Sampsell is in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonough and their box guests, the Errett Van Nices and the Charles F. Cutters, motored down to the Quadrangle club across the street from Mandel hall, for dinner before the performance.

Miss Virginia and Miss Peggy Wiley, who had Mrs. Frederic Woodward's box, entertained their guests at dinner at home. It was Miss Virginia's first public appearance since recovering from an appendectomy.

Women Musicians Sponsor Ricci Recital.

Among those who have boxes for Ruggiero Ricci's violin recital in Orchestra hall tonight are the Charles H. Swifts, Ulrich Beusch, the Swiss consul; Mrs. Louise Hattstaedt Winter, president of the Musicians' Club of Women, which is sponsoring the young violinist; Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, Mrs. William E. Vogelback, Mrs. Harriet Curtis Flower, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Mrs. Daniel Schuyler, Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes, and Franco Fontana, the Italian consul general.

Members of the popular D'Oyly Carte Opera company will have breakfast tomorrow as the guests of The Tavern. Among the club members who will have parties are the William C. Boydens, Frank P. Breckinridge, and Charles S. Peterson.

Mr. Peterson also will have guests tomorrow night at the buffet supper and musical to be given at the Cliff Dwellers for Jacques Gordon and his string quartet. Among others who will be hosts are the Herbert E. Hydes, Nelson Fuqua, the Percy B. Eckharts, the Francis W. Parkers, the Norman Parkers, the Francis Knights, L. L. Valentine, John Palmer, the Ralph H. Nortons, and the Hermon D. Smiths.

Mary Cameron will give a lecture recital, "Musical Footprints," tomorrow evening at the Cordon at 8 o'clock. Supper will be served at 6:30.

Headmaster at Choate to Be Luncheon Guest.

Adlai E. Stevenson will preside at a luncheon to be given today at the Lake Shore Athletic club for Dr. George C. St. John, headmaster of the Choate school, and Russell Ayres, president of the National Alumni association, who are here from Wallingford, Conn. More than 180 alumni and parents of students at the school will be present to hear Dr. St. John and to meet him informally.

Jay Allen, recently Spanish correspondent for THE TRIBUNE, will be the speaker at the luncheon of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations next Saturday at the Palmer house. Mr. Stevenson is president of the council.

John Irving and C. Peter Jaeger are entertaining at cocktails from 4 until 7 o'clock this afternoon in Mr. Irving's apartment at 42 East Elm street. Mr. Irving returned recently from Europe.

Women Voters Study "Peace Through Trade."

The Lake Shore League of Women Voters is devoting this month to "Peace Through Neutrality and International Trade." There will be two study groups, one Monday and the other the following Monday, preparatory to a speech Walter Laves will give on the subject at a luncheon meeting on Monday, March 22, at the Arts club. Mr. Laves is director of the midwest office of the League of Nations association.

The ballroom of the Woman's Athletic club probably will have a capacity audience next Thursday morning, for the speaker is to be Arthur Meeker Jr., who will give his listeners "A Pinch of Salzburg." Mr. Meeker is noted for his wit and every one who ever has heard him talk informally about Salzburg anticipates an amusing as well as interesting talk.

Tonight Mr. Meeker is to be one of the speakers at the Montparnasse forum held every Saturday night after dinner at the Vassar House restaurant.

Dr. Anton J. Carlson of the University of Chicago will be the other speaker. Dr. Carlson's subject will be: "Is Sex the Basic Drive in Human Behavior?" Miss Olga Menn and Fred Farrell will contribute music to the program.

The Dante Alighieri society will welcome Dr. Franco Fontana, the new Italian consul general, at a reception and banquet Sunday evening, March 14, at the Lake Shore Drive hotel. Maj. J. S. Barnes, British author and lecturer, who was a military observer in the Italian campaign in Ethiopia, will speak. Mario Palmieri, former officer of the Italian navy and author of "The Philosophy of Fascism," is president of the society.

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Bissell and Mrs. Tilt Bartlett have gone to Sea Island, Ga., to spend a few weeks with their parents, the Charles A. Tilts, who have a new house there.

Son in Prison; Writing May Show Reason

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

Can you imagine anything sadder than a brilliant woman with a charming personality whose son is repeatedly breaking the law and now is in state's prison for the third time?

His handwriting shows no criminal tendencies, though his mother sent only the present writing and says, "His writing has changed in various ways during the last eight months. I am wondering whether for better or for worse. I am eager to do the best for his character building."

My advice may sound strange to this mother, but I have studied both handwritings carefully.

I am eager to do the best
I certainly miss little "Marty" especially

The first handwriting is that of the mother. Notice the large writing, and particularly notice the heavy pressure without much slant to the letters. Such writers have extraordinarily dominating natures, sometimes without even realizing it. The w shaped m reveals so much charm that those who bow to this woman's will may not consciously realize her domination.

Subconsciously there may be a rebellion, especially among children. As phychologists say: "We are all made by the time we are 6 and the ideas we then have influence our whole life."

Her son's handwriting shows an extremely sensitive nature and no criminal tendencies. He also makes a low, small sized capital I, indicating a lack of self-appreciation. Combine this with extreme admiration for a mother he never expects to equal and the reason that he is in prison may be largely because he likes it there!

Does that sound too silly? A popular and clever book states that "We all wish to feel important." At home this son never can hope to feel important because he feels inferior to those about him. In prison, because he is an unusual type of confirmed prisoner, he undoubtedly is made to feel superior to his associates. He would say this is not true, I suppose, but even the wording of the letters he sends to his mother reflects no dislike of his present environment. He talks of prison as if it were a club and the Marty of whom he continuously speaks is his canary. Doesn't that seem significant? Why doesn't he "especially" miss the members of his own family, whom he obviously admires and loves deeply?

My advice to this mother would be to attempt to appreciate her son's excellent mentality and to place him, when he is free, in a position where he will feel important.

Wife Foolish in Loyalty to Bully Husband

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My husband and I have been married for six years. I have done everything in my power to make our marriage a success, but my husband is cruel and mean to me. Never mind what I've gone through and what I have done to try and change him. I have been nice to him when I have hated him for his treatment of me. He bosses me around as if I were a 2 year old child. He insults me in public. He has done this from the day I married him. It's gotten to the point where I can't go on any longer.

"Yet, I can't make up my mind to leave him. The thought of what people will say stops me. I can't say 'what friends will think' for I haven't any. He made me give up all friends. No one to talk to. No one to visit with or visit me at my house. It's awful. His only conversation is complaining, complaining, and that he is tired and sleepy. He doesn't want me to see even a movie and I get so homesick and so low in spirit I could do away with myself without any conscience pangs." CARINE.

If all you say is true, why do you stay on inviting more humiliation and abuse? There's no law on earth [United States earth, that is] that would urge you to remain in an atmosphere of such complete distintegration. No individual owes another loyalty under the circumstances described.

But why did you ever let the man get that dominant hold on you? Why didn't you resent the public insults and the mental abuse right from the beginning? It's fairly late now to attempt to change the man, and the only thing, to our mind, that would humanize him is to threaten to withdraw. And threaten not half-heartedly, but as if you meant it. Maybe a short absence would have some effect.

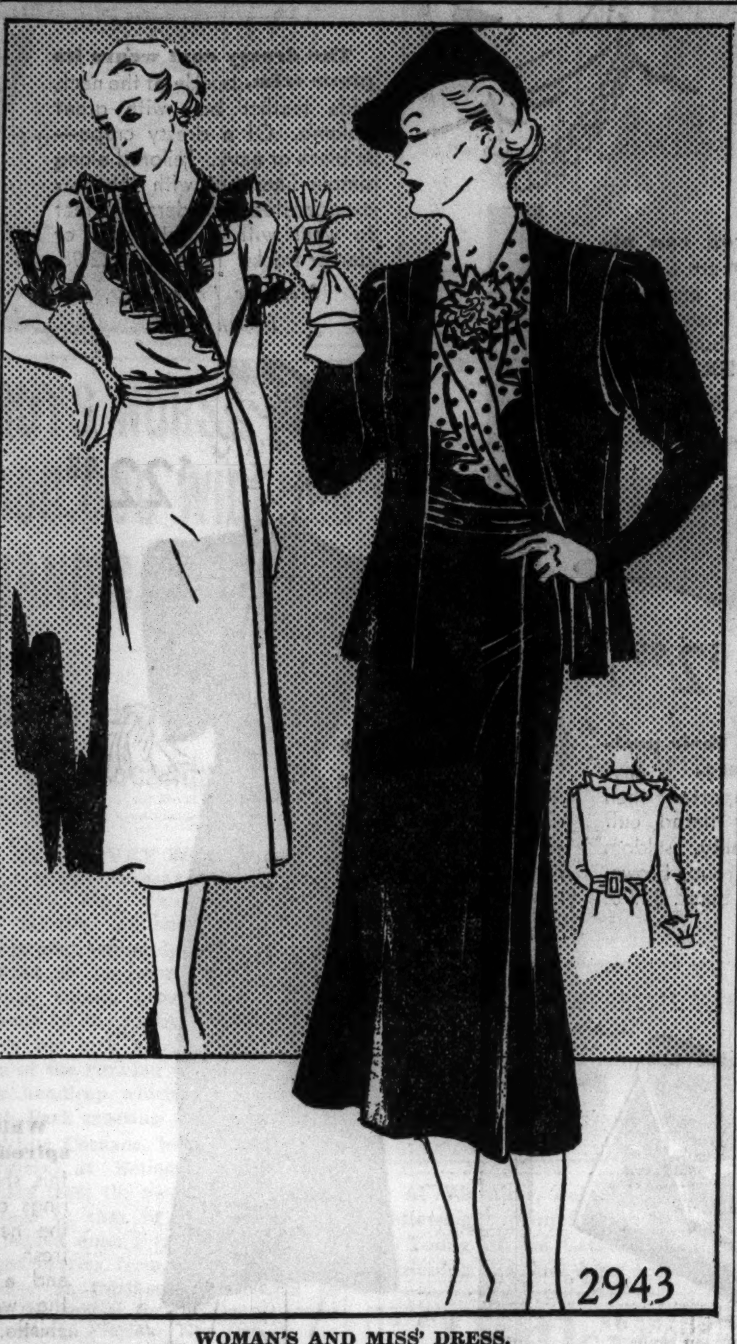
We are not so hopeful about reforming a character with cruelty as its dominant feature. But you hint that you still have feelings for the man when you say you can't bring yourself to leave. There's one thing surer than sure, and it is that if you continue to take the treatment you're now getting, he will become more and more cruel and eventually wind up hating you and casting you off. By taking his treatment you put yourself in the position for more of the kind.

Your Handwriting Analyzed

Any Tribune reader can obtain a personal graphology chart showing his or her assets, handicaps, talents, and emotions by following these rules:

1. Send sample of handwriting to Muriel Stafford, Chicago Tribune, postoffice box 1720.
2. Inclose 10 cents (carefully wrapped) for each sample of handwriting you wish analyzed.
3. Inclose a self-addressed, STAMPED envelope, folded once.

Chic Although Practical



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Plenty of practicality is concealed in the chic lines of this springtime jacket ensemble. It combines the slenderization of plain dark fabric with the youthful sprightliness of printed trim. The printed material forms a surplice collar and pretty cuffs on the short sleeves of the dress, which is an entity in itself and smart without the jacket, if you prefer to leave the little coat at home while you still must wear your winter wrap.

This practical model is designed along wrap-around lines, which are exceedingly slenderizing. The jacket extends to just below the hips, a factor which succeeds in giving an illusion of slenderness and height, and does not cut off the silhouette to make it appear "dumpy." Another interesting feature of this ensemble, which some of you may want to know, is that it is so styled that it may be worn as a maternity outfit, because it permits extra inches of material to be released at the waistline. The jacket and soft sash are flattering and concealing.

Style No. 2943 is designed for sizes 16, 18 and 20 years, and 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 5¾ yards of 39 inch material, with 1 yard of 39 inch contrasting and 1 yard of 39 inch lining.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Every family should "eat out" now and then. The practice has many advantages. For the superintendent of the kitchen range, if she be a mother, there is the advantage of eating some one's else cooking for once. For the rest of the family there is either advantage [A] of eating better cooking than they get at home, or [B] of eating worse cooking than they get at home and thereby gaining an understanding of what a lot of other people must put up with regularly.

There is another advantage for mother, too. She may pick up a new idea or two about something to try on her own cook stove. Or she may be reminded, as she studies a menu, of many another cookery idea about which she's almost forgotten. Such as popovers.

A popover which refuses to pop over is a worse nuisance than a cream puff which won't puff. The two are closely related, the popover and the puff. They're "near kin," not mere "shirt-tail relations."

Popover pans [preferably iron ones] must be hot when the batter is put into them, and the oven in which they are baked must be hot. And the only other remaining factor in making poppable popovers is the method of mixing. It's really quite simple.

Popovers.

1 cup all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
¾ cup plus 2 tablespoons milk
1 tablespoon melted butter

1. Place heavy, oiled popover pans in a 450 degree oven to heat while mixing the batter.

2. Sift the flour before measuring. Sift it again with the salt, into a mixing bowl.

3. Beat the eggs until they are frothy [not smooth and light] in another bowl.

4. Add the milk and melted butter, which has been cooled, to the eggs.

5. Stir the liquid combination slowly into the dry ingredients. Beat the mixture until the ingredients all are well blended, but no longer.

6. Pour the batter into the hot pans, filling them two-thirds full.

7 Place in the oven [still at 450 degrees] and allow the popovers to bake for 20 minutes.

8. Reduce the heat to moderate [350 degrees] and allow them to dry out.

9. Remove from the oven and from the pans at once.

The recipe is simple and the method is simple. There should be no difficulty in baking popovers that really pop if these instructions are followed.

To reheat popovers which have cooled [and they cool quickly], put them in a paper bag, close the bag, and place the bag in a hot oven [450 degrees] for five minutes.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

When partner has opened with one of a suit and the next opponent has overcalled at the two level [such as one spade by partner, two hearts by the opponent], a two no trump free bid now is virtually equivalent to the usual jump two no trump response when there is no intervening bid, and requires two and a half honor tricks. Included in these must be the stopper in the opponents' suit, and two stoppers are desirable unless a "fit" such as K x or Q J with partner's suit makes it probable that a plentitude of immediate winners can be found. Although technically not forcing, because it is not a jump bid, it obviously must be as strong a hand as though made without the opponent's bid.

A sound two no trump response, partner having bid one heart and opponent two diamonds, is ♠Q 10 3 ♥K 6 ♦K J 7 ♣A J 7 6 2. With a weaker hand the responder should try to find some other response.

A three no trump response, if a jump bid, is just the same as though the intervening overcall had not occurred, with the one difference that it must include a stopper in the opponents' suit.

TODAY'S HAND.

North, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ A K Q 10 9 5
♥ None
♦ A K J 9 8 4 2
♣ None

WEST	EAST
♠ 4 3	♠ J 6 2
♥ 10 9 8 2	♥ 7 5 4
♦ 7	♦ Q 6 3
♣ Q 9 6 5 3 2	♣ J 10 8 4

SOUTH
♥ A K Q J 6 3
♦ 10 5
♣ A K 7

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
2 spades	Pass	7 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The ten of hearts was led and, as the hearts were well divided, there was no problem in playing, because after the fourth trick the cards could be laid down. A great discussion followed, however, and we decided to submit these questions to you:

"1. What is the correct bidding and the best final contract?

"2. If the final contract is seven no trump, what discards are to be made from the dummy if a heart or club is led? You will note that dummy is squeezed on the first trick. F. K."

At first glance it appears that if the bidding proceeds more conventionally the seven no trump final contract which, due to the lack of communication from one hand to the other, was definitly bad, should be avoided, but in fairness to South I am not at all certain that this could be done in actual play. Suppose North had begun properly with a forcing two bid on his longer suit? The bidding then would proceed as follows:

North	South
2 diamonds	2 hearts
2 spades	3 hearts
3 spades	4 no trump
5 no trump

And now, at this stage, South would have to be something of a clairvoyant as well as a poor bridge player to bid anything except seven no trump. From South's viewpoint it is incredible that he will be unable to enter his own hand with either a heart or a club, and no trump appears a safer contract than any suit, since the result will not necessarily depend on the favorable break of one chosen trump suit.

Now, as to the proper discard from the dummy when West opens with a heart, there is a greater chance that the spade suit, which misses only the jack and four small cards, will be solid than that the longer diamond combination will come home without the loss of a trick.

Obviously, had West hit on a spade or diamond opening lead, the slam would have been defeated.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: The opening bid was one heart. Opponents did not bid. Partner responded with one no trump. What should be the rebid on the following?

WEDDING

Announcement is being made today of a wedding that took place last Monday evening, that of Miss Augusta Adams of Evanston, to Temple Bellamy, son of H. Temple Bellamy of 109 East Bellevue place. The bride is the niece of Miss Margaret and Miss Edith Lowden of 217 Kedzie street, Evanston, with whom she made her home. She is a graduate of Monticello seminary and of the National College of Education in Evanston.

The bridegroom, whose mother was a granddaughter of Joel A. Matteson, governor of Illinois from 1853 to 1857 and founder of the Alton railroad, was educated at the Chicago Latin School for Boys, and at Lake Forest academy. He and his bride are at home now in Bellevue place, but will leave next month on a postponed wedding trip either to California or to Bermuda. The Misses Lowden and former Gov. Frank O. Lowden trace their families to the same district in Scotland.

'DOUBLE SUNSET' IN PERU JUNE 8; IT'S AN ECLIPSE

It will be brought about by the longest eclipse of the sun in 1,200 years which at one point will have a totality of 7 minutes 4 seconds.

The path of totality, scientists said today, will pass through the city of Huaraz, about 200 miles north of Lima. But observers will not be able to see the full eclipse, because it will be sunset in this part of the world before the sun comes out from behind the moon's shadow.

U. S. Observers in Pacific.

Far out in the Pacific, however, a party of American scientists will get a longer view of the phenomenon. If all goes well they will be in the path of total eclipse for almost five minutes.

Besides being the longest eclipse in 1,200 years, the celestial show will "end the day before it starts." Its path will cross the international date line—where time "stands still" between east and west—in mid-Pacific. There it will begin June 9 and end June 8.

While the eclipse will start almost at sunset in Peru, it will be dawn in the Samoa Islands.

Marks Path of Totality.

Commander Antonio J. Saldias of the Peruvian navy, making special studies in connection with the eclipse, estimated the central path of totality will pass through Huaraz. The eclipse will start there at 4:17 p. m. and end 3 hours and 25 minutes later, after sunset.

Weather permitting, the eclipse also will be seen in Lima, beginning at 4:18 p. m.

Commander Saldias said totality would occur at 6 p. m. [Lima time is almost exactly the same as eastern standard time.]

Japanese to View Eclipse.

A Japanese scientific expedition, coming to Peru to observe the eclipse, will make the port of Casma, almost directly west of Huaraz, its headquarters.

The United States navy will coöperate with the National Geographic society in sending an elaborately equipped expedition to the Phoenix Islands in the Pacific to observe the solar event. The expedition will establish itself either on Canton or Enderbury Island—just south of the equator, about 1,800 miles southwest of the Hawaiian Islands and 3,000 miles northeast of Australia.

Dr. S. A. Mitchell, director of the Leander McCormick observatory at the University of Virginia, will be scientific leader of the expedition.

MISS GOTTLIEB'S CHARGES DENIED BY INN MANAGER

Carey Phelan.

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Carey Phelan, manager of the Seaside inn at Rockaway Beach, who is accused by Miss Beatrice Gottlieb, well known golfer, of attacking her in the inn last Sept. 8, took the stand in his own defense today and told an entirely different story. Testifying before a jury and Judge Charles S. Colden in Long Island City, Phelan said:

"About 2:30 in the morning we were on the veranda having drinks. Miss Gottlieb asked me where the ladies' room was and I told her. She asked me to go with her and point it out. I went about half way and pointed it out and was starting back when she said there was no light and asked me to find it.

"I did. She threw her arms around me and began to kiss me. I began kissing her. She bit my tongue. I grabbed her by the shoulder and pushed her away. I said: 'You are a wild cat.' Then I left her."

Before Phelan's testimony, Judge Colden dismissed a first degree rape charge against him and the trial was continued on the charge of felonious assault. The court held there was no corroboration of the rape charge.

A. A. RYAN TRIED TO SEDUCE HER, SAYS EX-SERVANT

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Charges of a servant girl that Allan A. Ryan Sr., son of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, repeatedly attempted to seduce her were filed in affidavits today in state Supreme court.

Affidavits on behalf of Miss Martha Selbergoff, formerly a domestic in the Ryan home here, were offered in support of her motion to reopen a default in her $100,000 assault action against Ryan.

Arguments will be heard next Monday by Justice Salvatore A. Cotillo, who a short time ago heard Peggy Garcia's charges that she was seduced by the radio violinist, Dave Rubinoff.

Miss Selbergoff, in her statement to the court, said she had worked "in some of the best homes" in Tuxedo Park and on Long Island, and was employed in the Ryan home in November of 1933.

Ryan began to force attentions upon her in January, 1934, she said, and his actions "were a great surprise and shock to me." She said she left her position three months later.

Imported Donegal Tweeds Give Up Leisure for Business

In looking into the background of tweeds, it seems that the first to adopt them, besides the weavers themselves, were the English sportsmen who found them unsurpassed for meeting the vagaries of the weather encountered on the Scotch moors, where they did their grouse shooting. The tweeds chosen for this leisurely life in the open were many, but it's a matter of record that for color and texture none bettered the hard finished Irish nubbed Donegal tweeds produced in County Donegal, Ireland. It is of imported Donegals, lighter in weight and softer in texture and with their characteristic nubs, that these single and double breasted business suits are tailored.

MINNESOTA AND ILLINOIS SEEK TITLE TONIGHT

Games Tonight

Illinois at Northwestern.
Minnesota at Chicago.
Michigan at Wisconsin.

The wild scramble for the Western conference basketball championship will end tonight with the title hinging upon the outcome of the three final games.

Douglas Mills.

Illinois and Minnesota are tied for the lead with nine victories and two defeats each, and Michigan is close behind with eight victories and three defeats. The Illini will face Northwestern's revived Wildcats before a capacity crowd at Patten gymnasium while the Gophers oppose Chicago's Maroons on the Midway. The game between Michigan and Wisconsin will not affect the championship standing unless both Illinois and Minnesota lose, in which case a victory for the Wolverines would mean a three way tie for the title. The other conference teams have already played their allotted 12 games.

Purdue and Indiana Flounder.

This year's race, the most heated in recent seasons, finds last year's co-champions, Purdue and Indiana, floundering among the also rans. The Boilermakers hung on grimly until defeats by Michigan and Wisconsin in the final stages of the race, erased their title chances. Indiana fell behind early in the season.

Illinois' showing is a tribute to Coach Doug Mills, who is going through his first season as head coach. Mills, a former Illini football and basketball star, stepped into the head coaching position following the resignation last spring of Craig Ruby.

One of the biggest surprises of the race was Minnesota's rise from a tail-end position last year to a title contender. For years the Gophers have been knocked around in the lower bracket of the standings.

Northwestern Regains Punch.

Northwestern, which faded badly after a promising start, now seems to have regained its lost punch and really holds the key to the championship. The Wildcats stand as a real threat to Illinois' title hopes.

Last Monday night the Purple dropped a 34 to 33 overtime game to Minnesota after having led most of the way.

The game at Patten gymnasium has every indication of being a thriller. Illinois' hopes of a championship depend upon victory, while Northwestern visions a chance of salvaging some satisfaction from an otherwise disappointing season by upsetting the league leaders.

Both Teams Speedy.

Both teams possess abundant speed and a number of crack shots. The Illini attack centers around Harry Combes, Bob Riegel, and Louie Boudreau. This front line trio is supported by two experienced guards, Wib Henry and Jim Vopicka.

Northwestern will depend on the accurate shooting of Mike McMichael to turn the tide in its favor. The Des Moines veteran holds second place in the conference scoring. He will team with Jean Smith at forward, with Jake Nagode at center. The guard positions will be held down by Bob Voigts and Jim Currie, two sophomores.

Tonight will be Chicago's last chance to win a Big Ten game. For two year's the Maroons have failed to win a conference game and nothing would satisfy the south side five more than to topple the front running Gophers.

Sox Pose for Movies, Then Take It Easy

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 5.—The White Sox spring training camp today degenerated into something closely resembling a small time movie lot. An army of newsreel men descended on the premises as proof that J. Louis Comiskey's team is an important family in the baseball world and demands for poses were extensive. But Manager James Dykes, appreciating the value of publicity and not a bit bashful about getting himself before a camera, was not heard to complain that his practice plans were being ruined.

As a matter of fact, Dykes appears to regard the work of his first squad as an item that may be taken lightly. He brought the battery men and a few stray performers here in advance, merely to prepare them physically for next week's invasion by the regulars who, as soon as they arrive, will be looking for batting practice.

Dykes to Become Serious.

During the movie workout today Vernon Kennedy was picked to do the heroics in a stunt involving the carrying of one of several high school lassies who were brought along to add a touch of beauty to the setting. The winner of 21 games last season put so much action into his rôle that he ripped a finger on his pitching hand. But the mishap, while unimportant, probably was enough to stop him from worrying about his bum left knee. He'll be ready to pitch long before Dykes needs him, which will be about the time the Cubs are encountered three weeks hence.

The serious work will start Monday, partly because several regulars are expected to appear at that time, although not due until the next day, and partly as a concession to those now undergoing the monotonous preliminary routine.

Rubber Shirts Appear.

The so-called serious work is nothing worse than batting practice, in which there is a lot of exercise and more fun, hence, easy to take.

Rubber shirts blossomed forth today in the limited drill which came after the movie fellows had evacuated the premises. There really wasn't any need of the torso reducing garments, because, for the third straight day, the sun was active in all its March brilliancy. It was hot enough to perspire standing still in a swimming suit. But fellows like Mule Haas, who has the sweatshirt habit; John Whitehead, who doesn't mind taking it off to make more room for increased poundage later, and Manager Dykes, among others, encased themselves in the extra covers.

Dykes doesn't know whether Zeke Bonura, the holdup annual, will arrive Monday or Tuesday or even later and it doesn't make much difference, so far as the manager is concerned. Bonura's acceptance of terms ahead of his usual schedule hasn't changed the manager's determination to have a little fun watching the sufferings of the big Italian youth. Dykes claims he isn't going to speak to his first sacker for the first week, except to call him a "loafer" whenever he sees him standing idle on the practice lot.

Carleton Calls on Sox.

Among the many callers at the practice field today was Tex Carleton, the Cub pitcher, who hasn't signed his contract, but who talked as if the club had met his demands. Babe Herman, the Reds' outfielder, also was present, but in a Sox uniform and this will be a regular thing until he decides to report to his present employers.

NOTRE DAME JINX STRIKES; ZWERS IS RECOVERING

Notre Dame, Ind., March 5.—[Special.]—Joseph B. Zwers, Notre Dame 1937 football captain elect, today was reported resting comfortably in St. Joseph hospital, South Bend, following an emergency appendectomy late last night.

Joe Sullivan, 1935 captain elect, died a month after his election of a brain infection following pneumonia. Bill Smith, 1936 captain elect, resigned his position in favor of John Lautar because of illness.

BUYS HORSE FOR $50,000 WIDENER HANDICAP TODAY

Martin Hopes to Repeat Court Scandal Luck.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., March 5.—Townsend B. Martin, millionaire New York sportsman, whose Court Scandal, purchased on the morning of the Flamingo stakes, proved the surprise winner of the former Florida Derby, gave his luck another test on the eve of the running of the rich Widener handicap which closes the Hialeah Park meeting tomorrow.

White Cockade, hero of last year's Withers at Belmont Park, today passed from the ownership of Ogden Phipps to that of Mr. Martin and is named among the nineteen overnight entries from which a field of twelve or thirteen is expected to face the barrier for the richest stake ever run in Florida. Net value to the winner will be around $50,000, according to the number of starters. In today's sale White Cockade brought $10,000, plus 25 per cent of tomorrow's stake earnings, if he wins any.

Another Profitable Deal.

In between those stake deals Mr. Martin bought Her Reigh from the stable of Mrs. John D. Hertz and won with her the next day in her first start under new colors.

Martin luck, now so-called, will have a tough tussle with Dame Fortune tomorrow, for White Cockade is quoted at 20 to 1 in the overnight betting which makes the Denemark-Shaffer trio of Finance, Two Bob, and Floradora, trained by Bert Michell, favorites at 8 to 5. Of these, Finance, frequent winner at shorter distances than the mile and a quarter route, is called the most sound on the figures. Floradora and Two Bob are expected to be in the early pace. Besides, fortune has been kind also to this leading stable combination of the meeting.

There is plenty of other contention, however, to send handicappers to midnight electricity in studying the dope. Whopper, Hal Price Headley's giant, has been running well in stakes at shorter routes and ccming strongly at the finish. This route is more to his liking.

Columbiana in Light.

Or if you are looking for tips from workouts there's Columbiana, owned and trained by Buddy Hirsch of the noted family of trainers, including Miss Mary Hirsch. This filly in a workout early in the week stepped the stake distance in 2:02, only one-fifth second off the track record, set last year by Mantagna in the same stake which then had added value of only $10,000 compared to the $50,000 of tomorrow. Columbiana's impost is only 103 pounds.

There's another fellow in there, at a price too, which some of the shrewd trainers concede an excellent chance. That's Bow and Arrow from the Bradley barn, which has been so successful in Kentucky Derbies. Bow and Arrow carries 106 pounds and, with Jocky Joe Renick aboard, is quoted 12 to 1. Bow and Arrow has worked the route under mild restraint in 2:04. Columbiana and Bow and Arrow are liked by those who fancy a light weighted horse for the journey as against the higher imposts carried by Finance, Whopper, Azucar and others.

Starters Are Listed.

Here's the list of starters:

Notables in Sports Attend Gloves Finals

Notables in sports, both professional and amateur, were in the capacity crowd of 21,768 at last night's final bouts in the Tournament of Champions at the Stadium.

One early arrival was Bo McMillin, football coach at Indiana university. He occupied a first row seat. HARTNEK RULES HEAVYWEIGHT DIVISION AGAIN

His Victory Climax to Golden Gloves.

The Champions

112 POUNDS—Jimmy Urso, Detroit.
118 POUNDS—Frank Kainrath, Chicago, C. Y. O.
126 POUNDS—William Joyce, Gary.
135 POUNDS—Edward Kozole, Detroit.
147 POUNDS—Verne Patterson, Chicago.
160 POUNDS—Al Wardlow, Dayton, O.
175 POUNDS—Herman West, Centralia, Ill.
Heavyweight—Paul Hartnek, Omaha.

In the most dramatic finish in the ten year old history of Golden Gloves, the goal was reached last night by eight of the 21,000 boys who started out three months ago in search of a championship crown in The Tribune Charities, Inc., Tournament of Champions.

The drama came in the last battle of the night. Paul Hartnek, football full back from Creighton university of Omaha and last year's heavyweight champion, stepped out into the center of the ring against Lem Franklin, huge colored fellow from the Cleveland Plain Dealer team.

Franklin had just finished polishing off his tenth straight victim with a knockout punch. Eight of those sleep producing punches had come in the first round.

Crowd Is Breathless.

Things didn't look bright for Hartnek, for Creighton, or for Omaha. The crowd of 21,768 was breathless as the brave young full back shuffled out to face the mighty Franklin. The football player started a right from his shoe tops. It landed on Franklin's chin. Lem went back on his heels.

Franklin didn't look quite the same from then until the finish. The most accurate count showed that Franklin hit Hartnek just three times. The Creighton football player peppered Franklin with countless punches, but he couldn't finish him. Lem was too tough for that. Hartnek wound up the winner by a good wide margin.

Trophy to Detroit.

Team trophies went to the Catholic Youth organization, which took Chicago honors, and the Detroit Free Press, which was most successful among the forty-three out of town teams that represented seventeen states.

Detroit	11	South Bend	3
Gary	6	Atlanta	1
Centralia	5	Davenport	1
Dayton	5	Indianapolis	1
Omaha	5	Nashville	1
Cleveland	4	Oklahoma City	1
Kansas City	4	St. Louis	1
Green Bay	3	Streator	1
Milwaukee	3	Terre Haute	1
Sioux City	3

The Chicago team standing was:

C. Y. O.	10	124th Field Artil.	3
Savoy A. C.	6	Heniff's Gym	1

Every inch of space in the Stadium, where the stirring battles were decided, was occupied. The attendance of 21,768 made possible receipts of $42,366. Most of the spectators had purchased their seats weeks ago.

The crowd was colorful in every sense of the word because it represented every walk of life. All cities which took part in this year's Tournament of Champions sent delegations. They arrived early. The ticket holders were aware that the first scrap was just as likely to be the biggest thriller as the last match.

Crowd Goes Into Action.

The crowd got into action at once. The spectators booed long and loudly when Johnny Noto of the Chicago C. Y. O. was awarded the decision over Benjamin Rich of Kansas City in the first of the semi-final battles.

In this flyweight match Rich knocked Noto to his knees in the first round with a long overhand right. The crowd thought that mighty punch was the margin of victory. Noto staged a great rally in the second session and he continued to go along at a speedy pace until late in the third when Rich knocked him back on his heels with another of those long rights.

Noto Not Good Enough.

Even though Noto won that close battle he met his Waterloo in the first of the championship struggles when he squared away against Jimmy Urso of Detroit. Urso simply overpowered and outpunched the Chicago youngster from beginning to end. He wasn't able to knock Noto off his feet, but his lefts and rights to Noto's chin and stomach echoed and reëchoed from one end of the Stadium to the other.

The crowd hooted again when Bill Joyce, colored slugger from Gary, won the featherweight championship. His victim was Clayton Johnson, colored boy from Sioux City. This fight didn't seem to be close. Joyce appeared to be in front all the way. Still the spectators were bent on making it a tough night for the judges.

Joyce was trying the fourth time for a Golden Glove. He whipped a clever kid in Johnson and at the same time gave the impression that he was the best puncher and most scientific boxer in the tournament.

Wardlow Tames Gordon.

The only slow bout in the championship round was between Al Wardlow of Dayton and John Gordon of Kansas City. The two colored middleweights—one a left hander and the other a right hander — tried hard enough, but neither could land a damaging punch until the last round was well under way. Then Wardlow broke through Gordon's defense, peppered his nose and chin with rights and lefts and came out of the ring with colors flying.

Gordon had gone into the finals without fighting because Nate Bolden of the Savoy A. C. of Chicago was rejected by the doctors in the afternoon.

Bolden, a square shouldered, heavily muscled colored boy, came from the physical examination room in tears. A nasty cut over his left eye, suffered in a training skirmish last Monday, caused him to be rejected. Any kind of a blow on the eye would have reopened the wound, doctors said.

Verne Patterson of the Savoy A.C. club had a fairly easy time beating Louis Angelucci of the 124th Field Artillery for the title in the welterweight division. He had the former soldier groggy in the final round.

Kozole Beats Pallatin.

Eddie Kozole, lightweight from Detroit won the closest verdict of the night when he beat Tommy Pallatin of South Bend, the national A.A.U. champion. Pallatin had swarmed all over the Detroit boy during a greater part of the battle. Tommy almost fainted when Kozole's hand was lifted as the signal of victory.

Herman West of Centralia, who for four years has been endeavoring to win a Golden Glove, finally clicked in the light heavyweight championship battle. His opponent was Nicolas Lubovich of Milwaukee. The Wisconsin boy had loomed as a certain champion until he encountered the more experienced West. A terrific right in the second round opened a deep cut over Lubovich's right eye. West followed this punch up with a vicious attack which continued through the last round. It was the finest battle West has turned in for a Golden Glove.

Semi-final results:

112 POUNDS.

John Noto, C. Y. O., Chicago, beat Benjamin Bruce Rich, Kansas City, Mo. [3].
Jimmy Urso, Detroit, beat Mitchell Walton Gary [3].

118 POUNDS.

Al Scarlata, Green Bay, Wis., beat Hayes B. O'Neal Jr., Oklahoma City, Okla. [3].

126 POUNDS.

Clayton Johnson, Sioux City, Ia., knocked out Stanley Stockins, Heniff's gym, Chicago [3].
William Joyce, Gary, Ind., beat Henry Pierce Davis Jr., Chattanooga, Tenn. [3].

135 POUNDS.

Tommy Pallatin, South Bend, Ind., beat William Goldsmith, C. Y. O., Chicago [3].

147 POUNDS.

Verne Patterson, Savoy A. C., Chicago, stopped Joe Benna, Terre Haute, Ind. [2].
Louis Angelucci, 124th Field Artillery, Chicago, beat Porter Davis Jr., Atlanta, Ga. [3].

160 POUNDS.

John Gordon, Kansas City, Mo., drew bye.
Al Wardlow, Dayton, O., stopped Cornelius Young, C. Y. O., Chicago [3].

175 POUNDS.

Herman West, Centralia, Ill., beat Mike Minnich, Cleveland [3].

HEAVYWEIGHTS.

Paul Hartnek, Omaha, Neb., beat Elza Thompson, Indianapolis, Ind. [3].

The First Knockout.

The first knockout came in an 118 pound semi-final battle when Frank Kainrath of the C. Y. O. stopped Julius Davies of Streator after a minute and 50 seconds of fighting in the second round. Davies, a college athlete from Normal, Ill., was out on his feet, so Referee Tommy Gilmore stopped it.

Clayton Johnson, the WPA worker from Sioux City, sent Stanley Stockins of Chicago down and out for the count in the third round of the first featherweight battle. A long right to the jaw put Stockins away. At the count of eight he tried to get back on his feet but could not make it.

The second of the featherweight semi-final scrap brought an unpopular decision. Henry Davis of the Atlanta team was matched against Joyce, the colored boy from Gary. The southerner knocked Joyce down in the second round. He appeared to have an advantage from that stage until the finish. The decision went to Joyce, who had staged a brisk rally near the finish.

Franklin, the Cleveland slugger, ran true to form in the first of the heavyweight battles. He had Bobby Dennis of Detroit down and out after a minute and two seconds of fighting in the first round. A right to the Detroit boy's chin ended it. It was Franklin's tenth straight knockout.

PROVISO, TILDEN MAT MEN LEAD IN STATE MEET

Champaign, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Wrestlers from Proviso of Maywood and Tilden of Chicago led qualifiers for tomorrow's semi-final bouts in the first annual state prep mat tourney as the Maywood school advanced six entrants through the first two rounds tonight. Tilden moved up four men. Proviso also was ahead for the team title by rolling up eight points, counting one point for each fall. Fenger of Chicago followed with four points.

DETAILS OF GOLDEN GLOVES TITLE BOUTS

112 POUND DIVISION

Jimmy Urso, Detroit, Mich., beat John Noto, C. Y. O., Chicago [3].

The first round was fast except for periods when the boys cautiously felt each other out. They had several good exchanges.

Jimmy Urso.

The second round opened with a bang and the boys rushed at each other swinging with all they had. First one connected with a right cross to the jaw then the other delivered a similar blow. Urso ducked and weaved in close to score with hard punches.

There was not a dull moment in the early part of the third round. They stood just far enough away from each other to measure and fire away with rights and lefts. Noto occasionally varied his style to slip in an uppercut. Throughout the round the crowd was on its feet cheering.

118 POUND DIVISION

Frank Kainrath, C. Y. O., Chicago, beat Al Scarlata, Green Bay, Wis. [3].

Kainrath utilized his superior reach to spear Scarlata with frequent left jabs. Scarlata weaved his way in close but Kainrath met his rushes with hard rights to the head. They came to close quarters near the close of the round and traded body blows. Neither suffered any damage in the round.

Frank Kainrath.

Scarlata worked his way in close but Kainrath tied him up with his right hand and landed numerous punches with his free left. Scarlata managed to evade the jab at one point in the second round and scored with a heavy right to the head.

Scarlata opened the third with a desperate effort to get in close and pound Kainrath around the body. He made Frank back away but at one point Kainrath met his rush with a hard right to the head. Scarlata kept up his barrage, shooting both hands to the body then bringing them up to the head with jarring effect. Kainrath countered with both hands to the chin just as the round ended.

William Joyce.

Joyce tried hard to corner Johnson in the second, but the Sioux City WPA worker backed up cautiously. Joyce sent in a long overhand right to the head. Against the ropes Joyce bombarded Johnson's chin but could not drop him.

Johnson took the offensive early in the third but could not find Joyce with any of his looping punches. Joyce rushed Johnson into the ropes and began an offensive to the stomach. Joyce turned Johnson completely around with a long left to the chin just before the round ended.

135 POUND DIVISION

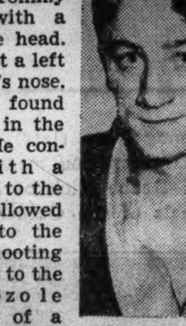
Kozole, a southpaw, rushed in with his left hand working overtime on Pallatin's stomach. They traded lefts to the head then lunged into a clinch. Tommy counted with a left to the head. Kozole shot a left to Pallatin's nose.



Edward Kozole.

Pallatin found the range in the second. He connected with a hard right to the chin and followed Kozole to the ropes, shooting both hands to the body. Kozole came out of a crouch to shake Pallatin with a left to the head. They traded punches to the body for thirty seconds without cessation.

They opened the third round by speeding up a fight already very fast, swinging away with both hands to the head. Kozole stabbed away with his right until he found an opening with his left, bringing it in a short arc to the head. Pallatin came right back with a series of left hooks. As the fight ended they were standing at close quarters, slugging freely.

147 POUND DIVISION

Verne Patterson, Savoy A. C., Chicago, beat Louis Angelucci, 124th Field Artillery, Chicago [3].

Angelucci used his long left to Patterson's face. Patterson was patient and waited for Angelucci's mistakes to counter with hard punches to the head. Angelucci took all handed out and returned in good measure.

Verne Patterson.

Early in the second round Angelucci scored frequently with blows to the head. Patterson connected with a terrific left to the nose and followed it up with several more blows to the head. Patterson landed a left flush on Angelucci's chin, making his knees buckle.

Patterson landed a long right to the head as the third round began. Angelucci countered with a right to the head. Angelucci made a desperate stand and flailed away with both hands, but was unable to hurt Patterson. Patterson whipped in a left to the body.

160 POUND DIVISION

Al Wardlow, Dayton, O., beat John Gordon, Kansas City, Mo. [3].

The boys carefully awaited openings. Wardlow met one of Gordon's rushes with a left to the head. Gordon jabbed with a long but futile left as Wardlow weaved out of danger.

Al Wardlow.

Wardlow, forgetting caution momentarily, crashed a left to the stomach early in the third. He followed Gordon, punching furiously to the head and had Gordon hanging on or falling into the ropes.

175 POUND DIVISION

Herman West, Centralia, Ill., beat Nickolas Lubovich, Milwaukee, Wis. [3].

Lubovich, with at least 3 inches in height advantage over the veteran downstater, tried to use a long left but Herman pushed it aside and crashed over right hand swings to the jaw. Herman repeated this maneuver but could not make the lanky Milwaukeean back up.

Herman West.

West opened up a busy campaign in the second but Lubovich sent over stinging rights to the head. Herman worked his way under Nick's lead and pounded him around the body, finally bringing a left hook up to the head. Lubovich also counted with a series of blows to the body and a right to the head.

The third round was a free punching affair and each boy scored with hard rights. Lubovich cracked West with a right to the head and West held on. They were pummeling each other around the body at the close of the round.

HEAVYWEIGHT DIVISION

Paul Hartnek, Omaha, Neb., beat Lemuel Franklin, Cleveland, O.

Franklin whipped over a series of rights to the head and Hartnek backed away. However, he came out of it to spear away with a left to the head. Franklin found himself again and connected with two rights to the head of the retreating Hartnek.

Paul Hartnek.

Franklin lunged in, trying for a knockout, as the second round began, but Hartnek put up his left shoulder to protect his chin. Franklin was short with a series of punches and Hartnek gave a marvelous exhibition of a fighter taking good care of himself in hard going. Hartnek scored with several sharp left hooks to the face. Hartnek closed the round with a terrific left hook to the chin.

In the first part of the third Hartnek had the shade in an exchange of lefts. Franklin missed repeatedly. Hartnek came in with a left hook to the chin. Franklin was vainly trying to land a blow on Hartnek as the fight ended.

Leonard KnocksOut Graves in 3d at Rainbo Fronton

Kid Leonard, East Moline, Ill., middleweight, gained revenge for a previous defeat at the hands of Keith Graves by knocking out the Peoria fighter in three rounds of a scheduled eight round bout at Rainbo Fronton last night. Preliminary results:

Tommy Howell beat Harry Booker [5].
Joey Richards beat Joe Pekovitch [4].
Billy Gladstone beat Johnny Terry [4].
Jack Fargo stopped Verne Galbreath [2].

seated James Norris Sr., president of Chicago Stadium.

The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago and head of the C. Y. O., sat in the first row in the north section.

Miss Aileen Ryan, private secretary to J. Louis Comiskey of the White Sox, represented the American league.

The National league had a stronger representation in Manager Charley Grimm, Boots Weber, treasurer and business manager, and John O. Seys, vice president of the Chicago Cubs.

VIZENA-PIERZ AGAIN TAKE LEAD IN ROLLER DERBY

Despite a penalty of three points on Gene Vizena and Fuzzy Pierz the pair last night regained the lead in the roller Derby at the Coliseum, which ends Sunday night.

Vizena pushed Clara Scholl off the track as they went around a curve during a jam. The new rule made by Promoter Leo Seltzer that belligerents would be disqualified if a fight started probably prevented trouble.

Gene Vizena, Esther Runne, Ivy King, and Clara Scholl started jam after jam to try to make headway. Hazel Love and Joy Nygra put on many spurts, which took them from sixth place to a tie for fourth.

Tonight the time limit on all jams will be lifted. It is expected that the team with the most endurance will win tomorrow night.

Rodak Wins to End 4 Year Winning Streak of Irish

St. Louis, Mo., March 5.—(AP)—Leo Rodak, 126 pound Chicago fighter and former Golden Gloves champion, tonight brought the four year winning streak of Kid Irish of Alton, Ill., to a close by winning a ten round decision. Rodak was awarded six of the ten rounds.

DE PAUL SWAMPS NORTH CENTRAL IN FINALE, 47-24

De Paul university's basketball team gave a great passing exhibition last night to defeat North Central college of Naperville, 47 to 24, in the final game of the season. The game marked the farewell appearance of Jim Kelly as coach of the Demons.

De Paul led after the first half, 19 to 9. Instead of employing their backhand passes in the second half, however, the Demons started aiming at the hoop. With Ed Campion pitching long passes, De Paul kept the scorers busy.

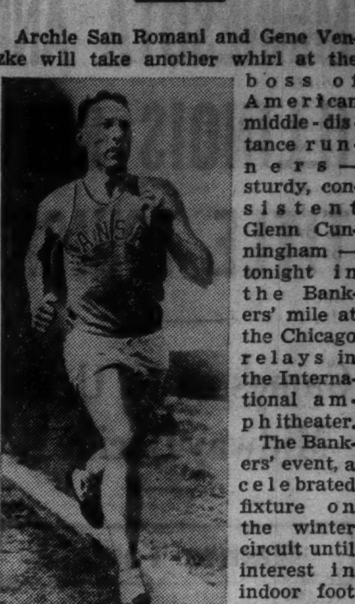
TRACK STARS TO RACE TONIGHT IN CHICAGO RELAYS

Cunningham, San Romani Run in Bankers' Mile.

Archie San Romani and Gene Venzke will take another whirl at the boss of American middle-distance runners—sturdy, consistent Glenn Cunningham—tonight in the Bankers' mile at the Chicago relays in the International amphitheater.



Glenn Cunningham.

The Bankers' event, a celebrated fixture on the winter circuit until interest in indoor foot racing in Chicago waned about ten years ago, not only will give San Romani, little speedster from Emporia, Kas., State Teachers college, and the long striding Venzke another crack at Cunningham, but will provide Chicago fans with such a spectacle for the first time since 1932.

Cunningham Won Last.

Cunningham, then just approaching his peak, won the last renewal of the Bankers' mile, conquering an ordinary field in slow time over a soft armory track. Tonight he will have a fast track, an 11 lap dirt oval, and all the competition necessary to provide a thriller.

The mile was to have been a five man affair, with Luigi Beccali, Italy's 1932 Olympic 1,500 meters champion, and feather-footed Don Lash of Indiana, as the other starters. Beccali decided not to compete, however, but the withdrawal of Lash from the event, probably will provide the meet with two features instead of one. Lash pulled out of the mile to join his fleet teammate, Tommy Deckard, in a two mile battle against the famous Rideout twins, Wayne and Blaine, from North Texas Teachers.

Beetham Meets Hebert.

In addition to the two longer runs, all star fields will be on display in the pole vault and high jumps. Earle Meadows, the 1936 Olympic title winner, will engage Japan's Sueo Oye in the former event. Cornelius Johnson, Negro Olympic high jump champion, will meet three other altitude explorers of his own race, Eddie Burke of Marquette who leaped to the world record height of 6 feet 9¾ inches in the National A. A. U. indoor championship meet last week, and the Ohio State pair, Dave Albritton and Mel Walker.

Jimmy Herbert, Negro speedster from New York university, and Charlie Beetham, Ohio State's brilliant half-miler, will clash in a special 600 yard test, and Abe Rosenkranz of Michigan Normal will face a strong field at 1,000 yards.

SMASHUP MARS SIX DAY RACE; IGNAT, DIOT LEAD

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—A sensational four-way smashup nearly broke up the six day bicycle race tonight as it moved into the final twenty-four hours. The spill took place at 11:10 and stalled the race for forty minutes. Torchy Peden, Doug Peden, Emile Diot, and Omer Debruycker were catapulted over their handlebars.

Diot, who with Ignat held the technical lead, was the most severely injured. Standings of the teams at midnight:

PAUL DEAN GOES THROUGH LONG PITCHING DRILL

Finishes Workout with No Soreness in Arm.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Paul Dean had his longest workout on the mound today since last Aug. 24 when he started against Pittsburgh. Paul threw 112 times to Cardinal hitters during his turn on the hill.

The young right hander, whose pitching fate is in the balance, delivered in his usual side arm manner. He had enough of a zip on the ball to break it in slightly to right handed batters.

"There was no sign of that sore spot deep in the corner of the shoulder that spoiled my pitching last summer," he said after the workout. "I believe I'll be all right if I take my time about getting into condition."

Don Padgett, the outfielder who belongs to Columbus, rapped out the first home run of the camp season this afternoon.

BEES TO EXPERIMENT.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Although they came to the Boston Bees as outfielders, Manager Bill McKechnie plans to convert Vince Di Maggio and Deb Garms into third basemen. The latter, formerly with the St. Louis Browns, has not reached camp, but Di Maggio worked at third during today's two and a half hours drill. He broke into professional baseball as an infielder. So did Garms.

Vince Di Maggio, Joe's rookie brother, takes a cut at the ball at the Boston Bees' camp in St. Petersburg, Fla.

STRIPP ACCEPTS TERMS.

Clearwater, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Joe Stripp, the National league's leading third baseman in 1936, today agreed to terms with the Brooklyn Dodgers for the coming season and said he would sign his contract tomorrow. His signing cuts the Dodgers' holdout list to two—Pitcher Van Mungo and First Baseman Buddy Hassett—both of whom are in the training camp.

TIGER ROOKIE IMPRESSIVE.

Lakeland, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Paul [Dizzy] Trout, voluble recruit who boasts freely of his pitching prowess, impressed Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Detroit Tigers with his fast ball today. Cochrane caught a few pitches from the youngster, a graduate of a Terre Haute, Ind., baseball school, and afterward expressed himself as pleased. Mickey, after his workout, reiterated a statement he will catch 100 games this season.

MACKS ATTEND TEA.

MEXICO CITY, March 5.—(AP)—Connie Mack took six of his Philadelphia Athletics who hail from North Carolina to tea today with United States Ambassador and Mrs. Josephus Daniels, whose home is in that state. The player guests were Pitchers Grimes, Parker, Fred Archer, Herman Fink, and Lee Ross, Second Baseman Richard Culler, and Outfielder Floyd Yount.

CHAPMAN, STONE ACCEPT.

Orlando, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Owner Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators received word today from two of his holdout players that they had accepted terms and would be in camp next week. They are Outfielders Ben Chapman and John Stone, heavy hitters of last year's team. Buck Newsom, pitcher, the remaining holdout, has reopened negotiations with Griffith after an ultimatum that a fine would be imposed unless he reported and signed his contract by Sunday. Griffith revealed today that Newsom was offered $9,000.

HEATH REACHES INDIANS.

New Orleans, La., March 5.—(AP)—Jeff Heath, 21 year old fly chaser who compiled a .341 batting average in his few 1936 year-end appearances with the Cleveland Indians, arrived at the Tribe's spring training camp today 48 hours before other infielders and outfielders are scheduled to register. Heath faces rugged competition in such veterans as Earl Averill, who hit .378 last year; Julius Solters, former St. Louis slugger; Roy Weatherly, and Bruce Campbell.

VERDICT FAVORS DEMPSEY IN SUIT BY BOOTBLACK

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Jack Dempsey won another victory today. Justice Vincent S. Lippe in City court directed a jury to return a verdict in favor of the ex-heavyweight champion in a suit for $3,000 brought against him by Charles McFarland, colored bootblack.

The bootblack, 5 feet 8, had charged that Dempsey injured him with playful jabs in his stomach in January, 1935, as he was helping Dempsey put on his coat in a barber shop.

Justice Lippe said this afternoon, "There seems to be no proof of intent to injure, no element of hostility, no malice."

He added: "Things like this might be brought to get money. Dempsey in his restaurant business depends on his popularity. If it were shown that he was a bully it would lessen his popularity. The case shouldn't even have gone this far."

Justice Lippe also said that accounts of injuries given to police by McFarland appeared to be different than the bootblack gave on the stand yesterday.

Mrs. Wicklund Wins Tribune Casting Title

Mrs. Martha Wicklund last night won the women's championship in THE TRIBUNE'S casting tournament for the second straight year. Competing at the Navy pier, where the Boat and Sports show is in progress, she scored 95. Mrs. Howard Chatt, her nearest rival last year, placed second again with 86. Mrs. Rose Blank was third with 84.

Mrs. Martha Wicklund

Junior casters, those boys and girls under 16 years of age, will compete at THE TRIBUNE casting pool this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Trophies will be awarded three high scorers, with entries being accepted until 30 minutes before competition is scheduled to open. Contestants must report to W. J. Butler, tournament manager, who is stationed at THE TRIBUNE booth, near the center of the pier.

Final trials to determine the Chicagoland championship will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock. They will be limited to contestants who won first, second, or third prizes in previous competitions this week. Several out of town casters also have been invited.

Eddie Davis, who scored 100 points to win the Chicagoland title last year, is favored to capture the title. Other competitors will include Bob Clarkson, former national champion in the ⅝ ounce accuracy; Arno Meyer, 18 year old caster, who scored a 98 to win the Chicago Fly Casting club title, and Walter Brewer, who lifted the Lincoln Park club championship Wednesday night.

HITLER'S NAZIS HAIL NEGRO FOR BOXING HEROICS

BERLIN, Germany, March 5.—(AP)—Twelve thousand German fight fans forgot all about Nazi racial theories tonight and thunderously applauded the Belgian Negro boxer, Al Baker, even though he lost a 12 round fight to Gustave Eder of Germany. The Negro was floored for a count of three in the second round and again for a count of two in the third, but recovered and appeared to have won the edge, according to some ringside critics.

The excitement and booing, which kept the Sportpalast in an uproar eight minutes after the decision, subsided only when it was announced Eder had agreed to a return fight.

BOWDEN AND PARKER REACH TENNIS FINAL

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Two upsets were recorded as the national men's and women's indoor tennis singles tournament moved into the final bracket today.

Millicent Hirsh of New York was credited with the first upset of the day when she defeated Norma Taubele, another New Yorker, 7-5, 0-6, 7-5. Frank J. Bowden, also of New York, was victorious in the other reversal of form when he downed Walter Senior of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Frank Parker, America's No. 2 player, had little trouble defeating David N. Jones of New York in their semifinal match, 6-2, 6-1, 8-6.

Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France, the only foreigner in the tournament, defeated Charlotte C. McNeill of Bound Brook, N. J., 6-2, 6-1.

WISCONSIN WINS FROM DUKE IN BOXING, 5 TO 3

Madison, Wis., March 5.—[Special.]—The University of Wisconsin boxing team defeated Duke university tonight, five matches to three. Both teams forfeited one bout. Raymond Matulewicz, 175 pound representative, scored the only decision victory for Duke, the visitors picking up their remaining points on draws and the forfeit. Ten thousand saw the bouts. Summaries:

EARLIER CHICAGO.

MIAMI, Fla., March 5.—Dear Wake: The Chicago river in the '80s was crowded with shipping. There were several hundred schooners and steamers in the lumber trade alone. "Bridged" crowds watched with interest the rapid passing of passenger boats, lumber steamers, tug drawn schooners, and with impatience the slow passage of heavy freighters through the narrow draws of the old swing bridges. Frantically puffing tugs often labored to draw some big upperdecker off a tunnel top.

Many remember the tugboats Mosher, Morford, Miller, Dunham, and the O. B. Green with its siren whistle.

Storms, collisions, and fires took heavy toll of Chicago shipping. From 1872 to 1884 137 ships were lost, including 119 schooners. Evidence of such tragedies was washed ashore—wreckage, bits of cargo, bodies.

I remember a notable instance. On May 21, 1891, among clearances for Muskegon, Mich., were the schooners Rouse Simmons and Thomas Hume, owned by Hackley & Hume, Muskegon. There was no storm, but the lake was very rough. After several hours the Simmons put back to Chicago. The Hume continued. That was the last ever seen of the boat and of Capt. Harry Albright and the crew of six men, all of Chicago. No wreckage or bodies ever were found.

Capt. H. L. Sanders, retired superintendent of a steamship line, veteran of 62 years' lake experience, said to me recently: "Loss of the Hume and its crew without leaving a trace on one of the most traveled lake routes remains to this day one of the most mysterious disappearances in the history of the Great Lakes."

Fred A. Ebersold.

Back in 1905 we newsboys did not need a permit to sell newspapers on street corners. In 1911 former Mayor Carter H. Harrison issued the first permit. Lawrence E. McGann then was commissioner of public works and John McWeeny was chief of police. I still have the first permit that was issued. Frank Conte.

Crane Tech, Wells Senior Quintets Win

Crane Tech and Wells, representing the west section in the senior division title playoffs of the Chicago Public High School Basketball league, moved into the semi-final round yesterday.

Wells was forced into an overtime before defeating Lane, north section champion, 32 to 30, on the Lane court. Crane triumphed over Lake View, second place north section quintet, 31 to 26.

Lane held the lead in the first half, stepping out in front, 11 to 5, in the opening period, and 16 to 13 at half time. In the final quarter, with Lane leading, 29 to 28, Sachs of Wells sank a free throw to tie the score.

In the overtime period Bernstein put Lane ahead, when he sank a free throw, 30 to 29. Art Hoffman of Wells tied the score, and then followed with a basket for the winning margin.

DICK METZ'S 272 WINS HOLLYWOOD OPEN GOLF TITLE

Chicagoan Cards 72, 68 for Final Rounds.

Hollywood, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Dick Metz, young Chicago golfer, who shattered the course record with a subpar 63 on the second round, coasted to victory today in the 72 hole Hollywood open tournament. He finished the four rounds with a total of 272 strokes and took $700 of the $3,000 purse, the amount he won in the recent Thomasville, Ga., open.

Although Metz made the two tours in 72 and 68 today, he had several anxious moments when Johnny Revolta, also of Chicago, the first day leader, carded a 65 on the morning round to go up one stroke.

Revolta carded a 72 on the final 18 holes, however, and wound up with 275, worth a second place tie with Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y. They split $800.

Farrell Cards 278.

Jimmy Hines of New York, matching Metz's score for the day but totaling 276, won $280 fourth money. Ky Laffoon, another Chicago entrant, who had a 64 yesterday that included a nine hole 29, was one over par today and posted 277, as did Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa. That aggregate was worth $200 to each.

The home club pro, Johnny Farrell, shot a brace of 71s for a final 278 and seventh prize of $160. Seven others also finished in the prize money.

All the leaders are entered in the international four-ball matches starting Sunday, in contrast to the finish of the inaugural Hollywood open last year when the seven players behind Vic Ghezzi, the winner, were comparative unknowns.

Metz played a contrasting round this afternoon. Sinking putts from eight to 15 feet, he collected birdies on the first, fourth, sixth and seventh holes, posting 33, three under par, for the outward nine holes.

Revolta Has Trouble.

Coming back was a different story for the smiling Chicagoan. Thrown off pace, possibly by showers, he three-putted the tenth and played par golf on the last eight holes, unsuccessfully trying for birdies on each.

Revolta's woods failed to click on fairways made a trifle soft by the rain. He scored just two birdies, on the second and seventh. He hooked his tee shot out of bounds on the 14th.

Frank Strafaci of New York, former public links champion, shot a pair of 72's and won amateur honors by two strokes from Bobby Dunkelberger of Sedgefield, N. C.

124th Artillery Polo Squad Faces Detroit

Making a bid for their second Metropolitan Polo league championship in a row, Lieut. Don Rice, Capt. Romeo Mura, and Capt. Bill Everett of the 124th Field Artillery will battle the Detroit Gold Hats combination of Volney Bayley, Perry Williams, and Maury Lightman tonight at the 124th Field Artillery armory, Cottage Grove avenue and 52d street. Both hold shares in a four-way tie for first place.

The evening's double-header will also find the Rangers from the north side and the Cardinals from the south side riding for junior division honors.

Both Total 9 Goals.

On the basis of experience in teaming together, the 124th F. A. trio holds an advantage, all three members having played as a unit for three years. In the case of Detroit, Bayley and Williams have been on the same side for a like period, while Lightman has worked well with them during the current campaign.

Rating 9 goals apiece, the teams will start hostilities from scratch. All members of the 124th trio are in the books at 3 goals. For Detroit the distribution is 4 for Bayley, 3 for Williams, and 2 for Lightman.

Rangers Seek Second Place.

By winning tonight the Rangers will go into a tie for second place in the junior division, while a victory for the Cardinals will find the two teams knotted for fifth in that class.

SCOTCH BOY	111	1	6	6	6	6	6	C.Critchfield	33.25-1

Time, 1:25 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Fencing $5.00 straight, $3.00 place, $2.30 show; Bain Marie $3.70 place, $2.30 show; Prairie Dog $2.30 show. Winner, ch. g., 3, by Chance Shot-Psyche. Owner, Maxwell Howard. Trainer, E. Sande. Start good. Won driving; place easily.

FENCING, on the extreme outside all the way, began to move up around turn, assumed lead in stretch and was driven hard to win. BAIN MARIE was probably pounds the best. She attempted to go through on inside around turn, but was abruptly cut off by Stout on NAD. She was eased back then came around field and finished gamely. PRAIRIE DOG was used up racing with NAD and tired badly. NAD had speed for six furlongs then quit.

SIXTH RACE—One mile and a furlong. Four year olds and up. Claiming. Nonwinners of two races in 1937. Purse, $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

ATTA KNIGHT	110	5	4	6^{h}	8^{6}	9	9	J.Westrope	15.35-1

Time, 1:52. Two dollar mutuels paid: First Entry $23.90 straight, $12.60 place, $7.20 show; Star Bud $11.60 place, $6.80 show; Easiest Way $5.20 show. Winner, dk. b. or br. g., 5, by Kai-Sang-Io. Owner, G. La Flesh. Trainer, E. T. Miller. Start good. Won driving; place easily.

FIRST ENTRY moved up on the outside, finally ran into lead on turn, drew out, but was doing his best to win. STAR BUD moved up with a rush and made a game effort. EASIEST WAY broke fast, but dropped far back, finished fast on the inside. PLAY CHANCE closed a big gap and would have been third in a few more strides. NIGHT RAVEN stopped to a walk.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile and a furlong. Four year olds and up. Claiming. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, 1:54 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Hot Cake $5.50 straight, $4.10 place, $3.40 show; Gunwale $5.50 place, $3.80 show; Glittering $4.30 show. Winner, ch. g., 8, by The Porter-Pancake. Owner, Medway stable. Trainer, G. Alexandra. Start good. Won easily; place driving.

HOT CAKE much the best. He moved up gamely in run down backstretch, took lead half way around turn, drew away and won easy. GUNWALE was hard ridden the last half mile. GLITTERING came with a rush on the inside. BERRY PATCH was close up all the way. CHANCE QUEEN had speed for six furlongs then quit.

SEABISCUIT IS RISING CHOICE AT SANTA ANITA

Entry Is Second Hope to Howard Hope.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 5.—(AP)—Seabiscuit, Mrs. C. S. Howard's 3 year old colt which missed the $91,800 purse of the Santa Anita handicap last Saturday by two-hundredths of a second, goes to the gates as favorite tomorrow in the $10,000 added San Juan Capistrano handicap.

The son of Hard Tack and Swing On carries top weight of 120 pounds, six more than last Saturday. Indian Broom, packing 118, and Special Agent with 116, both of whom followed Seabiscuit in the money a week ago, will be the choice of many turf followers at the closing day of the Santa Anita season.

Woolf on Indian Broom.

George Woolf will be aboard Indian Broom in place of Jocky Basil James, while Pollard will ride Seabiscuit and Corbett Pilot Special Agent as in the big race.

While Rosemont, handicap winner, will not be in tomorrow's race, his stablemate, Goldseeker, 3 year old brown filly, will be in at 110 pounds with Maurice Peters handling the whip and attempting the grand slam of the season for the Foxcatcher farms, whose Fairy Hill took the Derby on Washington's birthday.

Here's the Field.

CHICAGO SQUASH PLAYERS START TOURNEY TODAY

The seventh annual squash racquets tournament for the singles championship of Chicago will start at the Lake Shore Athletic club this afternoon with the largest entry of top ranking players ever recorded by the Chicago District Squash Racquets association.

Matches will be played simultaneously on three courts during the coming week. First round matches will be played this afternoon and tomorrow. The second round is scheduled for Monday; the third round, Tuesday; the quarter-finals, Wednesday; the semi-finals, Thursday, and the finals, Saturday.

Among the favorites to win the Chicago crown formerly held by Jimmy Anderson, who is not playing in this tournament, are Dudley Pope, Joe Jannotta, H. L. Dixon Jr., Charles Hoerger, W. E. Jones, and Henry Parker. The John Marshall Squash club has the largest team entry, nine players, in the tournament.

N. U. SWIMMERS, FENCERS TO BE IN MEETS TODAY

Northwestern university's swimming and fencing teams will wind up their dual meet season at Patten gymnasium this afternoon, the swimmers meeting Ohio State and the fencers taking on Wisconsin. Both meets will start at 3 o'clock.

The Wildcat swimmers need only a victory over the Buckeyes to wind up the year with an undefeated record. To date they have won seven and tied one. The tie was with Iowa, 42 to 42. Ohio State has won all of its meets except one with Michigan.

The fencing team has also established a record for victories, having won seven out of 10 meets this season.

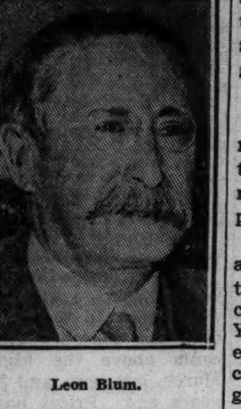
FRANCE MOVES TO RESUME OLD GOLD STANDARD

Will Establish Free Market for Metal.

PARIS, March 5.—[Special.]—Premier Leon Blum today announced a new monetary and financial program for France which was regarded as the first step toward putting the country back on the old fashioned gold standard, from which it cut loose last September.



Leon Blum.

Blum announced that effective Monday a free gold market would be established which, it was hoped, will encourage Frenchmen to bring back capital which they have had in hiding in foreign countries.

While the government's action was generally viewed with favor in conservative financial circles, it was followed by a drop in French currency in the foreign exchange market.

Plans Big Defense Loan.

The government also announced plans for floating a huge national defense loan with which to finance the country's rearmament program. The government will attempt to raise 30 billion francs. Significantly, the government announced that the loan will be payable at the option of the holders either in francs, dollars, or British pounds. By this means it is hoped to provide a market for the loan in both the United States and England, as well as home.

The establishment of a free gold market will result in stabilization of the franc at a fixed ratio to gold. No definite price for the metal was fixed, however, and there was some expectation that it would be stabilized below its present level in the exchange market.

Committee to "Guard" Franc.

Temporarily the franc is expected to remain at approximately its present level, which is about 21.50 to the dollar and 105 to the pound, approximately 4.65 cents.

The government announced the appointment of a committee to "guard" the franc. Its membership comprises Emile Labeyrie, governor of the Bank of France; Charles Rist, honorary governor; Paul Baudin, director general of the Bank of Indo-China, and Jacques Rueff, director-general of the movement of fund in the French treasury.

The commission is not restricted in fixing the gold rate on the franc, but it must be kept within the limits fixed by the monetary law enacted last year. Under this measure the limits on the francs were 4.35 cents to 4.96 cents.

Although the financial conservatives in parliament have had little regard for Blum's Popular Front government, they joined today in expressing gratification over the latest move.

Gold Exports in Doubt.

While establishing a free gold market at home, there remains some question how liberal the government will be in permitting exports of the metal. Bank of France officials declined to comment on this phase of the situation.

The government admittedly hopes that its action will restore confidence and reverse the movement of gold, thereby making further exchange restrictions unnecessary.

Announcing his intention to enforce ecenomy in the government, Blum promised the "needs of the treasury will be brought to a figure which should not exceed the normal capacity of the treasury placements or loans."

Although instructing government officials to cut expenses sharply, Blum made one exception. He said provision must be made for "necessary increases in small salaries." He added a promise of punishment for unjustifiable increases in prices of necessities.

FRANC EXCHANGE FALLS.

The French franc fell to the lowest price since devaluation in the foreign exchange market yesterday following the announcement by the Blum government of the establishment of a free gold market.

The franc closed at 4.56 cents in New York compared with the preceding day's price of 4.64⅝ cents. Other foreign currencies were also lower in terms of the dollar. The British pound dropped ¾ of a cent to $4.87⅞.

The decline in the franc was the sharpest that has occured since the currency was devalued last September. Exchange traders said official support had apparently been withdrawn to let the franc fall to a lower level.

Chicago Telephone Total Runs Far Above Year Ago

Telephones in service in Chicago on Feb. 28 totaled 910,165, compared with 857,501 a year earlier, the Illinois Bell Telephone company reported yesterday. The entire Bell system announced a net gain of 92,200 telephones on its lines in February. For the first two months of 1937 the net gain was 187,800 telephones.

French Action Proves Gold Is Best Yardstick

BY HOWARD WOOD.

France's action in establishing a "free gold" market yesterday represents a triumph for gold as a measure of value. After trying numerous other experiments in an attempt to hold French capital at home and divert it to government borrowings the Blum government has finally had to capitulate in its battle with the French gold hoarders.

The French have always been hoarders but the stowing away of gold by the French citizenry began to be a threat to the national finances only about two years ago when fears of the thrifty investing class were aroused by the steady increase in the government's deficit.

Fear Drives Out Capital.

These fears deepened when Hitler reoccupied the Rhineland with Nazi troops and when the Fascist-communist clash in Spain heightened the possibility of a general European war.

For many months French investors and business men have been carting their funds out of the country to the comparative safety of London, New York, Amsterdam and Brussels. This exodus of capital has resulted in a corresponding outward movement of gold to cover the transfers.

At first gold was exported in the orthodox maner by clearing through the big banks in Paris and foreign cities. When the Blum government attempted to clamp down on the citizenry by placing embargoes and penalties on those who were shipping out the metal it was transported across the border hidden in hay wagons, automobiles, and underwear.

Hoarders Keep Their Gold.

After the Blum government debased the franc last September French gold holders were notified that they must turn in their gold at the old rate prevailing before the debasement. The government planned to take the profit on the raising of the price of gold. But the gold didn't come in, for the canny French, having suffered through one period of currency debasement and inflation after the world war, staged what was in effect a "sitdown" strike against the government's decree.

Later, failing in its first attempt, the government offered the gold holders bonds maturing in three years in exchange for their gold. These bonds at maturity were to be paid off at the rate of 140 francs for each 100 francs worth of gold for which they were taken in exchange. This represented a partial victory for the hoarders but they would have to wait three years to collect. Still they held out.

More Concessions Made.

On Dec. 17 the Blum government completely reserved its original position by lifting restrictions on foreign exchange transactions. This made it possible for French investors to buy dollars or pounds and transfer their funds to New York or London. In London, which had the world's only "free gold" market, they could buy gold and stow it away in vaults.

Yesterday's announcement that a "free gold" market is to be established in France represented a further concession by the government. The official statement disclosed that the government will permit buying and selling of gold within France for internal purposes, but did not clearly state whether any hindrances would be placed on the exportation of gold by citizens. Under the three party "gentlemen's agreement," entered into last fall by France, Great Britain and the United States gold is released by each nation only to the central banks of the other nations.

Victory for Gold.

Most significant aspect of the victory won by the French gold holders is the manner in which it emphasizes the fact that gold is still regarded by most people as the one refuge of stability in a world of "managed money"—that gold is still what people want when they are frightened.

Another significant angle is the difference between the attitude of the French and the Americans toward attempts by their governments to confiscate private and gold holdings.

CHANGE SOUGHT IN 'MO-KAN' PIPE LINE TRUSTEES

Wilmington, Del., March 5.—(AP)—Counsel for Grover C. Lippard of Peoria, Ill., asked the Chancery court today to disqualify Frank P. Parrish of Detroit, and Robert D. White of New York, as voting trustees under a voting trust agreement of April, 1930, for class "B" stock of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company.

The attorney also asked that Chancellor J. O. Wolcott appoint other voting trustees, or that an opportunity be given holders of voting trust certificates to choose trustees.

The petition also requested that the court restrain Parrish and White from casting ballots at the stockholders' meeting now being held in Wilmington and that Albert L. Massey, master appointed by the chancellor to hold the election, be enjoined from receiving votes from them.

The stockholders meeting, which began last Monday, is still engaged in checking on proxies and has not reached election of directors.

Wisconsin G.O.P. Treasurer Purchases Steel Concern

Milwaukee, Wis., March 5.—[Special.]—Edward A. Bacon, treasurer for Wisconsin of the National Republican committee, has purchased the George H. Smith Steel Casting company, the oldest existing steel foundry in Wisconsin and reputed to be the oldest west of Pittburg, it was announced today. The company was founded in 1896 by George H. Smith, brother of the founder of the A. O. Smith company. Under the reorganization Bacon is president and treasurer, W. J. Donnelly is secretary, P. W. Kaufmann, controler.

AUTO PLANTS RESUME FULL STRIDE; OUTPUT HIGHEST SINCE 1929

Production of automobiles this week soared to the highest level since 1929 as the industry resumed full production following its recent labor strife. Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc., placed output at 127,134 cars and trucks, compared with 115,360 last week and 88,217 a year ago. Cram's Reports, Inc., estimated assemblies at 126,975 units, against 111,915 and 91,705, respectively.

Ward's said General Motors produced 49,700 cars and trucks, against 36,700 last week. Chrysler turned out 29,050, compared with 29,575, and Ford assembled 30,325, against 30,825.

In Toledo, O., Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., formed late last year through reorganization of the Willys-Overland company, produced its 20,000th car yesterday. David R. Wilson, president, said the original production schedule of 60,000 cars for 1937 has been increased to 83,000.

Studebaker corporation sold 7,971 passenger cars and trucks in February, compared with 6,196 in February, 1936, a gain of 28 per cent, Paul G. Hoffman, president, announced yesterday. For the year to date sales were 15,704 units, against 12,232 last year.

FREIGHT TRAFIC DECLINES; STILL ABOVE YEAR AGO

Loadings of revenue freight in the United States during the week ended Feb. 27 were 696,727 cars, a decrease of 18,157 cars, or 2.5 per cent, from the preceding week, when a 1937 high record was set, according to the weekly report made yesterday by the Association of American Railroads.

The decline was less than seasonal, however, and the total was 23,858 cars, or 3.5 per cent, higher than the figure for the corresponding week in 1936. Washington's birthday holiday was included in the week, but was not included in last year. In the week ended Feb. 20, this year, loadings were 21.9 per cent higher than last year.

Loadings of various classifications of freight, with comparisons with the preceding week and a year ago, follow:

AIR LINES BUY POWERFUL ARMY PLANE ENGINES

New York, March 5.—(AP)—The Curtiss Wright corporation tonight announced it had sold to two air transport companies 58 of its new double row Wright cyclone engines.

These engines, which the war department will not allow to be released for commercial use before next September, are said to be so powerful that none of the air liners now flying is capable of using them. Their rated horse power remains a military secret.

The purchasers were named as Pan-American Airways, which ordered 26 engines, and Transcontinental Western Air Transport, which ordered 32.

Jack Frye, president of TWA, confirmed the purchase, but declined to say what use was planned for the engines.

The orders were linked, however, with recent announcements of new planes ordered by the transport companies, presumably for Atlantic and Pacific ocean crossing or for flights in the substratosphere.

"The Postal Savings System of the United States," a study by the Committee on Banking Studies, American Bankers' association, New York [available to public at $3 per copy, A. B. A. offices, 22 East 40th street, New York City, and at $2 to members of association].

The study endeavors to show that the postal savings system of the United States no longer fulfills its original purposes and now is in direct competition with banks of the nation. Each of the original principles underlying the postal savings system is taken up separately and evidence is presented to show how the system has diverged from these principles.

U.S. Rubber's Profits Climb 55 Per Cent

Net income of the United States Rubber company and subsidiaries in 1936 rose more than 55 per cent and net sales increased 25 per cent as compared with the preceding year, according to the annual report issued yesterday by F. B. Davis Jr., chairman. Many other companies also reported gains.

F. B. Davis Jr.

The company, which has the largest rubber plantations in the world and is a leading maker of rubber products, had consolidated net income of $10,172,484 after all charges for the year ended Dec. 31, compared with $6,532,237 in 1935. Net sales were $160,361,026, against $127,793,615.

Deficit Is Reduced.

On Dec. 31, 1936, the company's profit and loss deficit amounted to $17,332,571, compared with $25,870,403 at the close of 1935. The company is not subject to surtax on undistributed earnings until the deficit has been eliminated, although there was a surtax of $874 on subsidiary earnings, Davis said. The large deficit resulted from heavy losses in 1928 and from 1930 to 1932, inclusive.

"The cost of taxes for the year was $12,063,000 and was equivalent to an $8 dividend on the preferred stock and $4.57 a share on the common stock," he said.

No dividends have been paid on the 8 per cent preferred since 1928 and none on the common since 1921.

United States Rubber Plantations, Inc., a subsidiary, had a net 1936 profit of $1,913,790, against $967,695 in 1935. During the year 41,594,000 pounds of rubber were shipped, against 40,004,000 pounds in 1935.

Nets $2.80 a Share.

Birtman Electric, Chicago firm making electrical appliances and machinery, had 1936 earnings equal to $2.80 a common share, against $2.09 in 1935. Sales from Jan. 1, 1937, to date are substantially ahead of a year ago, said H. R. Butz, president.

General Houses, Inc., Chicago producer of prefabricated steel houses, had a net loss of $89,855 for the period from May 1 to Dec. 31, 1936, before providing for amortization of development and organization expenses accumulated prior to May 1.

"Given a continued increase in general building activity and the expected results from our present dealer organization, the company should be operating at a small profit by the end of 1937," said Howard T. Fisher, president. "Our operations can be summed up by saying that last year we built a dealer organization and this year we will sell houses."

Earnings of United Carbon company for the first quarter of this year were estimated at $1.55 to $1.65 a share on the capital stock, which would be a new peak for any quarter, and would compare with $1.42 a share in the first quarter of 1936.

Why Companies Refund.

"I have been puzzled over the action of corporations in calling in outstanding bonds and replacing them with new bonds," says a reader in Davenport, Ia. "Why this sudden flood of refunding?"

Corporations refund their debts when the general level of interest rates declines. This makes it possible for the debtor corporation to reduce its annual interest charges, leaving just that much more money each year for the stockholders.

If market conditions are such that the management of a company is convinced that investors will buy new bonds bearing lower interest rates the outstanding bonds bearing higher interest rates are redeemed and new bonds issued. Five per cent bonds may be replaced by 3½ per cent bonds or by 4 per cent bonds. The rate on the new issue is decided by the management of the company and the bond houses handling the financing after they have studied the general market situation and sounded the attitude of investors toward the company.

Even though the situation may be favorable for refunding there is always an element of risk for the underwriting bond houses. Some unexpected development may cause a sudden change in the attitude of investors before the bonds have all been sold, thus forcing the underwriters either to hold large blocks of unsold bonds or to reduce the selling price.

Refunding is not all gravy for the corporation itself. Usually the price at which the outstanding bonds are callable is higher than the price at which the new bonds are sold. In addition, there is much expensive legal and clerical work in connection with refunding.

INVESTORS GET SMALLER RETURN DURING MARCH

Dividend and interest payments to American investors this month will total $512,960,683, compared with $524,053,000 in March last year, according to an estimate yesterday by the New York Journal of Commerce.

Interest payments declined from $322,867,000 in March, 1936, to $311,445,683 scheduled for March this year. Dividend payments were estimated at $301,515,000, against $201,186,000 in March of 1936.

Dividends of industrial corporations this month will amount to $161,276,000, compared with $150,866,000 in the corresponding months last year. Utilities will distribute $30,785,000 to their stockholders, against $34,363,000 last year, while railroad payments will decline from $7,585,000 paid in March, 1936, to only $4,894,000 this month.

Both dividend and interest payments will be above those of last month, it was reported.

OFFER RAILROAD 16 TIMES, BUT NO BIDDERS APPEAR

Minneapolis, Minn., March 5.—[Special.]—For the sixteenth time a railroad was offered for sale today, but nobody wished to buy it.

The Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad, in receivership since 1923, was put on the auction block by Howard S. Abbott, special master in chancery. It was a mere legal formality, however, as even Abbott long ago gave up expecting any bidders. Two months from now he will try again.

Trade Treaty Concluded by Argentina and Italy

BUENOS AIRES, March 5.—(AP)—Argentina and Italy have signed a trade agreement intended to stimulate sale of this nation's raw products, it was revealed here today. Under the pact Argentina will sell meat, wheat, and other raw products to Italy, and in turn will be enabled to buy more of Italy's manufactured materials.

STOCKS RESUME CLIMB; STEELS AND RAILS LEAD

List at New High for Six Years.

New York, March 5.—Another good performance by the steel shares, strongly supported by the rails, gave the market a fresh appearance of buoyancy today, sending prices to a new six year high.

An assortment of motors, coppers, oils, chemicals, and mercantile issues joined the upward trend, and gains ranged from large fractions to about 5 points. Only the utilities failed to share in the advance, but their losses were negligible. Volume for the day was in the vicinity of 2,831,000 shares.

As in the preceding sessions this week, U. S. Steel assumed the lead in the upswing. Opening on a block of 10,000 shares with a gain of 3⅜ points, the stock hit 125, a new high since 1931, and closed at 124½, up 4⅜ points.

Other Steel Issues Rise.

Other conspicuously prominent steels were Bethlehem, Crucible, and Inland Steel, each of which showed gains of more than 2 points. Sloss-Sheffield and Youngstown also were active and higher, the latter breaking through 100 at the close.

Action in the carriers pushed them well through their 1936 levels. New York Central again was one of the most active, while Atchison, Illinois Central, Southern Pacific, and the midwestern rails attracted their share of attention. Atchison hit a new high at 84¾ on a gain of 3 points.

Although coppers at first appeared hesitant because of recent selling late dealings sent them up fractions to more than 2 points. Chile Copper reached into new high ground to close with a gain of 3¼ at 71¼, while Cerro de Pasco, a recent favorite, made only a fractional gain. Anaconda and Kennecott also were outstanding.

Rubber Group Also Strong.

Rubbers were strong, with Goodrich setting a new high of 44 to close up 1½. U. S. Rubber and Goodyear also were substantially higher. Indications that an increase in the price of automobile tires will be made soon made those shares attractive, it was believed.

Oils were lively, with Texas Corporation and Phillips Petroleum strong gainers. In the mail order division Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward were strong. Marshall Field closed more than 2 points higher in the store group.

Chemicals made good sized gains, Allied Chemical closing up 8¼ at a new high of 250.

Arrangements for the sale of a New York Stock exchange seat at $125,000 were reported today. The last sale was at $119,000.

CHICAGO STOCKS VARIABLE.

Notable gains were shown in several issues on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, although the market as a whole was irregular. Marshall Field common advanced 1¾ to a new high of 29⅛, Bliss & Laughlin gained 1¾, Northwest Engineering, 3⅜, Sangamo Electric, 5, and Independent Pneumatic Tool 3 points. Chicago corporation common led trading at 6,000 shares of the 80,000 total, and closed unchanged at 6½.

ALLIS-CHALMERS PAYS MORE ON COMMON STOCK

The Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company yesterday voted a dividend of 50 cents on the common stock. It resumed payments last June with a declaration of 25 cents, and paid 37½ cents on Sept. 30, 1936, and a regular of 37½ cents and an extra of 50 cents on Dec. 24, 1936.

General Public Service corporation voted an accumulations dividend of $15 on the 6 per cent preferred stock and $13.75 on the $5.50 preferred.

The Schiff company, operating a shoe store chain, voted a stock dividend of 50 per cent on the common stock. An initial quarterly disbursement of 62½ cents on the $2.50 preferred was declared by the Taggart corporation.

Continental Baking corporation ordered a distribution of $2 to apply on back preferred dividends. F. & R. Lazarus company declared 25 cents on the common stock, compared with 30 cents paid in November.

INTL. BUSINESS MACHINES RAISES HOUR PAY SCALE

International Business Machines yesterday announced a raise of 5 cents an hour for hourly paid workers in its plants in Endicott and Rochester, N. Y., and Washington, D. C.

A wage increase of 7½ per cent was awarded to 7,000 shirt and collar workers in Albany, Troy, Cohoes, and Kingston, N. Y., under a ruling made yesterday by Walter Brower, assistant United States attorney general, who acted as arbitrator.

Nine thousand Maine shoe workers received notice of wage increases ranging from 7½ to 10 per cent.

Leading Steel Makers Join in Price Boost

Increases of $3 to $8 a ton in semi-finished and finished steel products were announced yesterday by leading steel companies throughout the country. The action follows the lead taken by the United States Steel corporation and its principal subsidiary, Carnegie-Illinois Steel company.

While prices are quoted for the second quarter they actually apply immediately as mills are virtually sold out on first quarter tonnage. The higher quotations, steel officials said, are waranted by increased costs of materials, higher wages, and a shorter work week.

Follow U. S. Steel Lead.

U. S. Steel and Carnegie announced Thursday the new prices would be posted yesterday. This action was followed by a long list of others, including Inland Steel and Acme Steel of Chicago, Colorado Fuel and Iron of Denver, Granite Steel of Granite City, Ill., and others. Typical advances include sheet bars from $35.50 to $37.50 a ton and standard rails from $39 to $42.50 a ton.

The National Tube company, Pittsburgh, Pa., a U. S. Steel subsidiary, announced graduated price boosts of $3 to $10 a ton for tubular products, effective immediately. These increases apply to standard pipe. A hike of $12 a ton was posted for galvanized pipe.

Gulf States Steel disclosed that wages of 3,000 workers in its plant in Gadsden, Ala., will be adjusted on a basis comparable with that adopted in the area by the Tennessee Coal, Iron, and Railroad company, U. S. Steel subsidiary. The latter announced wages advanced ranging from 7 cents an hour to a flat 10 per cent earlier in the week.

Forcing Furnace Output.

With iron and steel being made in every furnace that is in shape to operate in the Mahoning valley, the Sharon Steel corporation announced it will rehabilitate its Mary furnace at Lowellville, O., the oldest furnace in the district. Rehabilitation will require 60 days.

The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company will put its second furnace at the Brier Hill plant into blast next week, giving the district 20 active furnaces.

The Shenango Furnace company at Sharpsville, Pa., is planning to resume making iron in its second furnace shortly, it was reported.

The Bethlehem Steel company's plan for vacations with pay for plant workers, which was tried experimentally last year, will be expanded this year, the company announced yesterday. The cost to the company last year was more than $1,000,000 and will be considerably higher in 1937, according to the report. More than 16,000 employés were added to the Bethlehem pay roll last year, making a total of 86,000 in the United States.

FEBRUARY SALES OF CHAIN STORES ABOVE YEAR AGO

Spiegel, Inc., reported an increase of 46.92 per cent with the largest volume of sales for any February in the company's history. It was the forty-ninth consecutive month in which sales showed an increase over the same month of the preceding year, according to officials.

Sales of Bayuk Cigars, Inc., for the first two months of this year were the largest for this period in the company's history, according to A. Joseph Newman, vice president and sales manager. The figures have not yet been released.

Sales for February and for the first two months reported yesterday were:

Treasury Seeks to Soothe Headache in Income Taxes

Washington, D. C., March 5.—(AP)—The treasury sought today to take some of the headache out of income tax returns. Through the internal revenue bureau, it created a special committee to consider simplification of the tax forms. The revenue experts also will try to give the taxpayer better information on how returns should be made out. Returns for 1936 are due by March 15, and no changes in the forms could be effective until next year.

GEN. ELECTRIC'S DIVIDEND MORE THAN YEAR AGO

Declares 40 Cents; Orders Increase.

The General Electric company yesterday voted a dividend of 40 cents a share and reported that orders received during January and February were 79 per cent larger than in the corresponding months last year.

Gerard Swope.

The company released a preliminary statement on 1936 earnings showing net income of $43,947,000, equivalent to $1.52 a share. The profit is the largest reported since 1930 and compares with 1935 net income of $27,843,772, or 97 cents a share.

Gerard Swope, president, said the gain in earnings last year resulted in part from an increase in income on investments.

Orders and Sales Increase.

Total orders received in January and February amounted to $64,000,000. Sales billed in the two months were $45,000,000, or 39 per cent above the first two months of 1936.

The dividend of 40 cents will be distributed April 26 to stockholders of record March 19. Last year the company paid one dividend of 20 cents a share, three of 25 cents a share, and an extra of 50 cents in December.

The company, the world's largest manufacturer of electrical equipment and appliances, received total orders of $296,748,000 in 1936, against $217,362,000 in 1935, an increase of 37 per cent. Sales billed last year aggregated $268,545,000, compared with $208,733,000 in the preceding year, an increase of 29 per cent.

Investments Worth More.

The gross value of the company's investments at the year end was $214,881,000, compared with $188,932,000 a year earlier, reflecting, the company said, an appreciation in market values.

President Swope said the company distributed $2,938,000 last year to employés under its profit sharing plan. Similar distributions in 1935 were $655,000. The payments are made to employés with five or more years of consecutive service who do not participate in other extra compensation plans.

Swope said the company is arranging for employés in executive and supervisory positions to share in the established system of "extra compensation."

The average number of employés in 1936 was 61,781, against 55,706 in 1935. Total earnings of employés were $106,784,000, compared with $88,746,000 in 1935. The average annual earnings per employé were $1,728, against $1,593 in the preceding year.

SOUTH. PACIFIC REPORTS LARGE GAIN IN PROFIT

Profit of the Southern Pacific company's transportation system climbed sharply last year, Hale Holden, chairman, informed stockholders yesterday in his preliminary annual report for 1936. Net income amounted to $11,161,957, equal to $2.96 a share on capital stock, compared with a net loss of $1,728,240 in 1935.

Holden said emergency freight rate surcharges, which expired last Dec. 31, gave Southern Pacific $2,570,000 of additional revenues, against $1,400,000 in 1935.

January net loss of the Lehigh Valley railroad was reported yesterday at $210,141, compared with a loss of $134,803 a year earlier.

Loss of the Forth Worth and Denver City for January was $32,342, against $22,699 a year earlier.

CLARKE STARTS NEW FIGHT OVER UTILITY CONTROL

Would Oust Management; Charges Fraud.

Harley L. Clarke.

A charge that Floyd B. Odlum, president of Atlas corporation, the Chase National bank, and a "subservient board of directors" have "conspired to carry out a program of financial ruin" of the Utilities Power and Light corporation was contained in a bill filed in federal District court here yesterday by Harley L. Clarke, deposed head of the utility concern.

Consequences of the conspiracy will result in a big fraud upon the corporation and its bona fide investors, the bill alleged. Removal of the present management and appointment of a trustee pending reorganization of the company was asked.

Seek Advantage, Bill Asserts.

The bill specifically charges that Morris B. Feiwell, Phillips B. Shaw, R. R. Monroe, A. L. Jackson, H. A. Stix, and H. M. Hope, directors, are under the complete domination and control of Odlum or Chase National, and "being thus dominated and controled are bound and committed to a policy of a liquidation of the company's assets to the advantage of Odlum, Chase National, and Atlas."

No director except Clarke has a substantial personal investment in the company, the petition asserted. It said that Shaw and Feiwell were put on the directorate to represent Chase, but that minutes of the meeting were subsequently changed to show that they represented Odlum and Atlas.

Charges by Clarke.

Monroe, according to the bill, became a director as a representative of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and the Reconstruction Finance corporation on the demand of Walter C. Cummings, chairman of Continental, but has represented Odlum since he purchased securities held by the Continental and the RFC.

"Present directors are unfitted to manage the corporation's operations because their purpose and the purpose of Odlum, whose direction they follow, is hostile to the success and progress of the company," Clarke charged.

The bill asserted that Odlum conspired with the board to effect a sale of the company's English properties so that Odlum might dispose of his Utilities Power debentures, acquired at low cost, at inflated prices.

Files Waste Charge.

"Records disclose definitly that the board of directors now in charge of the management is not conserving the assets and credit of Utilities Power," the petition said. "The board has squandered and is squandering money. Numerous unnecessary accountants, lawyers, and alleged publicity experts are employed at exorbitant salaries, many of whom have been engaged in a concerted effort to obstruct justice, defeat the implied and expressed purposes of a reorganization as provided under section 77B of the bankruptcy act, in furtherance of a plot and conspiracy to the damage of creditors and security holders."

Petitioning creditors, represented by Carlton K. Welsh and Don Kenneth Jones, joined in the plea. Clarke was represented by Roy D. Keehn.

Commodities

Rubber and cotton led commodities in price gains yesterday. The rubber futures market advanced an average of three-fourths cent a pound in New York to new high prices for the season. Rubber for delivery next May closed at 22.73 cents a pound. Cotton rose a quarter of a cent a pound on the average in the futures market, with the May contract closing at 13.46 cents a pound.

Other commodities, including lard, sugar, coffee, and cocoa, scored moderate advances. Copper was moderately higher. Closing prices on principal commodities, with comparative figures, follow:

LIVE STOCK

Another sensational rise in the lamb market yesterday carried top wool stock to $11.75, an eight year high for March. This price is 90 cents above the highest mark in March, last year, and $2.40 above two years ago. Prices have been rising sharply for several days, yesterday's quotations being 65 cents to $1.10 above last week's close, with the average at $11.60, up $1.05 in a week's time. The bulk of the day's crop changed hands quickly at $11.50 to $11.75.

The rise is credited to stigening of the wool market as wholesale markets for lamb meat have failed to rise sufficiently to warant the sharply higher live costs.

The trade for hogs yesterday was a quiet affair, averaging about steady with the preceding session and 15 cents above last week's close. Both the extreme top and average prices at $10.40 and $10.20 remained unchanged.

Not enough cattle arrived yesterday to test the advanced level of quotations. Most prices were nominally steady. The best steers available sold at $13.75, with the bulk consisting of stock bringing $8 to $11.

LARD

Lard futures advanced 17½ to 20 cents yesterday as the result of buying induced by strength in grains and a belief that Europe would be forced to come to the United States for supplies of that commodity in case of war in Europe. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed 2½ to 5 cents higher. Cash lard was quoted at $12.65; loose, $12.07½; leaf, $11.37½, and clear bellies at $16.25 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follows:

COTTON

Cotton futures soared 75 cents to $1.65 a bale yesterday as the result of heavy buying attributed to European and trade account, with all deliveries in American markets selling at new highs for the season. Closing trades were about the highest levels of the day. Net gains in Chicago ranged from .20 to .31 cents and other American markets .15 to .33 cents a pound.

A denial that the government would raise the basis on its offering of loan cotton failed to check the advance in futures. Sales of around 30,000,000 yards of cotton goods in New York on Thursday were the largest so far this year. Spot cotton closed .15 to .20 cents higher with New Orleans, 13.75 cents; New York, 14.00 cents, and Houston and Galveston at 13.60 cents a pound. Prices follow:

COUNTY RELIEF BOND REFUNDING PLAN APPROVED

o Exchange $12,252,000 for RFC Holdings.

The exchange of $12,252,000 of Cook ounty 4 per cent refunding bonds r an equal amount of 5 per cent lief bonds held by the Reconstrucon Finance corporation was aproved yesterday by the county board. he bonds were sold to the RFC in 33 and 1934. All are in default as interest and $1,000,000 as to prinpal.

The plan, which was worked out by layton F. Smith, president of the oard, and Assistant States Attorney Villiam J. Tuohy, provides that the FC will sell half of the new bonds the county at par. The county ill buy back these bonds with money ow in its bond sinking funds. The an has been approved by Jesse H. ones, RFC chairman.

Can Use Idle Cash.

The deal permits the county to tilize most of the idle cash in the nking funds. It has a cash balance $8,150,000 in the sinking funds of hich approximately $2,000,000 will be tained for future interest requirements. Without this deal the excess ash could not be used to retire onds as no other issues are callable. llable.

Smith said that another $3,000,000 bonds will become callable next n. 1, and receipts from taxes this ar should provide the county with ough funds to retire these obligaons. A total of about $9,000,000, or per cent of the total bonded debt the county, therefore, will be reed within the next year, he said.

The RFC now charges the county per cent on the bonds it holds, reinding part of the 5 per cent paid the relief obligations. Tuohy said at it may be possible for the county obtain a 1 per cent refund on the w 4 per cent bonds as long as they e held by the government agency.

Expect RFC to Sell.

Investment circles predicted, hower, that the RFC will soon dispose the remaining half of the new nds. It is expected that the corration will sell them to investment nkers in a competitive bidding le. County bonds are selling at a bstantial premium. All of the preium on the bonds sold by the RFC robably will be kept by the corporaon.

The board adopted a resolution askg Smith to try to have a bill inoduced in congress requiring the deral government to reimburse the unty for more than $12,000,000 of nds sold to finance relief here. The FC already has made such payments states. Another resolution instruct Smith to ask the RFC to hold the w refunding bonds until such time the county has sufficient money to tire them.

onroe Chemical.

Investors' Guide: Will you please ve me some information on the onroe Chemical company?—E. S.

Answer: Successor to a business tablished in 1876, the company anufactures Putnam fadeless dyes, utnam dry cleaner, spot remover d bluing. Since acquisition of Mary Goldman company in 1928 the mpany has manufactured hair color storer, hair tonic, shampoo, curling uid, and quick hair color. Plants e located in Quincy, Ill., and St. aul, Minn.

The ordinary household consumer the principal outlet for products, d sales are promoted through ewspaper and magazine advertising. istribution is effected through 100,0 drug, department and general erchandise stores.

Operations were maintained on a ofitable basis through the depreson, although net income declined om $400,000 or $2.54 per common are in 1929 to $155,000 or 53 cents share in 1932 and $153,000 or 57 nts a share in 1933.

Net income was up to $239,000 or .27 per common share in 1934, but opped back to $185,000 or 89 cents share in 1935. The 1936 net income as $189,000 or 93 cents a share.

Apparent discrepancies in per share gures related to net income arise om the fact that the number of hares of $3.50 dividend preference ock outstanding has been reduced 20,100 from 30,000 in 1929. There e 126,000 shares of no par common ock outstanding.

Dividends were resumed on the mmon stock after a three year pse by payment of 50 cents a share 1934. Dividends amounted to 62½ nts in 1935 and $1.10 in 1936.

Despite payment of dividends in cess of earnings, financial position mained satisfactory at the end of 36.

MORGAN 'OWNED' VAN SWERINGEN SYSTEM IN 1931

Whitney Denies Effort to Exercise Control.

Thomas W. Lamont.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—The senate committee investigation of the part played by J. P. Morgan & Co. in the financing of the Van Sweringen railroads and other properties today brought to light the fact that in 1921 the bankers were in effect the owners of the vast carrier system through a mortgage securing loans.

This was disclosed in a memorandum from the files of the Guaranty Trust company. The memorandum, unsigned but identified as originating in the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., said that the Van Sweringen brothers recognized "that we [Morgan] are, in effect, the owners of all their properties." Thomas W. Lamont and George Whitney, Morgan partners, who were witnesses at the hearing today, asserted that the statement was misleading.

Never Attempted Control.

"Never at any time," Whitney said, "did J. P. Morgan & Co. attempt to exercise operating control of these vast properties."

The fact that the memorandum and a number of other Morgon documents were found in the Guaranty files brought about a discussion of assertions by committee investigators that they had been unable to gain access to all the documents they wished to study, and which they believed were in the Morgan files. Lamont and Whitney challenged these statements.

"We have coöperated in every way possible with the committee," said Lamont, "and have sought to supply them with every document they have requested. In a few instances they were not found. We have a warehouse where our files are stored, and those files are open now and have been all along to committee inspection."

Charges by Wheeler.

Senator Wheeler [D., Mont.] chairman of the committee, asserted that the Van Sweringen corporation had "concealed the facts" about its financial condition from its noteholders, who eventually lost approximately half of the $30,000,000 they invested in the firm.

He charged that the Guaranty company, underwriter of the $30,000,000 note issue, had advised the noteholders to trade in their securities in 1931 for 50 cents on the dollar in cash and another 50 cents' worth of Van Sweringen corporation common stock.

"That stock was practically worthless," the senator declared, "but the noteholders were never informed of the fact."

Whitney readily acknowledged the stock had "little value" when it was traded for the notes.

"But that was in the depths of the depression," he explained, "and everybody hoped for some recovery."

The bankers obtained a mortgage on the railroad's controling stocks when they lent $39,500,000 to "save" the system.

FEDERAL BONDS TOUCH NEW LOWS; OTHERS ADVANCE

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Fears of higher money rates, accentuated today by the possibility of a repatriation of foreign funds from this country, resulted in new lows for United States government issues in the bond market. The federal list reacted 1-32 to 10-32 of a point. Other high grade domestic corporate loans also closed lower.

In the low and medium priced division many recent favorites continued to win backing and gains of fractions to a point or so were fairly numerous. Convertible issues and those with stock purchase warants attached ran rampant as they kept pace with their share counterparts.

Value of bonds listed on the New York Stock exchange declined about $105,716,000 during February, the exchange's monthly compilations disclosed today. The March 1 total value of 1,403 issues was $45,007,329,915, compared with $45,113,047,758 for 1,405 issues as of Feb. 1. On March 1, 1936, there were 1,462 issues with aggregate market value of $40,624,571,422.

N. Y. CENTRAL PLANS BIG LOAN TO PAY NOTES

The New York Central railroad plans to issue about $55,000,000 of 3¼ per cent convertible bonds, due in 1952, F. E. Williamson, president, announced yesterday in a letter to stockholders. They will be offered at par to stockholders of record March 16. With the proceeds the company proposes to call the outstanding amount of an original issue of $59,911,100 of convertible collateral trust 6 per cent notes, due in 1944. The new bonds would be convertible into capital stock at $60 a share for ten years ending April 30, 1947, unless redeemed before that date.

Celotex corporation has called for redemption on April 5 its $821,500 of 6½ per cent first mortgage bonds due 1944 at 105 and $1,706,000 of 6 per cent income debentures, due 1954, at 119.

WHEAT CLIMBS; EUROPE BUYING SURPLUS GRAIN

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Week ago.	Month ago.
Wheat	$1.35⅜	$1.33⅝	$1.31½	$1.33
Corn	1.08	1.06⅝	1.07⅛	1.07½
Oats	.46½	.45⅞	.46⅝	.50⅝
Rye	1.06¾	1.05½	1.05⅝	1.11⅛
Soy beans	1.53½	1.53½	1.52	1.56¼

Aggressive buying of cash wheat by European importing countries yesterday was responsible for a sharp advance in the price of wheat for future delivery. North American markets advanced as much as 2½ cents a bushel, and closing prices were within a fraction of a cent of the high point of the day. Liverpool gained a cent a bushel or more, while all deliveries at Buenos Aires were in new ground for the season.

In addition to the active demand for cash wheat considerable interest was shown in the weakness in foreign exchange. This was regarded as reflecting apprehension regarding the financial condition of several of the continental countries.

Wheat Export Sales Large.

Export sales of cash wheat by Canada and the southern hemisphere were estimated as high as 3,000,000 bushels, including purchases by the United Kingdom, Italy, and Germany.

Firmness in commodity markets in general attracted attention to the fact that wheat has been a laggard in the upward movement lately. Houses with eastern connections were persistent buyers of July wheat, which presents the new crop. This delivery was quoted about 15 cents a bushel under the corresponding delivery in Liverpool. At the high point yesterday May wheat at Winnipeg was only 2 cents a bushel below the best figure of the season despite persistent selling attributed to the Canadian wheat board.

Crop Reports Ignored.

Favorable crop reports from the southwest were ignored as a market influence yesterday and the trade is inclined to pay more attention to inflation talk from Europe.

Corn and oats grains were firmer in sympathy with wheat. Corn closed as much as 1⅜ cents higher. Oats gained a major fraction, and rye was up 1⅛ to 1½ cents a bushel. Speculative interest in the three grains was relatively light.

GERMAN GRAIN NEED ESTIMATE LIFTED SHARPLY

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, March 5.—The increasing German food shortage was emphasized anew today by a survey published by the Koelnische Zeitung, which said Germany must import this year no less than 3,500,000 tons of grain, and another 500,000 tons of feed proteins.

These are minimum requirements, as the survey shows that actual demand is 3,750,000 tons of grain values and between 500,000 and 750,000 tons of proteins, but it is hoped to reduce these requirements by domestic savings.

The new figures considerably exceed the original estimates of about 2,000,000 tons of grains by the Frankfurter Zeitung last December, which created a sensation at time they were published and caused a sharp price advance on the Chicago Board of Trade.

STATE TO PROBE SELLING PRICE OF GAS PIPE LINE

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday ordered the Natural Gas Pipe Line Company of America, an interstate company, to make available to the commission all of its accounts and records of sales of natural gas to the Chicago District Pipe Line company.

The order was entered at the request of Attorney Harry R. Booth of counsel for the commission. Booth said he seeks to examine the records to determine how much profit the company makes on the sale of natural gas to the local concern.

The Chicago District company sells natural gas to and is an affiliate of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company. The commission is conducting a rate case on the Peoples company. It contends the Peoples Gas company pays excessive rates for natural gas.

Shoe Firms in Wisconsin Unite as Result of Sale

Milwaukee, Wis., March 5.—[Special.]—Charles Ortgiesen, president of the Ideal Shoe Manufacturing company, announced today he and associates have bought the Walter Booth Shoe company with assets of $1,000,000. Ortgiesen will head both companies, which will be operated separately, it was announced.

Realsilk Hosiery Mills Chairman, Treasurer Quit

Indianapolis, Ind., March 5.—[Special.]—J. A. Goodman, chairman, and L. L. Goodman, treasurer, today announced they have offered their resignations from Realsilk Hosiery Mills, Inc., effective March 25. They founded the company seventeen years ago. Differences with directors over policies caused the action.

Reynolds Spring to Offer Shares to Stockholders

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Directors of the Reynolds Spring company today approved a plan to offer additional stock to stockholders on the basis of one share for each five shares now held, at a price to be determined later. At the end of 1936 there were 290,000 shares of $1 par common stock outstanding.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was firm today, and although the spot price remained unchanged at 3.53c per lb in absence of business, later shipment sugars advanced 5 points to the basis of 3.55c. At that level 63,000 bags of Philippines were sold for March to June shipment.

Futures were firmer throughout the list, but the most advance occurred in the March No. 3 position, where there was active covering which forced that position 18 points higher before the upturn was checked. Later deliveries in the No. 3 contract advanced on trade and commission house buying, with final prices 16 points higher on the spot month and 1 to 4 points higher on other positions. Sales, 10,800 tons. The No. 4 contract advanced from 3 to 4½ points on sales of 29,300 tons.

Can 296,764 New Families Squeeze Into 24,385 New Homes?

From 1929 to 1936, inclusive, 296,764 couples were married in Chicago. New homes and apartments built during the same period numbered only 24,385.

Because of the general increase in rents resulting from the growing demand, real estate is now the subject of more interest than it has been in many years.

If you are interested in real estate, follow the offers in the real estate want ad columns of the Chicago Tribune.

If it can be sold a

The Name
"J. A. LAVERY MOTOR CO."
tells the tale

Many a man has told us his reluctancy toward buying a used car—we don't blame him.

Realizing this feeling had to be overcome to merchandise the true value in our cars—we have instituted a "personalized" used car setup that we know you can trust.

Every car taken in trade on the new Fords and Lincoln-Zephyr, is carefully appraised with the cost of renewing it kept in our mind.

It is then inspected in our shop, checked from "stem" to "stern" and completely renewed.

Then it is cleaned, simonized, etc., finally being ready for delivery to YOU, a renewed car—

—full of thousands of carefree miles—a car that's a pleasure to GUARANTEE to YOU.

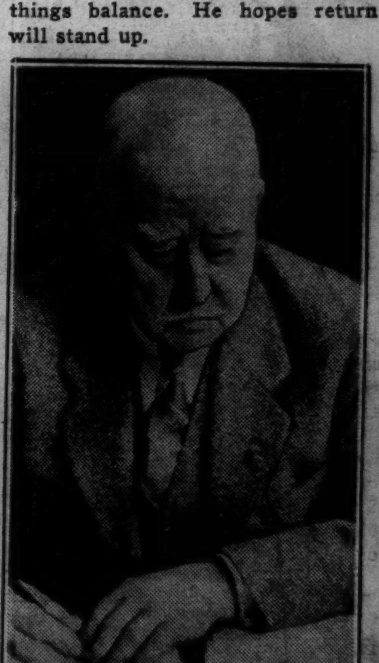
TAX HEADACHE

With the income tax deadline on March 15, many are engaging in annual figure juggle. This elderly lady is getting aid at public service office of The Tribune.

Hard at work on the figures with a cigar to chew on. His annual duty to government is soon performed, but he'll have three more payments.

It's all a mystery to this young lady as she watches clerk at Tribune public service office put her receipts and exemptions down in black and white.

He's a lawyer, Nicholas Socrates, but it takes considerable poring over the books and records to make things balance. He hopes return will stand up.



Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, at work in his office as the real rush gets under way. He faces another busy week. [TRIBUNE Photos.]
